The flour trade has received new animation since the commencement of the Japanese war.

Supply and demand rule. In the Eastern market corn now brings a greater price than wheat. The corn crop is short.

The fruit growers of Yamhill county have formed a Fruit Growers' Shipping Association, a means of self-protection that the fruit growers of this county should adopt.

According to a summary by the Department of Agriculture from the estimates of 25,000 farmers in the West and Northwest, the average cost per acre of wheat is $11.00.

There will be a special hop day at the state fair and the management has provided two large premiums for the best exhibit of hops in the hale and the best stand of hops, with no entrance fee.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has so cunningly fastened its controlling grip on the Board of Equalization of California, that its taxes, the bulk of them several years past due, have been cut down $2,300,000.

CARROLL D. WRIGHT (chief of the national bureau of labor statistics), Nicholas E. Washington, of Peoria, Ill., and John D. Kernan, of New York, constitute the national committee for the investigation of the Pullman strike and boycott.

The nation's pursestrings are loosening. Over a dozen ads. of "money to loan" appear in the S. F. Examiner this week, a half dozen in the Sunday Oregonian, and a couple of million dollars a week is going in circulation of the surplus in the New York banks.

The China sugar factory, the largest factory and refinery in the United States, was started on the 3d at Chino, Cal. With this season's addition to the plant, made at a cost of $250,000, the factory will use 1000 tons of beets per day and its daily output of refined sugar will be 140 tons.

The Chicago Prairie Farmer says that many wool growers in the West are holding firmly to their season's clip, believing that better days and better prices are coming. There is unquestionably, adds the Farmer, a brighter feeling in the buying centers, and the market has been characterized by heavy trading and an actual advance of from ¼ to 1 cent in the New York banks.

EVIDENCES continue to develop of improvement in European trade, the reports to London banks and discount houses showing that, instead of increased stagnation, trade and business have greatly revived and that cheap money is again stimulating business. The low rate of foreign exchange has put a stop to gold exportation to Europe, which indicates that also on this side of the Atlantic the ebb tide of adversity is turning into the flood of prosperity.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union at its convention in St. Paul, August 2, with only one dissenting vote, adopted a resolution endorsing the decision of Monsignor Sattoli, sustaining the action of Bishop Waterston of Columbus, Ohio, in refusing to recognize in his church Catholic societies officered by liquor dealers.

The bulge in corn, owing to the drought and the steadily decreasing price of wheat, draws attention to the fact that only twice in 32 years has corn sold on the Board of Trade at Chicago, for more money than wheat. This occurred August 2; No. 2 yellow corn sold at 51 cents, while sales of No. 2 hard wheat were made at 50½ cents.

The 200 Catholic pilgrims who recently made a visit to the shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe at the City of Mexico to offer up prayers for rain, arrived at Durango, Mex., on the 23d. On the day following their prayers the heaviest rain in four years fell throughout the state, and many of the pilgrims will be kept busy for some time to come repairing the damages done to their ranch properties by the overflows. This should make the professional rainmakers ashamed.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL evidence points to the murder of Charles Gloystein on July 27th by the anarchist wing of the populist party of Spokane county, Wash. It seems that he had incurred the enmity of a branch of the party, on account of his zeal as a republican, and he had been hung in effigy and repeatedly warned by kukule methods to leave the country. It is now supposed that his enemies have carried into execution their threats of murder if he failed to comply with their demands. As an evidence of this result, his hat was found, after his disappearance, riddled with bullets and covered with blood.

Our trade relations with Europe, including the shipments of gold, are encouraging, and an unmistakable index of our business solidity as a nation. For the year ending June, 1894, our exports of merchandise were $892,111,280, a total never before reached except in 1881, 1891 and 1892. The importations of free and dutiable merchandise fell off from $866,400,922 in 1893 to $654,835,873 in 1894. The imports in 1893 exceeded the exports $18,735,728, while in 1894 the exports exceeded the imports by $237,275,407. This is an unusual showing, for only in 1878, 1879 and 1881 have the exports exceeded the imports in a like degree. In the great grain exporting year, 1892, when the exports exceeded $1,000,000,000 the balance of trade in favor of this country at the end of the year was only $202,875,086. A look at the gold and silver movements reveals the interesting fact that the gold exports of the year exceeded the imports only $1,585,063, as compared with an excess of exports of gold in 1893 of $87,506,493. For the 12 months the excess of silver exports over imports was $37,168,438, as compared with an excess of $17,544,087 during the year ending June, 1893. The country is all right.

The lower house of congress on Monday passed the senate tariff bill, and the country is watching for the effect of the long fight against the German crowd in the senate has on the general prosperity of the country. The alliance of a clique of democratic senators with the sugar trust to frustrate legislation in the interest of the masses is one of the most disreputable incidents in national legislation. The effort of the reformers is now to push through separate bills placing barbed wire, coal, iron ore and sugar on the free list.

The attention which the Southern Pacific cabal is now receiving, reminds us of the grandly, sweetly solemn manner in which Senator Stanford, the head of the robber band that killed and despoiled the settlers of Mussel Slough, was expelled to heaven by Christian song, fervid prayer in the name of the Great Redeemer, and unctious sermons extolling his virtues. One of the fruits of the devilry of millionaire anarchists such as he was the derailment of a passenger train by feroocious, disappointed strikers on the Baltimore & Ohio by which 24 human souls were waded to their eternal world. Will the angels seat them and Stanford side by side around the White Throne when the legions of the blessed sing the Gloria but perhaps Stanford didn't stop off at heaven's gate.

