THE LOCAL MARKET.

There are two sides to the local market question, and one is not all right side nor the other all wrong. Oregon City, for a town of its size, is a good market. But it must be admitted that it does not consume all the products offered it. The proximity of Portland with its large capacity for handling country products has tended to keep shippers from entering the Oregon City markets to buy. The producer thinks he cannot get as good a price here for what he has to offer as he can by carting it to Portland. In many cases this may be true, but the difference is not more than the cost of transportation. In many cases this is not at all true. Such products as are actually consumed here very often bring a better price here than in the Portland market. Today oats and hay bring more here than in Portland. Next week it may be butter or eggs or beef. While oats bring one to three cents a bushel more here than in Portland many farmers draw their oats to the big city "because Oregon City is no market."

A correlative of the "no market" is the assertion that Oregon City merchants charge more for their goods than do those of Portland. In this connection it may be proper to give heed to the statement of a local merchant. "When a farmer gets hold of any money," says this experienced merchant, "he goes to Portland to do his trading. When he comes to Oregon City to trade it is usually to get three, six or twelve months credit, without security or interest. Is it reasonable to suppose the Oregon City merchants can sell goods on such terms for the same prices the Portland merchants charge for cash? The farmer who comes to Oregon City with the cash, or its equivalent, to pay for the merchandise he wants can buy for as low prices as he can buy for in Portland."

This is a phase of the matter that is worthy of serious attention. If the merchants and farmers can get together on the question it will be much to the advantage of both city and country.

About the time of the outbreak of the war between China and Japan it was given out in all the republican organs that our state department had committed a great blunder, and had gratuitously made an enemy of Japan. Some months later when ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster returned home, and said that our state department had handled the matter with conspicuous ability and increased our prestige in the East, the republican growlers were a good deal disgusted. To this testimony is now added that of the Mikado himself, who is an official letter to the president expresses his appreciation of "these acts on the part of your excellency's officers, acting under your excellency's wise directions, which not only tended to mitigate the severities and hardships of war, and finally to promote the successful issue of the negotiations for peace, but served to draw still closer the bonds of friendship and good neighborhood which happily unite our two countries." Thus perishes another slander upon democratic foreign policy.

"One copy of a paper that reaches the home is worth more to an advertiser than three that don't." -Barnum.

JOHN G. Carlisle, a candidate for the presidency, is a strong man. If not a strong candidate, says the N. Y. World. Here is a man for Americans, studying him from the outside, to take as a model. He is a man of strong lines—a thin man, a bony man, with big hands and big feet and big features. There is no round stomach of the Cleveland Reed-McKinley-Harrison sort about this candidate. He has no fat face, or waxy complexion, or gout, or rheumatism. He is a strong-faced American of the old-fashion type. He is made up on the same lines as Abraham Lincoln. He is gaunt. Get a good photograph of his face and look at it. Compared to faces of other candidates, it is like the head of a mastiff compared to the heads of a collection of 4 lapdogs. If you ever have a chance to vote for John G. Carlisle, remember that you are voting for a man who really is a man, no matter what may be minor weaknesses.

The indications are that within the next month the populist party organization in Indiana will disband. The men who have been carrying on the agitation for four years have about decided that there is no future for the party in that state and that they might as well abandon it. E. B. Cummings, the secretary of the state committee has tendered his resignation. The officers and members of the same state committee will, it is said, follow the example set by the secretary. The men who have been leading the party there say they have information that the members of the executive committee have decided to resign. The populist party in Indiana received its first blow three weeks ago when the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association of the state cut loose from it. There is some talk of organizing a labor party which shall take up and advocate the principles for which the populists have been standing.

OUR weeping-willow contemporary, the Industrial Herald, grieves pitiously over the cautiousness of a court that would allow an attorney's fee of $125 in a foreclosure suit for $1300. The same paper lauds a Mr. J. D. Stevens as an apostle of simon, pure populism and refers to him as a buzz-saw that "republican lawyers" should steer clear of. And yet it was not so very many moons ago that this same Mr. J. D. Stevens collected an attorney's fee of $150 in a case involving not a whit more work than the one now complained of. We do not mean that Mr. Stevens is a lawyer; he simply held a mortgage on a poor man's home, and the mortgage was foreclosed and the home sold by the sheriff to satisfy the Stevens judgment, including attorney's fees. Great is humbug!—Daily Independent.

WILLIAM MEYER, a bookkeeper for a beer firm in Wichita, Kan., was committed to jail on last Saturday for disobeying the order of Judge Tucker, who required him to drink beer in order to give expert testimony as to whether it was beer or not. It was in the case of the State vs. Herron, under the prohibitory law that the testimony was required. The liquor had been seized from Herron and the defense claimed that it was non-intoxicating hop ale. It was to solve this that Meyer was required to take a drink. Habeas corpus proceedings were commented on the ground that a judge has no authority to compel anybody to drink intoxicating liquors. Lawyers say there is no similar case in the history of American jurisprudence.

