OBSTRUCTIONS IN STREAMS.

t is Useless Until the State Will Pas Laws Giving the Fish Real Protection-Does Not Favor a Hatchery o the Columbia River.

WASHINGTON, July 21,-Senator Mitchell has been sending to the Fish Commissioners numerous petitions and re quests which he has received from differ ent persons and organizations in Oregon, asking that something be done to prop agate the salmon in Oregon streams. Recently Commissioner McDonald sent to Senator Mitchell a reply to those suggestions in which he points out some of the reasons why efforts to establish sal-mon hatcheries by the United States government are not always successful. The requests were that there be established in the Columbia basin a hatchery which would turn out 100,000,000 salmon fry each year. The most pertinent por-tions of the reply of the Commissioner are here given:

"Under the present circumstances
there is no location on the Columbia river or any of its tributaries where we salmun-fishing of the Columbia, river. The preliminary work which would justify expenditure by the general government must first be done by the States. The season of net-fishing must first be restricted. No net-fishing should be permitted and no obstructions in the way of dams allowed on the tributaries

The Commissioner says that the man who would be employed on the Clacka-mas has been sent to the Sandy river to hold the salmon and collect the eggs, but he has found that a fisherman has erected a wheel at a point where it is desirable to work, which renders it entirely im-practicable. The control of the stream can only be obtained by paying the per-son with the wheel to take it away. Mr. McDonald continues:
"Such interferences will arise wher ever we attempt to go, and parties will be found everywhere who will make it a business to interpose obstructions if the policy is once established of paying them. I should advise that any appropriation made by the government for the erection of salmon-hatching stations on the Columbia river should be accompanied by the proviso that no expendi-ture is to be made on this account until the States of Oregon and Washington have established such regulations in re-gard to the fisheries and such exemption in reference to the streams as may be in the judgment of the United States Fish Commissioner necessary. It is probable that we might be able to select certain streams tributary to the Columbia in s streams tributary to the Columbia in which there is at present a sufficient run of salmon for our purposes, and should the States by law absolutely prohibit the use of nets in such streams, or the erection of any obstructions whatever, we could at a comparatively moderate expense in the establishment of stations for the collection of eggs do an immense and productive work for the Columbia river. I should say that an appropriation of $25,000 would be sufficient for the establishment of such stations, but I do establishment of such stations, but I do not think it wise to incur any such ex-penditure until the States interested have done their duty in the matter, and by the exemption of certain streams rendered it possible to make such an ex-penditure productive when incurred."
