THE LOVEJOY CASE.—A petition to reopen the suit of Amos L. Willam R. and Elizabeth Lovejoy, Elizabeth L. Gowdy and Albert L. Hudson, against the Willamette Falls Electric Company, the Willamette Falls Transportation & Locks Company, and the Portland General Electric Company, was filed Wednesday in the state circuit court. This action is for the possession of what is known as the Island Mill property, or Governor's island, or Abernethy island, situated just below the falls at Oregon City, on the west side. By reason of the water power adjacent to it, this island is now worth a very large sum of money. The Portland General Electric Company claims that the island contains 4.36 acres and to own it by a deed from the O. R. & N. Co. to the Willamette Falls Transportation & Locks Company, and thence to the electric company. This deed originally was executed by Lovejoy, now deceased, who filed a government claim upon the island in 1850. The present contestants consist of his wife and children. The present contention of the Lovejoys is that there are two islands, the upper one containing less than two acres, upon which the electric-light station is located. They allege that the channel between the upper and lower islands, although not now well defined, was perfectly plain when the first surveys were made, and that the lower island is Governor's or Abernethy's, or Island mill island, and contains 2.36 acres, and was never deeded away by old man Lovejoy. The Lovejoys concede the upper island to the electric company, and claim the lower island. The electric company claims the entire property. The Lovejoys have lost the case already several times, but still hope to eventually win.

FLOURING MILLS.—The mills now owned by the Portland Flouring Mills Company comprise one at Salem, with a capacity of 500 barrels per day; two at Oregon City, 900 barrels per day; one in Portland, 1700 barrels per day; and one at Tacoma, 10,000 barrels per day, and one at Dayton, Wash., 500 barrels per day. The output of the whole amounts to 5000 barrels per day, or 1,125,000 barrels per year of 10 months. This is a vast amount of flour, and some may wonder what is to become of it. The growth of the company's trade on both sides of the Pacific has been so great that there was not enough left for the Irish and English trade. The Altmore, which sails for China and Japan, Thursday, takes 20,000 barrels, or four days' output of the company's mills, and the possibilities in this trade can only be surmised. The company also ships flour to the mining regions of this section, to British Columbia, the Sandwich Islands, and considerable trade has been built up with Central American ports, as far down as Panama. All these different lines of trade must be supplied, and all the flour there is left out of the mill and a quarter barrels finds a market in Ireland and England.

STATE COLLEGE AT CORVALLIS.—The fall term of the state agricultural college at Corvallis begins on Thursday, September 19th. Apperson, president of board, Oregon City, or President John M. Bloss at Corvallis.
