SOCIAL EVENT—The surprise party given at the armory last Friday evening by the friends of Miss Kate Ward, in honor of her 16th birthday, was a pleasant and enjoyable affair—in other words—the event of the season. Sociability prevailed throughout the entire evening and dancing, whist, chatting, etc., formed the amusing and favorite pastime. Those present were: Messrs. Charles Pope, James Church, Clare Campbell, George McBride, Harley Stevens, Rae Norris, Grafton Cheney, William Logan, Charles Wilson, James Shaw, William Lewtwaite, Freddie Charman, Leighton Kelly, Fred Wilson, Ralph Miller, Howard and Mort Latourette and E. M. Shaw; A. J. Braze, Everett Stark and Arthur Compton of Portland; Misses Kate Ward, Anna Dolan, May Lewtwaite, Maria Pratt, Pearl Meldrup, Ina Chase, Clara Warner, May Wigham, Marjorie Caulfield, Pauline Campbell, Hazel Pillsbury, May McBride, Vera Caulfield, Sade Chase, Bette Font, Alice Lewtwaite, Minnie Ackerman, Ethel Caulfield, Ora Spangler, Erma Lawrence, Mrs. J. R. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Latourette. Miss Ora Spangler, the skillful and entertaining pianist, executed the music for the evening with ease and grace to an appreciative gathering. The interior decorative effects, under the supervision of Mrs. C. D. Latourette, assisted by Miss Ina Chase and Miss Erma Lawrence, were unique, artistic and typical of autumn. Elaborate refreshments were served, under a cluster of autumn leaves, and consisted of a bountiful supply of various kinds of cake, sparkling lemonade, etc. All departed at the midnight hour, assisted on their homeward way by the moonlight that is usually prevalent on an autumn evening.

THE BURGLAR AT SHIVELY'S—“The Burglar” as played at Moore’s Opera House last night was the strongest and best dramatic presentation ever seen here. The work of this superior company was of a very high order. We do not often see the equal of these players, and they have a play that differs from the stereotyped ones, and is interesting and strong, with a very amusing comedy element which is capitally given. The work of Mr. Eugene Moore and Mrs. Anna Boyle-Moore in their very difficult roles was of a particularly high standard, but the entire company did very clever execution. Little Gertrude Carlisle as “Editha” was one of the best and most pleasing child actresses we have seen on any stage. Her interpretation of her lines was remarkable and she delighted every one. It is refreshing to the lover of good drama to see such a company of players as these.—Brighton, N. J. Daily News.—This company will appear at Shively’s opera house Monday next, October 14th. Admission 25, 50 and 75 cents.

ADOLPH LEVY DEAD—The funeral of Adolph Levy, one of the pioneer citizens of Oregon, took place Saturday in Portland, from the residence of his brother, Ludwig Levy. The funeral ceremonies were attended by many friends of the deceased, and immediately thereafter the remains were taken to Ahavi Sholem cemetery for interment. Adolph Levy was well known in mercantile circles of Oregon, coming to the state when it was yet in its infancy and engaging in business at Oregon City. Thirty odd years ago he was Wells Fargo’s agent and telegraph operator at this place.

FOUR HORSES LOST—Kidd & Williams have been having bad luck with their lively rigs. A young fellow got a team out of their stable on last Friday and drove to Portland and sold the outfit, he afterwards stole a bicycle in Portland and left. The horses and bicycle have been found Sunday Scott Guffrey got one of their teams and drove to Springfield. He left there at 3 p. m. and at 8 when about 2 1/2 miles from town, one of the horses died from over driving. They also lost a horse from the pasture below town last week.

PROBATE MATTERS—Ole Mickelson, guardian of Emma Peterson et al, filed semi-annual report. T. F. Ryan, administrator of estate of C. B. Hawkins, allowed to borrow $400 to pay taxes. Adeline G. Shaker, executrix, ordered to sell personal property to satisfy claims. W. W. Dickenson, administrator of J. M. Brown, to close up estate on December 2d.

Awarded Highest Honors—World’s Fair.
