"In view of the prohibition of Ger man markets to American cattle, there is another direction toward which American packers might well turn their attention. That is the preparation and sale of horsemest."

This is the opening paragraph of a report just received from Consul Edward W. S. Tingle at Brunswick, Germany.

Mr. Tingle adds: "While exact statistics on the con-sumption of horseflesh are difficult to obtain it seems almost as great as that obtain it seems almost as great as that of beef and mutton in the large cities of Germany. In smaller cities, where there is some prejudice against horse-meat, the consumption is about one-third of that of beef, but in those places the use of horsemeat is growing daily. Its consumers are exclusively of the poorer classes, but they comprise nine-tenths of the consumers of the country. Beef and other first-class meats cost from 15 cents to 25 cents per pound in from 15 cents to 25 cents per pound in Germany, and are out of the reach of the average workingman, who receives 75 cents or $1 per day." The demand for horsemeat in Ger-The demand for horsemeat in Ger-many has grown to such an extent that it is beginning to be difficult to supply it, and this is where the opportunity for American packers comes in, according to Mr. Tingle. Formerly the German butcher had little difficulty in procuring for slaughter horses which were either worn out or injured so as to be worth-less, but the supply of this class of ani-mals is about exhausted, and horses for butchering now cost from $45 to $50, f where formerly they could be had for from $5 to $10. The consequence is that just as people become attached to horse-meat, the butchers find they must raise their prices. Mr. Tingle adds: "Horses can be raised in the United States much cheaper than cattle. They can be slaughtered by any of the Ameri-can be slaughtered by any of the Ameri-can be sold either on the hoof or dressed at a price certainly greater than seven cents per pound. The meat is consumed in Germany in both salted and smoked state. With the astonish-ing y rapid disuse of horses in America many has grown to such an extent that

Using English Coins For Weights

Many are the uses of money, but Mr. oseph Newton, late of the Royal mint, points out there is at least one use which is not generally known. This is the availability of coins for letter weighing when the ordinary postal weights do not happen to be at hand. Commencing with the sovereign, this weights a very safe quarter ounce, for foreign postage, two equaling, of course, a half ounce, and four one ounce.

and four one ounce. The next denomiration, the crown piece, is just on the right side of one ounce in weight, and the half crown of half an ounce. Five separate shillings, or two shillings and a sixpence, for the ounce and half ounce, will do as well.

Descending from gold and silver to hard working bronze, it is found that hard working bronze, it is round there either three penny pieces, or five half-pence, or 10 farthings will respectively make up one ounce. Another peculiarity in regard to the halfpenny is noted by Mr. Newton, That is its diameter, which Mr. Newton.
