Every one, so they say, man, the work-may, and the business woman, the work-ing woman, always tries to economize by doing her own dressmaking. She likes to dress well, and it does seem so extravagant to pay so much for what she might do herself. It requires a brave woman to attack her headgear, but with clever fingers and good taste a dress doesn't seem such an undertaking, and often it quite saves the price of another gown. ich has been and will be written on the care of the teeth because so many persons do not appreciate these valuable cared for and regularly inspected by the itist, decay will hardly have an opportunity to do great harm before it is stopped. Decay often has its beginning in bits of food sticking between the th and forming the starting point of a diseased tooth.

The toothpick should be used regularly after each meal and after eating. It need not necessarily be employed during a meal or be carried like a cigar in the mouth after eating, but in the privacy of one's room the quill toothnick should search out each corner and angle bea the teeth, and all foreign matter could be removed; then the toothbrush should be used, and, as the spaces be tween the teeth are vertical in a standing person, so the toothbrush should d up and down rather than across, so that fresh water may be scrubbed between each tooth.

The toothbrushes that shed bristles are not desirable articles of the toilet, for not only are the loose bristles great annoyance, but they may even work in between the teeth and in the gums and cause painful points. Such loose bristles usually come from cheap brushes or those used for too long

These injunctions about the care o the teeth have to be repeated again and again, because it is such a matter of everyday observance that persons care ful in other matters are careless about their teeth.
