

LOCAL EVENTS.

THREE-FORTY-FIVE FARE.—The Salem Journal has the following to say of our last Sunday sport: "The man did not jump from the bridge. No one walked the wire or the falls. The double tallion ascension failed. The crowd denounced Oregon City sports a fake. Nearly every one seemed disgusted with the management of the sports. The Portland papers claim that "the man was prevented from jumping off the bridge by the officers," but such was not the case. The officers gave the managers to understand that in case of accident they should not sue the county for damages. The man went over the falls as advertised, but broke an arm in doing so. A special train from Salem and four boats from Portland carried the crowd. The steamer G. W. Shaver stove in her bottom and had to be beached for repairs. Although the amusement-loving crowd was not satisfied and will not be liked again soon. The people who do not believe Sunday sports are thankful and think the sports will now stop. The more serious accidents occur, before the managers of the affair have dissolved partnership in Portland and a benefit will be given one of them to enable him to get out of town, which shows that it was not financially successful either.

HIGH PRICED FISH.—The opening of the salmon fishing season in Oregon and in Maine are as widely different as the two states are apart. Here on the first day of the season over 3000 fine salmon, many weighing 50 to 75 pounds, were received from the dozen miles of the Willamette between Portland and Oregon City, and the fishermen received 4 to 4 1/2 cents per pound for them. A Bangor, Me., paper of a week ago gives a very long account of the capture of the first salmon of the year there by two sportsmen through an opening in the ice over a pool below the water works dam. It weighed 22 pounds, is styled a fine fish, and was sold for $22, and after being exhibited all day was sold to a fish dealer of Portland. Just how much it will cost the consumer is hard to tell. Of course it was caught with a fly, and, fortunately, after being hooked, came to the surface and was grabbed and cut into a boat before the floating ice broke the line.

THE RED FRONT FALLS.—G. R. H. Miller, J. A. Talbert, J. H. Dearborn, Eli Criswell, H. P. Bestow, T. B. Hankins, J. Gorbett, James Shaw, H. Thiessen, W. H. Smith and P. Shumway on Tuesday morning took possession of the store of Hamilton Bros., under a chattel mortgage for $2700. The mortgagees are indorsees of the firm's R. L. Sabin began suit for claims aggregating $3400 and a writ of garnishment was served upon the mortgagees in possession of the embarrassed establishment. Another suit was filed by John G. Miller & Co., of Chicago, for $270 other liabilities for merchandise amount to about $3500. Attachments have been placed on all property owned by them inside of three years. It is said that they have several thousand dollars worth of produce coupons outstanding.

BUCK GOT THE PIANO.—J. A. Buck last week had a suit in Justice Bullock's court, of Portland, to replevin a piano from the possession of E. J. McCormick. Shortly after the marriage of May Sullivan, Buck's former housekeeper, to Mr. Janney, Mrs. Janney came to Mr. Buck's house with a Mrs. Trip, from Portland, and stated the latter wanted to rent the piano. Being accommodated, he consented, and sent the instrument to Portland to this woman. Mrs. Trip kept it awhile, and then sold it to Mr. McCormick for $100, claiming it was her property. Hearing nothing of his property, Mr. Buck went down a few days ago, and found it in McCormick's possession. He then brought suit. The trial took place before a jury, and, after a hot contest, the case was given in favor of J. A. Buck.

PROBATE MATTERS.—Thos. F. Ryan appointed administrator of estate of Wm. R. McCubbins; report of Ole Mikkelson, guardian of Emma, Caroline, Sophia, Annie and Clara Peterson, filed; E. F. Driggs appointed guardian of Walter, Jessie and Ivy Long, children of C. C. Long, insane, and E. R. Charman, guardian of said Long's estate, authorized to sell 50 acres of section 25, township 5 south, range 1 west; F. T. Griffith appointed administrator of estate of Jettie Gaedke; B. R. Kimmel released as administrator of estate of H. W. Whitman; Ella Colson asks leave to sell 109 acres of estate of J. D. Colson; Eva Newman, administratrix, cited to appear before court on June 31 to answer complaint of Sarah M. McCown, administratrix of estate of P. O. McCown, ordered to administrate upon said estate.

THE READ CASE.—The jury in the Preacher Read robbery case on Tuesday after being out 21 hours brought in a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity." The following persons from this place acted as witnesses for the defense: Senator Geo. C. Brewster, Sheriff E. C. Maddock, Jas. W. Pastlow, G. A. Harding, W. T. Whitlock, Chas. Meserve, E. Hutton, S. R. Green, Chas. A. S. Dresser, Mrs. S. A. Chase. Mr. Read was ordered committed to the insane asylum on Wednesday by Judge Stephens. The court said: "Owing to the fact that the jury has returned a verdict in your case of not guilty on the ground of insanity, the order of the court is that you be committed to the insane asylum."

SKIDOW'S HONESTY.—The case of T. L. Charman vs. W. L. Skidow & A. W. Schwan, for the forcible entry and detention of that portion of the river front recently fenced off by Skidow with the avowed purpose of establishing a headstead claim there, was tried before Justice Dixon today and resulted in a judgment of restitution. The defense gave notice that an appeal would be taken, and it was mutually agreed that there should be no destruction or removal of the property until the appeal should be perfected and the issue tried out. A tax deed from the county is held by Mr. Charman.