A Sad Death. Died, in this city, Monday, November 9, 1895, Pearl, wife of W. J. Maple; aged about 22 years.

Mrs. Maple was the daughter of John Elliott of this county, and was united in marriage to Mr. Maple about one year ago. She was an exemplary woman, and will be greatly missed by those who knew her. The funeral took place from the Methodist church Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Members of the Woodmen, to which he belongs, acted as pall bearers. THE COURIER joins Mr. Maple's many friends in extending sympathy.

CURED AT 73 YEARS.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure Victorious. No other medicine can show such a record. Here is a veritable patriarch, 73 years of age, with strong prejudice to overcome, who had Heart Disease 15 years. He took the New Heart Cure and is now sound and well.

SAMUEL O. STONE. Grass Lake, Mich., Dec. 28, 1894. I have been troubled with heart disease 35 years or more. Most of the time I was so bad it was not safe for me to go out alone, as dizzy spells would cause falling. I had severe palpitation, shortness of breath and sudden pains that rendered me helpless. All physicians did for me was to advise keeping quiet. In August last I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and before I had finished the first bottle I found the medicine was a God-send. I have now used four bottles in all and am feeling entirely well. I am 73 years of age and have held a grudge against patent medicines all my life, but I will not allow this to prevent giving my testimony to the great cure your valuable remedy has wrought in me. I do this to show my appreciation of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. SAMUEL O. STONE. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at 41c. 6 bottles for $3, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Restores Health.

Board of Trade.

The board of trade held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, with a better attendance than usual. The report of the road committee on the plan to build a good wagon road southward from the south end of Main street, on the route of the old territorial road, was expected to be presented, but on account of the absence of County Roadmaster Kinnaird the committee was unable to report anything definite. The committee had been over the route with Mr. Kinnaird and a number of levels had been taken, but no further figures had been made. Major Charman spoke of the necessity for pushing the project in order that trade should not be diverted from the city by the absence of a safe road on a reasonable grade into town.

The secretary, for the special advertising committee, reported that a new advertisement had been prepared for the Monthly Oregonian and that the Portland General Electric Company had agreed to certain changes in its advertisement in the same paper so that the two would complement each other rather than lead to the appearance of antagonism.

The bills of W. A. Hantley for $1 and the Enterprise for $105 were presented and referred to the finance committee.

The Rev. Dr. Cowan was a visitor at the meeting and responded briefly and felicitously to an invitation to address the board.

MOLALLA

The long desired and looked for rain has visited us again and this section of Wefoot has regained its usual activity. Farmers are busy plowing and sowing. A large percent of the grain that was put in the ground early this fall in this section will have to be sown again owing to the continued dry weather.

The pork packing establishment of Jacob Harless and Son is busy cutting up porkers now. They received over 30 head today. N. F. Kayler is also in the business; he has built a new packing house and is getting his share of the business and is going to say that the pigs began to squeal when they see him coming, but I will take that back and say that he is making some A No. 1 lard and has a fine prospect of turning out some extra bacon in the near future.

Edward Bair, son of Ex-commissioner Bair, who lives near Needy, is in a critical condition, owing to a gunshot wound on right shoulder, received last Friday while out hunting. A shot gun heavily charged was accidentally discharged in the hands of a companion, young Bair receiving the whole charge in his neck and shoulders, badly fracturing the bones; a large number of shot still remain in his neck and it is reported that he has been delirious since the accident and there is small hopes of his recovery.

There has been very flattering reports received here recently in regard to the Ogle Creek mines owned by Russell, Stewart & Pelky. They run a shaft recently a few feet and run a cut across the ledge and they found a well defined ledge 14 feet in width, containing free gold all through, they then tapped the ledge some 200 feet further down and found it much better than they expected. There has also been another ledge discovered recently, about two miles from there, that shows up equally as good as the Russell ledge. Russell, Stewart & Co. are preparing to work all winter on their prospect.

F. C. Perry is winding up his business here and is preparing to move to Needy where he has bought out the general merchandise store of Ogle and Warnock, formerly owned and operated by S. W. Hardesty. Mr. Ogle has purchased the fixture and part of the drug stock owned by T. C. Perry at this place and Mr. Ogle will move here. Needy is a good point for business and we wish Mr. Perry all the success possible, and predict that he will do a good business.

Mr. Blam of Portland will lecture here tomorrow night in the interest of the A. O. U. W. November 13th. X. V. Z.

A Mother Amends Making. Hiams has on Nov. 11th and their study of music.

