Gray's Wounded - The Captain Lost His plea for Cuba brought on a running Bearings in a Dense Fog. and the cross-fire of comment and inquiry from Hale. The Delaware senator caused much amusement by referring to Hale as the senator from Spain. A fresh, vigorous contribution to the debate came from Chilton, who has seldom addressed the senate. He urged that there was abundant work at home tooccupy the attention of congress, instead of enlisting in humanitarian crusades abroad, with their possibilities of war. Caffrey also opposed the Cuban resolutions. Washington, Macrh 23.-During the Cuban debate in the senate the floor was yielded temporarily by Sherman to Allen, to state his views on the claim of Dupont. The statement had more than a passing interest, for the six Populist votes are regarded as decisive in the contest, and this was the first expression of a Populist senator. Allen contended that Dupont was not entitled to a seat without a certificate from the executive of the state, and when this was lacking, as in this case, the courts of the state could compel the issuance of credentials by the governor. A resolution offered by Chandler, was adopted for an inquiry of the naval committee of the desirability of building one turret above another, after which the following bills were passed: For the relief of settlers within the indemnity limits of the grant to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company; for the disposal of lands in the Fort Klamath hay reservation, Oregon; fixing the rank and pay of the judge-advocate-general of the navy; for a survey of the mouth of the Yukon river.
