Where the gold has gone. Cleveland says in his message of last week that since the date of the second issue of bonds, November 22, 1894, more than $60,000,000 of gold has been drawn from the treasury.

It has obviously been withdrawn by the banks, for themselves and their customers and correspondents, for hoarding and for speculative purposes.

At the time of the last bond issue the banks of New York held $93,077,000 of specie. This was depleted on December 10, by payments on bonds, to $59,000,000, a loss of about $34,000,000.

On the 20th the bank holdings of specie had increased to $81,000,000. This was a gain since the bond payments of nearly $22,000,000, against the government loss of more than $39,000,000.

The exports and the visible gain by the banks account for $51,000,000 of the loss. The other $18,000,000 is no doubt held in private hands and by banks in the interior in anticipation of a premium or to guard against an emergency.

It is any wonder that the administration turns from the banks to the people for relief?

The 4,000,000 people of the "Australian colonies of the British empire" are in the midst of an industrial stagnation, in comparison with which we are in a condition of fair prosperity.

MOLLALA.

The pleasant weather of the past few days has caused the farmers in this community to commence plowing and seeding. There is considerable ditching being done on the prairie this winter, and there would be more done if there was a tile machine running here.

Mr. Stevens has finished his new barn, built to replace the one burned recently.

John Hagby came in today from near the head of Butte Creek, and had on exhibition the hide, head and feet of a fair-sized cougar, or mountain lion.

It measured about eight feet in length. The animal succeeded in going some distance after he had put a 40 caliber bullet through his heart.

It seems as though but little progress has been made in hunting the murderer of James Brown. The friends and acquaintance of Mr. Brown are dissatisfied with the way the case was handled, and it has been reported that some of his intimate friends are going to take his body up and hold a post mortem and take from his body what the gun was loaded with that caused his death.

It is also reported that the reward for the apprehension of the murderer is now raised to almost $1000. If such is true, it seems as though the amount is sufficient to induce some competent detective to ferret out the crime and it is to be hoped that such will be the case, for it is certainly a shame that such a foul crime should be committed and the perpetrator go unpunished.

Prof. Hoivis will close his school here next Tuesday, the 12th. In the evening there will be an entertainment by the scholars and patrons of the school, consisting of farces, declamations, songs and instrumental music. A good time is anticipated; admission free.

The Professor is thinking of going back to the land of his birth, old Missouri, to resume school teaching, and he and his family have our best wishes, but we think that when they get the full benefit of a Missouri blizzard they will wish themselves back in Webfoot.

The Mollala and Russellville debating societies are to meet in joint discussion at Teasle creek on next Friday evening, February 8th. The question for discussion is, "Resolved, That the A. P. A. should be supported by the citizens of the United States." Mollala has the affirmative and Russellville the negative.

John Vick has a new boarder at his house, in the shape of a 10-pound boy. It is reported that O. D. Eby, the efficient clerk at Robbins & Son, is soon going to leave us. He goes to his home near Eugene.

STAFFORD.

H. C. Branch, wife and daughter, are spending the week at Mr. Gage's.

Harry Peters of Frog Pond fell from a board fence while at school and broke an arm. Dr. Quisick of Tualatin set the fracture and now the lad is resting fairly easy.

Most of P. A. Baker's large family have been on the sick list of late. Jake the youngest son was very low, but all are on the improve.

L. Saldern's foreman has been in these parts rustling up men for Saldern's large logging camp on the Columbia.

Several lively young people gathered at J. P. Gage's residence and spent a very pleasant evening on Friday last. Singing and instrumental music was freely indulged in.

The Duplex was a great success last Saturday night. Songs and recitations almost without limit had been prepared, and music by Prof. Brown and the Duplex orchestra was furnished. In all, a very entertaining time was had and although the house was packed beyond its seating capacity, the great variety of choice selections rendered kept them highly entertained.

Mr. F. Elligson and family, Misses Kate and Annarretta Sharp, Olga Barnes, Messrs. Chas. and Smith Turner were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Seedlings in their new home, Sunday.

From State Superintendent.

The following circular letter has been received by Superintendent Gibson and it is worthy of perusal by all teachers: SALT LAKE, Or., January 17, 1895.

To the County Superintendents of Oregon, Greeting:

I sincerely solicit the aid and support of the county superintendents, school directors, and all persons interested in the welfare of education and its advancement. Our educational affairs are so organized that no man can have that success desired without the aid, support, cooperation and help of the friends of education. As chief executive officer over all the educational affairs of the state, I shall, with due courtesy, strive to discharge the duties of the office without partiality, and, as far as possible, according to the law.

I respectfully ask that all county superintendents thoroughly acquaint themselves with their duties as set forth in the school law, and also the duties of the board of directors and teachers, that they may be prepared to give such information as properly belongs to their departments.

The state superintendent will take great pleasure in furnishing county superintendents all proper information when called for. Frequently, questions are sent to this office by directors, teachers and others, for which decisions are desired. All such should be first presented to the county superintendent for his decision, and, if such decision is not satisfactory, then they may, along with a copy of the complaint and decision of the county superintendent, be sent to this office for final decision.

Superintendent of Public Instruction.
