

CURED AT 73 YEARS.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure Victorious.
No other medicine can show such a record. Here is a veritable patriarch, 73 years of age, with strong prejudice to overcome, who had Heart Disease 15 years. He took the New Heart Cure and is now sound and well.

SAMUEL O. STONE.

Grass Lake, Mich., Dec. 28, 1904.
I have been troubled with heart disease 15 years or more. Most of the time I was so bad it was not safe for me to go out alone, as dizzy spells would cause falling. I had severe palpitation, shortness of breath and sudden pains that rendered me helpless. All physicians did for me was to advise keeping quiet. In August last I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and before I had finished the first bottle I found the medicine was a God-send. I have now used four bottles in all and am feeling entirely well. I am 73 years of age and have held a grudge against patent medicines all my life, but I will not allow this to prevent giving my testimony to the great cure your valuable remedy has wrought in me. I do this to show my appreciation of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. SAMUEL O. STONE.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

CHAUTAQUA NOTES.

W. C. T. U. Day.

This is red letter day for the W. C. T. U. at Gladstone Park. White ribbon women are to be seen flitting here and there, and the platform is a poem in ferns and flowers, and in a conspicuous place hangs a life size portrait of Frances Willard, "America's uncrowned queen." At sharp noon Mrs. Marion E. Baxter of Chicago led a prayer meeting in the auditorium. It was under her leadership that the noon day meeting in the Women's Temple of Chicago grew until they become the largest noonday prayer meetings in the world.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS.

Changes to Better the Permanent Chautauqua Accommodations.

The Chautauqua Assembly grounds at Gladstone Park have been considerably changed since last year's meeting. One of the most important improvements is the new bicycle track, that was carefully surveyed and graded, and is now being finished at a heavy expense. It is a quarter-mile track, and will probably be the best in the state for its purpose. Within the bicycle course is a baseball diamond, also carefully planned and measured. The additions to the water service include a standpipe and a sprinkler to keep every part of the grounds dustless. The pump formerly used has been replaced with one of capacity four times as great—enough, in fact, to supply a city of 5000 people—and the cool Chackamas will yield its sparkling current to every Chautauquan who will turn the faucet. In the main auditorium seats for 200 persons have been built on the rear of the rostrum, calculated to accommodate a large chorus. The old auditorium has been more than doubled in capacity, and a large locker added, and it will be ample for classes of the most numerous membership. The electric lighting has also been greatly improved and arranged for permanent service.

Special Headquarters Tents.

There are fifteen special tents on the Assembly grounds, designed to attract and serve the public to a great extent. The state headquarters of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle is in charge of Secretary Greenfield and occupies a position near the main auditorium. The Women's Christian Temperance Union has a large tent a little further up the avenue and is in charge of Mrs. Mead. Mrs. Judge Ward is the leader of the equal suffragists and takes delight in welcoming people to the headquarters of that association. The Congregationalists and Seventh Day Adventists are the only churches with established denominational headquarters in the park. The educational institutions having special quarters are the State University, Portland University, Willamette University, McMinnville College, Pacific College (Newburg), State Agricultural College and Holmes Business College. Mrs. Haynes and Miss Woolfolk are in charge of the Art Headquarters. The Corvallis Ladies' Band and the Chemawa Indian Band have their respective headquarters, and at the kindergarten tent Miss Wall has a class of wee folk that is one of the most pleasing of the Assembly.

Edwards Davis.

Edwards Davis, of the Central Christian church of Oakland, California, whose popular preaching has won and retains the attention of one of the largest congregations in a city of churches, is yet but a youth. This "Talmage of the West," as the New York Journal has entitled him, is a native Californian, and typically a western man. He was born in Santa Clara, on the 17th of June, 1873. Most of his life, however, has been passed in Oakland, where he attended the primary, grammar, and high schools, continuing his theological preparation in Washington College and Kentucky University.

In his eighteenth year, while yet an under graduate, his ministry was begun. His first charge was of a provincial church in Kentucky, from whence he was called to Lexington, Indiana, thence to Sullivan and Mattoon, Illinois. His promotions have been so continuous that at an early age he stands in the conspicuous position of a metropolitan pulpit. In less than two years the membership of his congregation has trebled, and his audiences have become the largest of any church of his denomination on the coast.

