LOCAL EVENTS.

CON KELLIHER'S TRIAL,-The trial of Con Kelliher, on a charge of the larceny of 300 neckties, suits of clothing, gloves and other articles, from the Red Front store on the night of November 28, was begun in Judge Stephens' court in Portland Tuesday. The property was recovered by the police detectives in a lodging house at the corner of Front and Jefferson streets, in a room occupied by Mrs. Annie Chase, a sister of Kelliher. Thomas Dark, who was concerned with Kelliher in the crime, recently escaped from the county jail here and is still at large. Kelliher is being tried in town Wednesday. there because he brought the stolen property into that county. His sister, Mrs. Chase, will not be prosecuted. She has been sick in the hospital ever since she was apprehended in this case, but was able to be present in court to testify against her brother. Her testimony was that some of the property was taken from the room by the officers. He was

GRAND PUBLIC RECEPTION.-Messrs Hill & Cole will open their elegant new saloon on Satuaday evening with a grand levee. Their establishment excels city, and, in accordance with the record the proprietors have established among us, the liquid refreshments with which they will accommodate their friends will be only of the best. Any one who visits Messrs Hill & Cole on Saturday evening cannot but depart with the satislying thought that they conduct a public resort worthy of any gentleman's patronage.

HAMMOND - WARD. - Andrew Hammond of East Portland and Miss Ethel Ward of Oregon City were married in Portland on Wednesday, and passed through here smid showerings of rice from friends assembled at the depot, on the evening train for Salem, where they will spend a day or so, after which they will visit at Ashland. Mr. Hammond is an employe of the Southern Pacific railroad and a nephew of both Senator Mitchell and J. Knott of East Portland, while the bride is well and favorably known here and is the niece of Mrs. C. D. Latourette.

MORE LIGHT AND POWER .- There is no end to the power obtainable from the Oregon City waterfalls. The Portland General Electric Co. is extending its system rapidly, the last undertaking, just about agreed upon, being supplying lights and power to run the elevators at the new union depot. Negotiations have been in progress for some time with the railway company, and it is thought that the final proposition made will be accepted.

HORTICURAL MEETING.-The annual meeting of the Oregon State Herticul-Or., on Tuesday, January 14. friends of horticulture, as well as members of the society, are requested to con tribute papers, music, or presence at mid meeting.
