Y. W. C. A. NOTES

There will be no meeting at the Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon on account of the dedication of the Pioneer Methodist church.

Gym class meets as usual Thursday evening. Sewing on Monday evening.

The Girls' Clubs furnished homemade candy for the bazaar at the Central Association.

The Blue Bird Club gave a shower of dish towels at the building last week.

Miss Elizabeth Schultz played piano solos at the "Y" last Sunday afternoon. Georgia Seifert read. Mr. Kreckle led the singing with Mrs. J. O. Bailey at the piano. Mrs. Bailey was the hostess for the afternoon. It is the desire of the association to make these meetings a pleasant and social way to spend Sunday afternoons. Strangers in the community are especially invited.

Mrs. J. M. Shaw will entertain the foreign classes from James John night school at the building Friday evening. All members of the classes are cordially invited. Mrs. Brand and Mrs. Goff, instructors, will be present. Mrs. Goff will sing.

A boys' club was organized at the building last Wednesday night. Mr. Larsell, a James John High school teacher, will be their leader, and they will meet hereafter in the High school gymnasium.

A G. R. club from the Williams school furnished a nice chicken dinner for a family under the care of the public welfare bureau.

Mrs. Wooley has taken the leadership of a G. R. club at the George school.

The James John High school club of Girl Reserves had a sauer kraut supper at the club rooms last week Monday. Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Couch were guests.

Good overcoats $14.95.

ST. JOHNS PEOPLE TO HEAR CHESTER A. LYON

Will Speak Every Night in Williams School

Every night next week, Dec. 11-16, in the Williams school house, Chester A. Lyon will speak on "Boy Problems." The meetings are free and parents and friends are invited to attend. Monday and Thursday evenings boys are invited to come with their parents. Other nights are for friends and parents only.

Following are the subjects for each evening:

Monday—"Five Keys That Unlock the Heart of a Boy."

Tuesday—"The Boy They Call Bad."

Wednesday—"Dad and Ma."

Thursday—"Live Wires."

Friday—"The Boy's World."

Saturday—"On the Wrong Road."

In September, 1921, Mr. Lyon established a system of "Preventive Delinquency Among Boys" that is causing delinquency among boys to decrease at a rapid rate. His plan is to make a house to house canvass in each district he works as he has been doing the past week in St. Johns. This canvass is made not with the idea of discussing the boy problem, but to inform the parents personally that his great desire is to help them in case they have a problem or are very anxious to prevent a very serious boy problem and to invite them to the meetings the following week in the school houses.

At these meetings Mr. Lyon talks over some of the things that have to be talked over when the boy and parents get into court. His desire is to give this talk before court action is necessary. While Mr. Lyon has had a wide experience in handling boy problems he does not pose as a man who thinks he "knows it all." He says, "if from what experience I have had, I can pass it on to parents and boys, that is my great desire."

It will interest the people in the St. Johns district to learn that Mr. Lyon has thus far in his preventive work covered 13 districts, namely—Arlota, Holladay, Hawthorne, Lents, Montavilla, Mt. Taber, Woodstock, Sellwood, Kenton, Peninsula, Portsmouth, George and St. Johns.

People come by the hundreds to hear him discuss these problems, and evidently profit a great deal, because Mr. Lyon states that only 8 cases have been reported to the Juvenile Court from all these districts since Sept. 1; during November only 2 were reported.

Mr. Lyon was for almost three years assistant to Judge Kanzler in the Court of Domestic Relations, but resigned to establish this work which is original with him and has never been worked out in any city except Portland. Mr. Lyon is also founder of the "Big Brother Farm for Boys" at Lebanon, having established it 10 years ago.

The work carried on in Portland is sponsored by the Portland Lions Club and the churches whenever they are in a position to help.

The meetings begin at 8:00 sharp.

COMPSON W. R. C. NOTES

On November 7, the members of H. B. Compson W. R. C. met with Mrs. Haskins. Although election day, they had a good time and a splendid chicken dinner. Comrade and Mrs. Haskell made us welcome as they always do.