THE A. P. A. having concluded to dispense in its propaganda with the services of renegade priests and Orange-men, and to cease its opposition to the Roman Catholic church, such sensational mouthers as Revs. Roland Grant and J. Q. Henry will be obliged to seek some other vein of bigotry with which to fire the patriotic heart. They might take up the neglected cause of the goody-goody folk who can't sleep 'o nights because God and Christ are not specifically mentioned and acknowledged in the Constitution, as though I've nation, like the Pharisees of old that lusted Jesus of Nazareth to the cross, should make bread of the phylacteries in order to be seen of men. Perhaps it is the present dearth of sensational material that caused Parson Wallace to utter the tirade from his Portland pulpit against a theatrical company.

The Southern Pacific docked all the engineers and conductors for the time the trains were not actually running during the late strike, although every man was punctually "on hand" more than the customary number of hours. These faithful hands can now be kicked and cuffed at will, for there are plenty to take their places. Even the pay of Sam Clark—who lost his life in the service of the company by the ditching of the train near Sacramento, which crime is believed have been instigated by railroad officials to break the strike—even Clark's pay was stopped from the moment his lifeless body lay under the engine, and charitable subscriptions are now being solicited for the support of his aged mother. No disaster that can overtake the Southern Pacific gang will be unmerited. They are the most lawless set of unshing rascals between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

OREGON CITY can better afford to give a bonus toward building the motor line to Molalla than to lose it and see Canly, Barlow or Aurora capture the bulk of the Molalla trade by building a motor line first. All the conclaves should see the great importance of the proposed line to the business interests of Oregon City. We need it and the farmers need it.

Jewelry in a Grave.
 The largest amount of jewelry known to be in a single grave was buried in Greenwood cemetery several years ago. The undertaker who had charge of the funeral protested against it, but was severely snubbed for his interference. The family had its way and in that grave is buried fully $5,000 worth of diamonds, with which the body was decked when prepared for burial. Sometimes families who desire to bury their dead in the clothing worn in life—in evening or wedding dresses, for instance—substitute less costly imitations for the jewelry worn in life, partly from motives of thrift and partly from a superstition that anything taken off a body when it is ready for the tomb will bring ill luck to future wearers.—Philadelphia Times.

Ready to Accommodate.
 An exchange tells a story connected with a strike on the North British railway, during which much difficulty was experienced in finding engineers to keep the necessary trains running.
 One of the substitutes, a young fellow, ran some distance past a station, and then, putting back, ran as much too far the other way.
 He was preparing to make a third attempt when the station agent shouted, to the great amusement of the passengers: "Never mind, Tammas. Stay where you are. We'll shift the station."

The richest of civilized people are the English, with $1,266 per capita. France follows with $1,102, while the United States has $1,029, while by the sale of their lands to the government most of the Indian tribes are worth from $5,000 to $10,000 per capita.

He who expects from mankind that they give up established customs in compliance with his single will and exacts that deference which he does not pay may be endured, but can never be approved.—Dr. Johnson.

During the most of the sixteenth century the English people called the Bible the Bibliotheca, or the library, this word being limited in its application to the Scriptural writings.

JAY GOULD'S NEPHEW.
 The San Francisco Schoolboy Whose Name Cost Him Perhaps a Fortune.

In one of the public schools of this city is a bright eyed lad of 15 years known as Fred Gould. No one to look at him would ever dream how near he came to being the favorite nephew of the late wizard of Wall street or what a petty trick of fortune it was that cheated him out of a million or two.

Fred, whose full name is Jay Frederick Gould, is the son of Abram Gould of St. Louis, the only brother of Jay Gould. Abram is a railroad man in the employ of the Texas and Pacific and Missouri Pacific. He never traded on his relationship to the millionaire, so that he is little known outside his immediate circle of railroad acquaintances.

Fred first saw the light of day in St. Louis. The happy father notified his brother in Wall street that he had a son and heir, and Jay, in a spasm of frustration, thinking that the child should be christened Jay Gould, Jr., and promised that he would do something handsome for his namesake.

The father detested the junior, who he thought his boy would have to write after his name for a good many years, so he compounded by calling the boy Jay Frederick.

The lad was left motherless at an early age, but he received a mother's care from the wife of Captain Austin of the Pacific Mail company, who practically adopted the boy. Jay Frederick was brought to Oakland, where he lived until the Austins moved to this city. Recently the captain died at Panama, but the widow lives here and sends the boy to school. The boy has the Gould features and complexion. He is very slow in his movements and in his speech, but he inherits the business sagacity of his uncle, as he generally gets the better of any of his playmates in a trade. He also shows a shrewdness beyond his years in purchasing any articles.

When his uncle died, Mrs. Austin was very anxious to learn whether the millionaire had done anything for his nephew. She knew that Jay had been worth because the father had not followed his instructions in naming the boy, but she thought the millionaire might have relented. The will showed that he gave Abram $25,000, but there was absolutely no mention of the little boy whose middle name knocked him out of a chance of a fortune.—San Francisco Chronicle.

I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphia, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