The Rev. Mr. Davis has won national reputation as a sensational speaker, the New York Tribune calling him in review, "an actor-preacher, a word-painter, a patron of the waltz, a sponsor of 'bean' poker, and the most popular preacher in the city." Despite misrepresentation he has retained the implicit confidence of his splendid congregation, which is, however, as unconventional as its preacher.

Winkler, Pianist and Organist.

Professor Emil L. Winkler is winning laurels by his work at piano and organ on the Assembly platform. He is a master of his art. Ten years ago he was studying in Leipzig, when Miss Blanche McFord, of this city, was also taking lesson in music there, and has since then been steadily upward. As a teacher he is free from crankiness, he knows how to make his pupils understand and he is considerate and painstaking, without relaxing in the drill that is necessary to advancement in playing. The Chautauqua Assembly is fortunate in having so competent an accompanist and teacher.

TUESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Indians Heard From—Lectures by Mrs. Baxter and Dr. Dille.

The morning programme in the auditorium was somewhat novel. Three young Indians from the government boarding school at Chemawa read papers. Nellie Reynolds, described the habit and customs of the Indians of the Colville, Wash., reservation. She spoke modestly of the history of her people and of the hope for their advancement in civilization. William Miner considered "The Indian of Today." He said the Indian had been harshly dealt with by the early settlers, but Uncle Sam was now treating them kindly, for which they were grateful. He spoke of the respect which the Indian has for the stars and stripes. In a brief statistical summary, he said there were 20,000 Indian children of school age in the United States, of whom 17,000 are enjoying school privilege. There are 250 common schools and 20 training schools for Indian children. His own school, Chemawa has an enrollment of 300. Elijah Brown spoke of "The Indian; His Past, Present and Future." He said the white man's run had done more to ruin the Indians than all the wars. The training school of Carlisle, Penn., was briefly described with reference to the present condition and outlook for the red men's future. A number of the Chemawa teachers occupied the platform, and the Chemawa band discoursed music at intervals. The programme was a revelation to the people, who had not given much attention to the advancement of the Indian. The Corvallis Ladies' band, the Chautauqua chorus, and a reading by Mrs. Hancock preceded the afternoon lecture on "The Age We Live In," by Mrs. Marion Baxter, of Chicago. This lecture was a discussion of the marvelous inventions of modern times and their influence on the civilization of the age. Miss Beatrice Baxter read "Aux Italiens," which, with piano accompaniment, made an enjoyable number. The running musical accompaniment of "Il Trovatore" airs harmonized with the sweetness of her voice. The Indian band introduced the evening programme and Professor Boyer's Chautauqua chorus sang two songs of unusual merit. Miss Lois Parker, of Forest Grove, sang "Robert, Thou I Love," and Miss Katharine Glenn, of Newberg, "When the Tide Comes In," both being enthusiastically recalled. Then came the lecture by the Rev. Elbert R. Dille, D. D., of San Francisco, on "American Shrines." Not many of these shrines were churches. Historic scenes in and about Plymouth, Boston, Concord, Lexington and old Salem were shown on the large screen on the platform, and described by Dr. Dille. Then he went to the land of Evangeline, giving views and descriptions and incidents of Acadia, Quebec, and the great Catholic shrine of St. Anne, near the latter place. The only civil war shrine presented was Gettysburg. It was a very instructive and entertaining discourse, fixing vividly in the minds of all the appearance of places and significance of events enshrined in every patriotic heart.

The officers elected by the association are: Mrs. A. J. Mead of Mt. Tabor, Chautauqua class of '83, president; Mrs. John M. Bloss of Corvallis, class '83, secretary; and Professor Bates of Pacific University, treasurer.

ASK YOURSELF THIS QUESTION.

If I should die tonight, would there be sufficient cash to pay my debts and give my family as good support as I now provide for them?

If no, how would my family in these quiet times live?

Of course its a serious question, but every husband and father should think of it.

You can create an estate sufficient to pay all debts and provide for the family at an annual cost of about 2 per cent, of the amount insured and it is cash at once after your death, by taking a policy in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co. This Co. is 45 years old, guarantee you against any loss of your money, after one year, give you annual cash dividends to reduce yearly payments, and will loan you money on your policy at 6 per cent interest. They write the safest policy and if you are interested in the subject write me for information.
