A CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF TH Farm-Field AND GARDEN

PLANTING POTATOES.

Modern Machinery Used by Experts For

Cutting and Planting the Tubers In planting potatoes, either for home use or for market, the first essential is a well drained, rich plat of land. A field which has been two years in clover is usually the best. To this apply a heavy dressing of well rotted barnyard manure. Break the sod in the fall or the winter 8 or 4 inches deep; then in spring turn it over to a depth of 8 or 9 inches and cut up thoroughly with a disk harrow, continuing the operation until the seed bed is well fined and in the best condition. Use a smoothing harrow to compact it sufficiently, so that it will not be dried out unduly.

The old method of hand planting will probably continue as the standard process for the general farmer who culti-vates but a small patch for his own use. The potatoes are cut by hand to two eyes, dropped in rows 8 feet spart, with the hills 18 inches apart in the row if piece would have become public properthey are to be plowed one way and 21/4 to 8 feet apart if they are to be cultivated crosswise. Checking, however, is hardly ever necessary except where the land is very foul, says American Agriculturist, authority for the foregoing. This authority also has the following to say concerning commercial planting:

For commercial planting hand processes are entirely too slow; consequently inventors have constructed machines both for cutting the potatoes into suitable sized pieces and for planting them. There is also on the market a machine which cuts the seed and at the same time does the planting. This is a hand potato cutter that does the work of eight persons. The number of knives can be decreased so as to make larger pieces of it, or can be increased and smaller pieces obtained. This machine can also be used for cutting beets, turnips, carrots and other roots for stock feed.

Muchines for planting potatoes at the rate of four to eight acres per day are no longer an experiment, and the best are familiar to readers through advertisements. One man only is needed to operate the machine that plants cut ed, while the automatic cutter and planter requires a man and boy. These implements open the furrow, drop the ed and any desired amount and kind of fertilizer, and cover evenly with soil to a uniform depth, bringing an even stand. A marker indicates the next row and keeps the rows straight. One of these machines soon saves its cost on a farm where potatoes are grown to any extent, while one can do much custom planting, and make money while saving expense for his customers. In these days of close margins on the potato crop it is necessary to study every possible detail to produce the least expense.

Close Root Pruning.

The new method of close root pruning is exactly the reverse of the old idea of transplanting—namely, taking up a tree with its roots entire. H. M. Stringfellow, near Galveston, is the pioneer in heralding this new method, which a Portland-Lida Spicer, Mrs A Cape- number of equally successful horticulland, Mrs T Smith, Mrs W Garigon, turists in the south approve and prac-Mrs Raider, Mrs H Gaukeny, Mrs A tice. Briefly stated, the new method is McLaine, Mertha Case, Jessie C as follows: Hold tree, top down, and cut back to about one inch. This cut will face down when tree is set. Leave Patterllo, Edith N Bannard, Flora L will face down when tree is set. Leave only from one to three feet of top. Let Vicent, C R Shields, J H Boston, Mrs C all shoots grow. When one foot in R Shields, Mary E Mathews, Carrie length, rub off all that are not needed

The Pacific Rural Press, commenting on this new method, says: "We are aware that the system has been followed to some extent by some planters upon the moist soil in the neighborhood of Visalia. It is our judgment that under favorable conditions for rooting, such as retention of moisture near the surface, the results described by Mr. Stringfellow would be attainable, so far as successful striking of roots from the freshly cut stubs goes. We are also quite assured that under the conditions surtrees in California a large proportion of them would die. Our observation is that too much importance has been attached to the retention of fibrous roots, but we should want to cut our roots longer than hedges for the same reason that in the drier parts of this state we use longer cutting and plant seeds deeper than is desirable in moist summer climates.

When to Use Hen Manure.

There is little objection to putting the hen manure directly on the garden to be plowed or spaded under in the spring. One advantage in keeping this manure over winter is that when thoroughly dried out it may be crushed or ground and used with muriate of potash and ground bone to make a good fertilizer. This dried manure makes an excellent "filler" for a home mixed fertilizer. The carbonate of lime should not be used on fresh hen manure if you wish to retain its value. This form of lime liberates the ammonia by permitting it to pass into a volatile form. Land plaster, or sulphate of lime, will 'sweeten' the house and preserve the manure much better than the "lime." -Rural New Yorker.

Fighting Cutworms

In a bulletin from the New Jersey station it is stated that clover or sod land is most frequently infested by cutworms, which are less frequently found on late cultivated land. The worms are especially abundant in crimson clover. Among the remedies suggested clean culture is placed first, prominently associated with early fall plowing. Applying a top dressing of kainit and nitrate of soda in the early spring if corn is to be planted is advised, the seeding to be delayed until the rain has carried the fertilizers into the soil. Distributing clover or bran that has been moistened with paris green about the fields is also Tolograph Lines.

A German expert, after a careful es-timate, has announced that the total length of telegraph lines in the world is 1,062,700 miles, of which America has 545,600 miles; Europe, 380,700; Asia, 67,400; Africa, 21,500, and Australia, 47,500 miles. The United States has a greater length than any other country, 403,900 miles, and Russia comes next, although European Russia has only 81,-000 miles. The other countries follow in this order: Germany, France, Austria-Hungary, British India, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Canada, Italy, Turkey, the Argentine Republic, Spain and Chile. In point of proportion, however, Belgium leads, with 409 miles of wire for every 1,000 square miles of territory; Germany comes next with 350 miles; Holland is only slightly behind Germany, and the United Kingdom has 280 miles of telegraph for every 1,000 miles

"The Barber of Seville."

"The Barber of Seville," the famous opera of Rossini, was produced for the first time on Feb. 16, 1816. According to the Italian law, which fixes the duration of the right of ownership for dramatic works at 80 years, Rossini's masterty a few weeks ago. But in Italy no opera is more popular than "The Barber, and the revenues from its production constitute almost the whole income of the musical academy at Pesaro, Italy, the residuary legatee of the composer. Owing to this fact, the government has issued a decree prolonging the right of proprietorship two years in order to save the institution financially.