The next meeting was with Mrs. Wood on South Edison St. where we enjoyed all the good things that grow in Oregon and we hope for another invitation for another visit to their pleasant home.

We were cordially invited to the home of one of our new members, Mrs. Tucker, where covers were laid for twelve and there we enjoyed a splendid dinner which Mrs. Tucker placed before us, one which she knows how to prepare. We are very anxious for another visit in the near future.

Mrs. Hanson, Oswego, entertained the members on Dec. 5 with the usual good dinner and all reported a very pleasant time.

H. B. Compson W. R. C. on Dec. 2nd elected the following officers: President, Mary Perry; S. V. P., Mrs. Hanson; J. V. P., Mrs. Tucker; treasurer, Mrs. Wood; Sec., Mrs. Johnson; Chap., Mrs. Kenworthy. On account of the correspondent having to entertain a very unpleasant and unwelcome guest (the Grip) some of the items did not get to the papers as soon as they should.

COULDN'T REALLY BLAME BOY

Worker Around Car Had Forgotten the Somewhat Unusual Appearance He Presented to the World.

Out Sixteenth street is one of those massive piles of stone, bricks, etc., that they call apartment houses, in which lives a former army officer who spends his Sunday mornings in fussing around his car. Owing to the fact that he is busy every day during the week, he finds no other time in which to gratify this (to him) recreation. Last Sunday morning he arose before the attaches of the hotel, that is, the day force, had arrived; he donned a pair of overalls and placed on his head a disreputable old green cap, and with monkey wrench and oil can he started for the rear of the hotel, where stood his machine. After fussing with the automobile for two or three hours he returned to the apartment house bedaubed with oil and grease. He did not present his usual immaculate appearance; he started to enter the lift held up his hand and emphatically remarked that the freight elevator was at the other side. The guest was nonplussed for a moment; finally he caught the humor of the situation and spoke to the elevator boy, who, seeing his mistake, apologized thusly: "Deed, sir, I crave your humble pardon. I didn't recognize you in those most unusual clothes for you to wear."—Washington Star.

SHRIMP'S EARS IN HIS LEGS

Here's How One May Tell Difference Between Him and His Cousin, the Prawn.

Are shrimps insects? The question is often asked by those who see these active little creatures alive for the first time.

Insects have six legs, but the shrimp has no fewer than 24. He is a crustacean—first cousin of the crab, the lobster and the crayfish. Many of the "shrimps" that one sees in shops are prawns. You can tell one from the other by looking at the head, says the Detroit News. The prawn has a long sharp-pointed horn edged with teeth like those of a saw. Prawns turn pink when they are boiled, but shrimps become brown in color.

The eyes of a shrimp are easy to see since they stand out on stalks, but you might search for some time if you wish to discover his ears, for he keeps them in a very old place. His ears are in his knees. At the first joint of his first pair of legs, which by the way, are not used for walking, is a little bag which contains a minute drop of water, and this water-filled bag acts as an eardrum.

Relics of Spanish Ship.

Recent finds by the treasure-seekers at Tobermory, Scotland, include a muzzle-loading iron gun, four and a half feet in length, and having a bore of two and a half inches, several broken sword scabbards, and a large silver, possibly silver, which has been taken to experts in London for assay. In addition, there were brought up stout timbers of the old Spanish Armada ship in an excellent state of preservation. These finds have been added to by the recovery of a bronze cannon, four and a half feet long, apparently of the same caliber. On the iron gun among other marks were the royal monogram of the king and queen of Spain, "P. and L." (Phillippus and Isabella), whose joint reign lasted from 1550 to 1570.

Liquid Air to Crack Hard Nuts.

