PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY.

OREGON CITY, NOVEMBER 13, 1896.

To Subscribers.

The season of the year has arrived when the proprietor of a newspaper naturally expects to receive some compensation for his labors. The amounts due us from subscribers are individually small, but taken in the aggregate they amount to quite a large sum.

PUBLIC OPINION.

One of the most potent factors in the election of McKinley was Mark Hanna's sack. The millions at his command had been entrusted to him by the wealthy to defeat Bryan, leaving to his shrewd judgment the selection of the means.

It is remarkable that scarcely any of the highly moral and eminently intellectual gentlemen who edit the scholarly magazines of the East, and fill the professors' chairs in its colleges, omitted an opportunity to cast abuse and ridicule at Bryan and his party—of course in choice English.

McKINLEY has been elected president of the United States. We did our best to prevent this, but were not able, therefore, how to the inevitable, and will endeavor to make the most of the situation, and ask our readers to do the same thing.

The republicans declare they have "saved the nation" and claim a monopoly of patriotism. Pretensions are cheap. The bigots that roared heretics for God's sake arrogated to themselves all the religion and patriotism there were in the benighted ages when they were the power behind the throne.

Behold the promised prosperity. It has arrived, the republican say.

A HUMILIATING SPECTACLE.

We hope the nation will never again be permitted to see such a pitiable and humiliating spectacle as was witnessed every day for the past three months at Canton, Ohio. There one could see crowds of people, some, no doubt, genuine idolaters paid by the day, and hauled in free by the railroads, to pay homage to a human being.

The introduction of this un-American custom is due to that incarnate tyrant and infamous labor-crusher—Mark Hanna. It illustrates the ideas of the man. It shows what his notions of human rights are. The practice exalts one man and degrades another, and that is the Mark Hanna idea as exemplified and illustrated in his dealings with his followers.

To us, the idea is revolting. Who is this William McKinley that his home should be made a shrine, and that he should be lifted up to be idolized and worshipped by men? Who? Simply a man seeking to become the chief servant of the people. Not their master, their owner, but their servant.

This country has given Major McKinley carte blanche to carry out his policy, and it will hold him responsible for the results. If he intends to betray the national confidence and to give the people another Cleveland administration, he will incur prompt retribution.

The "national democrats" want to reorganize the democracy. On what issue? There is no live issue except the financial one, and on that they are diametrically opposite to the "new democracy."

It is amusing to see the republican spellbinders take the democrats that elected McKinley to their bosom. One would think from the Oregonian that Messrs. Palmer, Buckner, Whitney and other eminent gentlemen of democratic antecedents had joined the republican party for good and all.

BEFORE the Chicago convention there were three parties. Now there are two. The republican party, composed of the gold standard republicans and the Cleveland democrats; the democratic party, composed of the democratic and republican free silverites and the populists.

"McKINLEY and Prosperity," was the bait that persuaded the gold-standard democrats to vote for McKinley and elect him. This promise will not be fulfilled if the gold pirates are allowed, as they have been, to loot the national treasury whenever they wish.

The "national democrats" are now talking of reorganizing the democratic party. This is cheek. From where will the generals draw their soldiers?—Gard.

BRYAN has been defeated; but lordy, the scare he gave the goldbugs. Never was such a vast sum of money spent or more desperate means used to defeat a candidate. It is simply wonderful that the Bryanites made the showing they did, considering the immense odds that were against them.—Times.

The laboring man now pays $1.15 per sack for the same flour he could buy three months ago for 65 cents per course, he has his wages raised in the same proportion.
