Dallas, Tex., August 27.—There is beginning to be quite a stir and show of business at the site of the amphitheater. The great glove contest will take place since the contract for the lumber was let. Ten of the biggest saw mills in eastern Texas have been running night and day to fill the largest single bill ever placed with them.

NINE JURORS CHOSEN

Another Added to the List in the Durrant Case.

San Francisco, August 24.—Warren Dutton, a retired merchant, was secured as the ninth juror at this morning's session of the superior court, in the trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont. Twenty-two other veniremen were challenged for cause and excused. Returns had been made today on 125 new veniremen. The number of responses was unusually large, and the opposing counsel have great hopes of securing three more jurors from the number.

Absolutely nothing has been left undone to make the evidence against the accused conclusive. Charles L. Hedemark and his wife have been visited again by the prosecutors. They repeated the remarkable story they related soon after Durrant's arrest. This story, so little thought of at the time, has gained significant interest in the last few days, particularly in relation to an important statement made by the police. Captain Lees and associates have said that they will show beyond the power of contradiction the movements of Durrant during every hour of the day on which Blanche Lamont disappeared.

It is believed that they have a witness who saw Durrant near the church between 8 and 9 o'clock on the evening of April 3. The dramatic story told by Hedemark and his wife tells what followed. In the shadow of the church they saw a man moving from place to place. As the darkness of night deepened they saw him in the gallery of the deserted place, guided in his terrible work by the light of a candle. At the first moving light behind the great church window made them think the church was on fire, but closer watching quieted their fears, and they concluded that some one was repairing the sanctuary. They had no suspicion that they were watching the last gruesome detail of a horrible crime.

The man whose shadow they saw was hiding the deadly record of his crime. He was busy among the rafters of the steeple, gazing now and again down upon the body of the girl whose life he had taken. Subsequent events gave an intense interest to the part which Hedemark and his wife played.

That is one reason why they have again told their story to the prosecution. Every detail was repeated. It was shortly before 7 o'clock that Mrs. Hedemark called her husband's attention to the light in the doorway.

She is able now to recall the incident for several reasons. April 3 was her sister's birthday, and Mrs. Hedemark had paid her a visit on that day. She had returned to her home somewhat late, and was sitting with her husband in the dining room when her attention was drawn to Emanuel church. The Hedemarks live directly opposite the Emanuel church. Between their home and the Bartlett street church there is no obstruction. Mrs. Hedemark saw the moving light in the church at dusk. She thought it strange, and watching it for a moment, called her husband to the window. Together they traced the shadow of a murderer, but to Emanuel church.
