OBITUARY.—Died at Canby, February 29th, Miss Vanilla Riggs, daughter of Wesley and Lizzie Riggs of Canby. Miss Riggs was born at Mackburg on the 27th of April, 1877, so was but 18 years, 8 months and 28 days old. She was converted at Hood River under the labors of Rev. J. H. Wood, when but 15 years of age, and united with the M. E. church and Epworth League of Canby, during my pastorate there. I found her to be an earnest and loyal member, ready at all times to do what she could. For some time prior to her illness she made Gladstone her home, but on the 16th of February she returned to Canby quite sick. At first it was thought she had a severe attack of la grippe, but as the disease progressed it proved to be a severe case of typhoid fever. She was bedfast only a week, she suffered much. The funeral was held from the M. E. church at Canby on the 27th. A large concourse of friends met to pay the last respects to the body of the dead. We laid her away in the cemetery to await the day when the earth and sea give up their dead and the corruptible bodies of those who sleep in Him shall be changed and made like His own glorious body.—W. J. Gardner, pastor of the M. E. church, Hubbard, Oregon.

THE WHITMAN INDIAN MASSACRE.—When the excavation was made for the foundation of the west pier of the suspension bridge of Oregon City, the remains of five human beings, which had evidently been buried in one pit, were exhumed. It was easily seen from the shape of the skulls that they had belonged to Flathead Indians, but no one at that time could form any idea how Indians of that tribe came to be buried here. Mr. H. C. Campbell, who had charge of the work, caused the bones to be gathered up and stored them in a building near by, and they were forgotten for the time. Since, he has learned that five of the Indians who took part in the Whitman massacre were brought to Oregon City, where they were tried and hanged, and it is now considered certain that the remains exhumed were those of these five Indians. On looking for the bones lately, it was found that they had been molested, and the skulls carried off, it is supposed, by boys. If the bones are really those of Indians executed for the Whitman massacre, the skulls would be greatly prized for the collection of the Oregon Historical Society, and inquiry should be made to find out if they cannot be recovered.—Oregonian.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.—A birthday party was given at the residence of Father Boland at Clackamas Heights on Saturday evening in honor of his 78th birthday and a very pleasant time is reported. Sinseling and wife, Miss Maggie Boland, Alfred Herm, Alfred Kerken, John Richmond, Samuel Reynolds, F. Boland, F. Clyde, G. Boland and Robt. Maloy.

SUES FOR $20,000.—Mrs. M. F. Bogan of Marion county has asked the county court to pay her $20,000 for injuries sustained on the road between Aurora and Barlow in October last. Her horse stepped on the end of a loose plank which frightened the beast and caused it to run away and throw her out. She says: My jaw was broken, arm sprained and spine injured. I was surely damaged in the sum of $20,000. Judge Thayer is her attorney.

While passing through Kansas a couple of traveling men told him they were going to start the rumor that he was Schlatter and soon the passengers were crowding to Putnam's car, where several recognized him, having seen his picture, etc. After his arrival in Kansas City, where he stopped three hours, he was surrounded and continually besieged with person, who wanted him to bless them, touch them, bless their handkerchiefs, etc. A policeman had his handkerchief blessed after which he folded it and placed it next to his heart; he also blessed a woman with a broken leg; another lady was cured after tying a blessed handkerchief around her neck.

Our un-lawful saloon keeper still holds forth here but it seems rather strange in as industrious a place as the city of Butteville to allow the sale of liquor without county, state or U. S. license. Surely this cannot continue much longer, though Tom Nelson says, "I have been keeping saloon for 40 years and have never paid but one license and intend to sell in Butteville in spite of the people, county, state or anything else." Now he sells behind what people call a "blind hog" because he thinks it might not be best to let everybody see who is doing the selling and because in the quiet city of Butteville there is more than one

You would not knowingly swallow poison. When you drink poor whiskey you poison blood, body and brains. Besides this you don't enjoy the drink. Buy good whiskey. There's comfort, health and enjoyment in it. If overworked, worried or run down, you need a warming soothing tonic. Nothing like good whiskey. It aids digestion, makes flesh and pleasantly invigorates the system. Good whiskey does this mind you. Poor whiskey irritates the stomach, inflames the tissues and poisons the blood. You can't afford to run risks; get the best, it pays. Physicians drink and recommend I. W. HARRIS' Nelson County Ky. Whiskey. Sold by Hill & Cole, Oregon City, Ore.
