Wright Bros. Glass - Continued from Page 1

“We used to specialize in replacing glass in heavy equipment, but engineers redesigned them and we can’t make that type of glass anymore.” We could go buy it somewhere else and do the work, but we can’t live on labor alone.” He added that there just isn’t enough work to keep two or three men busy anymore. “When the economy went bad it really hurt us. We had to let an 18-year employee go.

That was sad.”

As he relayed his story, regular customer Gladys Johnson, stopped by to say good-bye and to order one more piece of glass for some furniture. The brothers had posted a sign in the window saying good-bye to the community, so visitors frequently stopped by. Vic also posted a message on the St. Johns Facebook page and got over 200 comments. St. Johns Cinema, posted a good-bye message to them across the movie screens during intermissions.

“We felt like we treated people through the years like we expected to be treated,” said Mike. “We’ve had a good relationships with the community for many years – we’ve done work for grandchildren of some of our customers.”

Vic said they are sad to close the shop, but look forward to their next phase. Mike said he can’t wait to drop a line in a lake and do a lot (a lot!!) of trout fishing.

“I love the peace of sitting on a lake and watching the eagles soar overhead,” said Mike. “Lake at Mt. Hood is my favorite. I’ve been fishing up there for 35 years but now I can fish in places I was never able to get into before on weekends.”

Vic said he and his wife Nancy will hop in their motorhome and travel. “We have a Jeep Liberty to pull behind our 34’ motorhome. I’m not sure yet where we’ll go, but we’re anxious to do it.”

The brothers will be dismantling the shop in a couple weeks after the closure. You still have time to stop by and say, thank you for good