Its second meeting was held on last Tuesday with Mrs. E. E. Williams, who is president of the circle. The other officers are Miss Hattie E. Monroe, secretary; Miss Ora Spangler, Mrs. A. S. Dresser and Miss Myrtle Stevens, executive committee. The main object of the circle is the study of classical music, but some of the more popular compositions will receive the attention of the class. The program for the next meeting, which is to be held at Mrs. E. E. Williams' home, is as follows: Sketch of the Life of Johann Sebastian Bach, Miss Nieta McCarver.

Piano Solo. Johann Sebastian Bach, Miss Loula Draper. Music of the Orient. Mrs. Chas. Caulfield Vocal Duett. Miss Nieta Barlow and Miss Florence Morey.

Among the members of the circle, we notice the names of Mrs W P Hawley, Mrs C Caulfield, Mrs E E Williams, Mrs T L Charman, Mrs T A Pope, Mrs P F Morey, Mrs J W Gray, Mrs Jennie White, Mrs A S Dresser, Mrs Geo Harding, Mrs A B Graham, Mrs W C Cheney, and Misses Conyers, Monroe, Barclay, Kelly, Williams, Cochran, Azille Cochran, Lou Cochran, Barlow, McCarver, Baird, Draper, Mattie Draper, Morey, Pope, Pilsbury, Lawrence, Spangler, Stevens, Charman and Miller.

PROBATE MATTERS.—Administrator of estate of David Wilson discharged, final report having been made, showing $141.15 received and $570.27 disbursed. R. L. Ringo, executor of estate of H. C. Ringo, discharged, final report having been made. November 6th set as time for hearing final report of Thos. Charman as administrator of estate of A. McGarvey. Semi-annual report of John Lewellen, executor of estate of E. B. Lewellen, filed. Mary J. Dicken, administratrix of estate of Joseph Dicken, discharged, she having filed final report. Fred T. Smith, administrator of estate of Lucy A. Smith, empower to sell undivided 1/2 of 1/2 of ne 1/4 of sec 1/2 of section 9 in T 5 S. R. E. containing 80 acres, at private sale.

A SAMPLE.—Legal voters, 1; males under 21 and over 10, 2; males under 10, 1; females over 18, 1; females under 18 and over 10, 1; females under 10, 1; No. horses, 1; No. cattle, 5; No. acres in cultivation, 80; pounds butter made, 200; bushels potatoes raised, 20; bushels apples, 60. This is the showing, J. D. Stevens, a good populist agitator, makes in the census enumeration for 1895. It is needless to say that he inherited the property. Think of raising the above crops on 80 acres of cultivated land, but of course, most of his time is spent in shouting populism and Shakespeare.

Born, to the wife of A. Robertson, on November 6th, a girl. Mother and child doing well.

Charles Catra has purchased the Mentor Park dairy of Randall & Myers and will take possession on December 1st.

The Chautauqua circle is about to start in on its second book "Wright's Industrial Evolution of the United States."

Ed. Rinearson has purchased the cigar store of Chas. Babcock, and will add a billiard table. Ralph Miller will clerk for him.

Sam J. Baechler has given up his licenses to sell beer on the hill at a rate of $100 for six months, which was revoked by the council last week, and which he refused to do at first.

The Quarterly examination for teachers' certificates began Wednesday at 1 p. m. Superintendent Gibson is assisted by George L. Story and Bertha M. Gibson. There are 15 applicants for county certificates.

The A. O. U. W. lodges of this city received an invitation to an open meeting of No. 40 at Molalla on Wednesday evening. Lehman Blum, special grand deputy, was present and addressed, music and refreshments were on the program. But for the bad weather a large delegation from this place would have been present.

Mrs. Sarah Garvin returned Tuesday evening from San Francisco, where she was called a month ago to the sick bed of her sister, Mrs. H. A. Sivel. While there she visited the city prison to see Durrant. He asked her "what her opinion was of his case." She said she thought he was guilty. His reply was "that he was innocent and would prove it yet to the world."

The Great Inchoonee of the Redmen will visit Wacheno tribe on December 15th on his tour of the coast. His tribe is located at Philadelphia. The tribe here will scalp three pale-faces on next meeting night and is increasing at such a rate that it will be dangerous for a pale-face to live here soon. This organization is making arrangements for a grand masquerade ball about Christmas and it will be a success too.

On account of Bellomy & Busch's renting the K. of P. hall for a salaroom the Woodmen and Foresters have moved to the A. O. U. hall on the hill. The Women's Relief Corps will meet in the council chamber. Part, if not all, of these lodges will probably use the new hall in the Willamette block when finished. The Woodmen change their meeting nights from Tuesdays to Thursdays.

All kinds of toys and dolls just received at the Racket Store.