The Chautauqua

The Chautauqua Association has arranged for the following department of study at the summer assembly to be held July 10-19 at Gladstone Park: School of music, in charge of Mr. A. S. Dresser, who so ably conducted this department last year; school of art, Professor John Ivey, of San Francisco. Prof. Ivey has conducted the school of art at Pacific Grove, California, five years; some of his best pupils have lately been on exhibition in London and Liverpool, England, where the press has spoken highly of their merit; the New York Illustrators is preparing a series of plates from his paintings of Pacific Coast scenery. The department of elocution will be in charge of Miss Sara N. Brown, of the Boston School of Oratory; Professor Hammond, of Southern Oregon, a specialist in Oregon floral and collector for the Smithsonian Institution, has been invited to take charge of the department of botany, in which he will be assisted by Francis E. Lloyd, professor of biology at Pacific University. Professor G. W. Shaw, the well known and popular state chemist, of Corvallis, has consented to conduct the school of chemistry. Professor Thomas Condon, of almost National fame, has consented to conduct the department of geology and mining. Professor J. H. Ackerman, superintendent of Multnomah county and principal of the Harrison street school, will take charge of the teacher's normal, or department of pedagogy, assisted by Mrs. Hawley, of Salem, who was such a favorite last year, superintends the Sunday school normal department, assisted by several of the most noted Sunday School workers on the coast. He will also lecture on current history. Mrs. E. W. Allen, of Portland, will superintend the primary Sunday school, assisted by specialists in kindergarten and junior work. Professor Wetherbee of the State University has consented to take charge of the school of physical culture; he has charge of all athletic games, bicycle races, etc. Prof. Ivey of the school of art is a great card. His works have been frequently engraved. He is the author of a fascinating "Guide to Landscape Painting and Sketching from Nature," that ought to be in the hands of every student of art. On the morning of July 11, Prof. Ivey gives his first lecture on "The Poetry of Art." Miss Sara N. Brown, from the Boston school of oratory, now instructor at Willamette University, Salem, has appeared before large and enthusiastic audiences East and West. Her impersonation of Juliet scored great successes in Boston and in Denver. The Oregonians pronounced her reading in Portland as "truly admirable." All lovers of Shakespeare will be glad to learn that President Chapman has promised lectures on Lear and on Macbeth.

On the afternoon of July 13, Dr. Gunauals, of Chicago, will give his great lecture on Sarcosinosis. Says the Chautauqua assembly report of New York: "Gunauals' firebrands kindle the dullest to heroic purpose and loyal life." The Chicago Inter-Ocean: "Plymouth church holds 2000. Every pew was filled. For an hour and thirty minutes the doctor held every soul to his speaking. It was such an address as never $1000 to $1500 when ministerial talent is called to mobilize for the work for church or general purposes." Chautauqua Beacon: "The lecturer who has stirred the assembly before us with his address on Sarcosinosis, is Rev. F. W. Gunauals, of Chicago."

Opinion of Attorneys on the Elijah Smith Mortgage Tax Suit.

Having been some time since retained by the court to prosecute the collection of certain delinquent mortgage taxes assessed for the years 1891 and 1892 against a mortgage or trust deed executed by the W. T. & L. Co. to Elijah Smith, trustee, to secure payment of negotiable bonds held by various persons throughout the East, we respectfully report as follows: That about the first of July, 1893, this trust deed was sold by the sheriff of the county at tax sale and bid in by Hon. J. W. Medford, county judge, in the name of the county. This purchase was made pursuant to a law passed by the legislature in 1893, authorizing county judges to purchase land at tax sale for the benefit of their respective counties, and, doubtless, was intended to be sufficient to enable counties to protect themselves against loss in case of this character. That law was deficient in not providing for other property as well as land. Closely following upon the passage of this act another act was passed absolutely the "Mortgage Tax Law," with its remedies, and while another law was subsequently passed which attempted to save from the operation of the act the tax on the 1892, it gave rise to a complication so novel and unique as to baffle the ingenuity of any one except an Oregon legislator, in its interpretation.

During all this time we have given the case considerable and very careful attention and are fully convinced that there are very serious obstacles in the way of recovery of the money claimed to be due, owing to legal technical defects to be found in the assessment, than to the inadequacy of remedies intended to be afforded by the laws and suitable to the case. Believing as we do that it would be impossible to collect the taxes so claimed and in order to avoid a tedious and expensive course of litigation, which would necessarily be carried through the federal court, we made an effort to procure a compromise without suit and have been able to obtain from the P. G. & Co. certain concessions, whereby the county may raise an expenditure of one-half the amount claimed, to be expended on the public roads of the county and thus save a portion at least of what would be our judgement be a total loss to the county.

We have no hesitation in recommending an acceptance of the proposition offered by said P. G. & Co. as the best possible solution of the question. C. D. & D. C. LATOURETTE.

CONCERT.—A rare treat is promised for the musical people of Oregon City in the form of a grand concert which will be given in the near future by Professor Werschkul's vocal class; Mrs. Jennie E. White, accompanist. The assistance of Miss Lizzie Mae Bentley, the talented pianist and piano soloist, and Mrs. J. S. Montgomery, soprano, who is so deservedly popular in the musical circles of Portland, have been secured for this concert. Program and full particulars will be printed next week.
