The Oregon City Courier, November 23, 1883

A LETTER FROM BOSTON.

Mr. Editor:

I have just received a letter from a friend of mine who resides in Boston, and he says that at the last election the people voted for a new school system, which will cost the town $50,000.00. He adds that the town is not a large one, but is well-to-do, and that the people are satisfied with the system of education that they have. He also says that the new school will be built of stone, and will have a capacity of 500 pupils.

A. S. WARD.

THE LANDING CALL.

The Landing Call was published in the Oregon City Courier, November 23, 1883. It is a poem about the beauty and charm of the Oregon City area.

THE LANDING CALL.

Oh, the Oregon City is so fine,
And the people are so kind,
And the scenery is so grand,
And the weather is so grand.

The hills are green and the water is blue,
And the air is so pure and true,
And the people are so kind,
And the weather is so grand.

The Oregon City is a place to see,
And a place to stay for a while,
And the people are so kind,
And the weather is so grand.

The Landing Call.

THE CRESCENT BRIDGE.

The Crescent Bridge is a popular destination in Oregon City. It is a bridge that spans the Willamette River and connects the downtown area with the north side of the city. The bridge has a length of 1,200 feet and is supported by two steel towers.

THE CRESCENT BRIDGE.

The Crescent Bridge.

THE LANDING CALL.

Oh, the Oregon City is so fine,
And the people are so kind,
And the scenery is so grand,
And the weather is so grand.

The hills are green and the water is blue,
And the air is so pure and true,
And the people are so kind,
And the weather is so grand.

The Oregon City is a place to see,
And a place to stay for a while,
And the people are so kind,
And the weather is so grand.

The Landing Call.

THE CRESCENT BRIDGE.

The Crescent Bridge.

THE LANDING CALL.

Oh, the Oregon City is so fine,
And the people are so kind,
And the scenery is so grand,
And the weather is so grand.

The hills are green and the water is blue,
And the air is so pure and true,
And the people are so kind,
And the weather is so grand.

The Oregon City is a place to see,
And a place to stay for a while,
And the people are so kind,
And the weather is so grand.

The Landing Call.

THE CRESCENT BRIDGE.

The Crescent Bridge.