A gentleman went into Holman's to buy some wall paper for his parlor and looking through the many samples found some patterns that were fine, decided upon one. "What is the price of that paper?" "— cents per double roll." "I'm afraid that is too cheap." But when it was explained how and why it was sold so cheap, he took the paper and was highly pleased.
The benefit concert given by St. John's church on Tuesday evening was a success both socially and financially, having netted the church about $60. The solos, duets, choruses, recitations, etc., were well rendered and enthusiastically received by the large audience and if space permitted an extended mention of each would be made. The concert was gotten up under the auspices of E. J. McKittrick.

JUDGE WHITE DEAD.—Judge W. L. White died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Rhoades, in this city Monday, aged nearly 79 years. William Lewis White was born in New Kent county, Virginia, August 16, 1819. His ancestors took a prominent part in the Revolutionary war. Both parents died when he was young, and he made his own way in the world. When he was 18 years old he went to Western Tennessee, and later to Louisiana. Then he spent some time with the Texas rangers, under General Sam Houston. In 1839 young White returned to Tennessee and married Miss Mary E. Partlow, who died in 1887. They went to Texas, thence to Missouri, where he became colonel of the militia, and in 1850, with their three children, they joined a company that came across the plains to Oregon. The first winter in Oregon the Whites kept the hotel at Milwaukie. Then the colonel went to California, but returned to Oregon after making and sinking a lot of money in the gold mines, and kept the hotel at Oanemah. He was appointed chief clerk under Surveyor-General Preston, and continued in the position under General Gardner. He was chief clerk of the territorial council during the last two sessions of that body, and in 1868, 1876 and 1878, he was chief clerk of the house of representatives. In 1874 Governor Grover appointed Colonel White to be county judge here to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. K. Wait. In 1882 and 1886 he was elected to that office. In 1867 he purchased the Cliff house, in this city, which he conducted a number of years. Colonel White was charter member of the old McLoughlin fire company, the first organized here; the first chief of the department, and at different times he served as councilman and school director. Colonel White took much interest in politics, being always a democrat, and he was thoroughly upright in dealing with his fellowmen. For a number of years he was more or less identified with liberal religious movements, but recently he came back into full communion in the Baptist church. His surviving children are Anna E. Rhoades of this city, Rebecca T. Bray of Seattle, and Allen G. of Roseland, B. C. The funeral took place Thursday, at 2 o'clock, from Baptist church.

CITY WINS.—The petition of Oregon City for a writ of review to compel the county court to pay over the $5400 of road money collected by the county within the limits of Oregon City was decided Thursday in the circuit court. The county contended that the proper remedy for the city would have been to compel the county court by mandamus to make the apportionment contemplated by law, and which was not made here, when the funds sought would have become available. Now, it was alleged, the money has been spent, and is beyond the reach of the city. The city's argument was simply that the plain provisions of law, as embodied in the Oregon city charter, had been violated by the county authorities, and this proceeding was for the purpose of enforcing compliance with the law. At the conclusion of the argument the court granted the order prayed for, directing the county court to vacate the order previously made and audit and pay the claim of the city as presented. Judge McBride intimated that his private opinion as to the unconstitutionality of the provision of the Oregon City charter requiring the county to turn over to the city the road money collected by the county within the city remained unchanged, but as the supreme court disagreed with him on that point, he would follow the decision of that court as closely as he was able to do. Upon notice of the county's intention to appeal the case, the court granted a stay of execution until the appeal can be perfected.

SURPRISE PARTY.—The '97 graduating class gave their president, Mr. George Swafford, an agreeable surprise at his home on last Friday evening. Games and vocal music formed a part of the evening's enjoyment, followed by a bountiful spread of refreshments. Those present were: Messrs. Edgar Meresse, Fred Mendle, Fred Charman, Charley Criswell, Chester Roake, George Swafford, Charley Babcock, Walter Kruse, Thompson Meldrum, Abel Meresse, Carl Church, Emery Noble and Guy Clark. Misses Marjorie Caulfield, Elnor Williams, Orpha Gosper, Mabel Hannigan, Mary Bluhm, Lula Hankins, Maude Winslow, Belle Smith, Ethel Cheney, Nora Currin, Anna Dunjie and Jeane White. The Hesperian male quartette rendered a few selections during the evening which were well received. The hospitality and courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. J. Swafford was much appreciated as they done all in their power to amuse and make the gathering a pleasant one.

The Ins and Outs of It.

If you get best wear out of a coat, best work must have gone into it. You can't get good bread out of poor flour.

Moral: You can't get the best out of anything, unless the best is in it; and the best has to be put in before it can be taken out. Now, we have a rule to test those sarsaparillas with a big "best" on the bottle. "Tell us what's put in you and we'll decide for ourselves about the best." That's fair. But these modest sarsaparillas say: "Oh! we can't tell. It's a secret. Have faith in the label." ... Stop! There's one exception; one sarsaparilla that has no secret to hide. It's Ayer's. If you want to know what goes into Ayer's Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor to write for the formula. Then you can satisfy yourself that you get the best of the sarsaparilla argument when you get Ayer's.

Any doubt left? Get the "Curebook." It kills doubts but cures doubters. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Cut Prices! Comparison. Cut Profits!

The old, careless habit of buying without asking the price and paying the bills without looking at them no longer prevails and men hunt bargains, like women, and we have cut the prices on numerous Patent Medicines, Drugs, Paints and Oils, thus saving the people of Clackamas county 20 to 60 per cent. Here are a few of the cut prices:

	Regular Price	Cut Rate Price	OUR CUT PRICE
