Obituary

"Hello, Beautiful!"

Jerrie (Rie) Newman
1962 - 2015

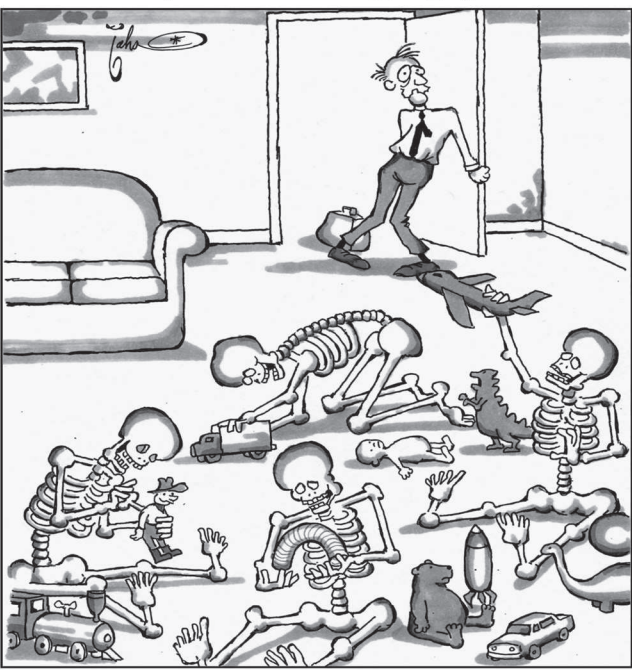

Rie Newman was the owner of the Body Bistro, a skin care business in downtown St. Johns. She was a tireless St. Johns organizer, coordinating or volunteering for many local events, and had a wide and complex circle of friends in town. Rie was an elegant picture every day, and nearly always wore one of her collection of stylish wide-brimmed hats. She was known for greeting everyone she knew with, "Hello, Beautiful!"

Rie's memorial service was held on July 25 at the James John Café. The room was overflowing with people, many of them wearing wide-brimmed hats, and a crowd of people who couldn't get in the door gathered on the sidewalk outside.

Wesley Anne Cook, owner of local business In Among the Pigeons and a close friend of Rie's, said, "Rie touched folks in rare and loving ways, not only in her healing work at the Body Bistro but also on the streets and byways of St. Johns. Her smile and laughter were infectious, hearty, and well meant. No one could resist her greetings. She leaves a great emptiness for all who knew her."
