This Review is entered at post office in Portland, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Accepting the invitation of Attorney Geo. J. Perkins and wife for a day's outing at their ranch near Troutdale, the entire staffs of the Peninsula National Bank and the Peninsula Security Company repaired to that place last Sunday morning (after church) with a full determination to work the three Rs—recreation, rest and refreshments—to a finish. The day opened with a barrage of Oregon mist, but Old Sol having finally bluffed E. Jupiter Pluvius into oblivion, furnished the picnicers with hours of exquisite sunshine in which to gambol on the green, enjoy the festivities and partake copiously of the victuals and drink without molestation. What might be termed a corn barbecue was the general plan for dinner, and like the Mexican army it was all Colonels and no privates—our rank did not count, though some were ranker than others. Prizes were in order for the largest eater, but the counting of coals as evidence of the prowess of the respective gourmands gave rise to accusations of fraud, etc., until the melee resembled very much our recent election recount. However regardless of who was who some people keep several others starving all the time, which epigram was awarded to one of those present in lieu of the regular prize. Happy hours passed swiftly, and ere the crowd was aware the moon had sent a challenge to the sun and dusk put in its appearance, which was the signal for taps and the way home. Monday morning found the recruits all on hand, though an occasional lame one gave evidence of past dissipation. The only disturbing feature of the day was caused by one gentleman expressing a fondness for corn in liquid form. Several had never heard of it thus. As host and hostess all words fail in praising the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, who assisted by Attorney Joseph O. Bailey and wife, furnished to the crowd a day of enjoyment long to be remembered.—Reported.

The Williams school P. T. A. Circle held its first meeting Monday evening in the assembly hall of the school. There was a goodly number of parents and teachers present. Mr. J. MacMillan Muir, organist and musical director of Centenary Wilbur Methodist church, sang very beautifully. Mrs. P. P. Schultze accompanied at the piano. Mrs. E. Monahan, president, announced the topic for the evening, "The Object of the Parent Teachers' Association." Mrs. W. H. Bathgate, past president of the Parent Teachers' Council of Portland, gave a brief but instructive talk under this head, stressing the importance of home training and the co-operation of parent and teacher. A short talk upon the duty of the school to the community was given by Mr. VanTine, principal of Williams school. A short business session was held, after which refreshments were served.—Rep.

MRS. FRANK A. RICE

Instructor of the New and Improved Method of Music Study
ANNOUNCES THE REOPENING OF HER STUDIO

412 S. Edison Street, cor. Richmond

Investigation Costs Nothing! Comparisons Are Necessary!

Educate your children to be real musicians that they may be equipped to turn to their music as a source of livelihood instead of being mere piano players.

Each difficulty is presented in such a thorough manner that a child of 10 or 12 years of age can master transposition, scale building, melody writing by dictation. Dominant Seventh, Cadences and Modulation.

The muscles of the fingers, wrists and arms are strengthened by table technique, later developing Leschetizky.

Ear training, sight reading, foundation harmony form a part of each class lesson, thereby developing all sides of the Science of Music Study.

Mrs. Rice will be glad to show you BY APPOINTMENT the especially made apparatus for teaching this system which includes one hour class lesson and ½ hour private lesson, making a far more economical way of acquiring a musical education.

Classes for beginners 2:30 Monday.
Intermediate grade Tuesday, 4 o'clock.

Visit and see children at work and compare the new way with the old.