The chicha nuts from South America have some excellent qualities, but it has never been found possible to crack the shells without damaging the meat at the same time. United States government authorities applied liquid air to the problem. They did not freeze solid a piece of rubber and use it as a hammer, as is done in the classic experiment in physics, but they simply immersed the nuts in liquid air for 30 seconds and cracked them easily without damage to the kernels. Now the physicists are trying to find out whether this method can be applied commercially on a large scale. Chicha nuts were used during the war to make charcoal for gas masks and the oil from the kernels is a valuable food similar to copra.

Kimberley's Wealth.

Kimberley, which is but 80 miles from the new South African diamond field, is one of the richest mines in the world. Its yearly output is placed at $4,000,000. Ninety-nine per cent of all the diamonds produced in the last 20 years are said to have come from South Africa.

Lepers in United States.

The exact number of lepers in this country is not authoritatively known, but there are cases in 25 states and the federal government's only leprosy hospital, located in Louisiana, which can care for 200 patients, is filled to its utmost capacity.

Raising Bees in Bedroom.

A bedroom apriary, consisting of ten hives of bees, is a part of the household of Dr. W. B. Eldridge of Olean, N. Y. His home is situated in the heart of the business district of that city.

Various Kinds.

"There are all sorts of wives—the domestic kind and the ones who smoke excessively."

"Yes, we have the Kitchenette and the Humidoros, so to speak."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AGE MATTER OF COMPARISON

Actual Passing of the Years Really Has Little to Do With Coming of Decrepitude.

John R. Voorhis, president of the board of commissioners of New York city, recently celebrated his ninety-third birthday by doing his usual day's work. He arose at 4:30, his usual time, and after his usual hearty breakfast walked as usual to his office more than a mile away.

Being ninety-three doesn't mean anything unusual to this man whose span of life has been two-thirds as long as that of the American republic.

Age is, after all, remarks Thrift, greatly a matter of comparison. A few days before Mr. Voorhis' birthday he said that, while walking briskly to his office one morning, he noticed a seventy-five-year-old man feebly hobbling along the street, tottering with every step and seeming to have a terrible time to navigate even at the slowest pace.

"It was a great pity," commented Mr. Voorhis, on this sad spectacle, "to see such a young man so nearly disabled by old age."

Yes, it's largely a matter of comparison. At sixteen, forty is old age; at ninety-three, seventy-five is youth. The actual years count for naught. More and more we find this out.

CALLED ON FOR MUCH WORK

Amount of Labor Performed by the Human Heart is Almost Beyond Power of Description.

The heart of one man in a lifetime pumps as much blood through the body as the blood weight of the 10,000,000 men killed during the war, according to Dr. J. Pleisch, a professor in the Berlin Medical school, an authority on blood circulation and the first man to perfect a system for measuring the blood content of the human body.

"The heart of a man weighing 150 pounds and living sixty years," he said, "pumps during the course of his life 161,200,000 quarts of blood. The World war cost 10,000,000 lives. Estimating the average weight of a man's body at 150 pounds and the weight of the blood content at 5 per cent of the total, some 21,400,000 quarts of blood were shed during the war."

Professor Pleisch used this illustration to show how much more powerful is this marvel of nature than the destruction which mankind with the most ingenious instruments of warfare was able to inflict upon itself in five years of desperate effort.

Ask Me Again.

A few days ago a friend called me up to ask how to make a mint julep. Writes Russell Seeds, in an Indiana paper. On being asked how he makes his, I jokingly replied that he was not joking, but really had the making. I scooped possibilities and melted in with enthusiasm. I told him how to crush the ice fine and pour it into the tall glass, then put in a couple of sprigs of smashed mint and the granulated sugar and add a stiff thimble of genuine bourbon and shake it up, and then decorate the top with a bouquet of fresh mint and watch until the frost had formed on the glass.

"Thank you so much! Come down some time and we'll have one together."

But do you think I let him get away? On your life, no! They have slipped me that "some time" stuff for the last time. I have seen too many enchanting visions of house parties and week ends fade and die on the waiting list. I thanked him profusely and told him I'd be there in fifteen minutes. And I was!
