POSTAL BANKS.

Assistant Secretary Spaulding of the treasury department at Washington was interviewed on the subject of postal-savings banks the other day by a Chicago Record correspondent. He said: "I do not think the government ought to enter the banking business in competition with private parties, but the postal-savings bank need not do this. As I understand the purpose of the advocates of this system, it is to accommodate certain small depositors who could not in most cases reach banks and who dissipate their small earnings under present conditions. If this system reaches such people it will prove a great benefit to them. Postal-savings banks open a way for insignificant deposits to accumulate and become of appreciable value to the depositors. In this way such banks are an incentive for economy and induce thrift. Self-respect accompanies the possession of a little money, and such a system, therefore, tends to better citizenship. It also tends to place considerable money at the disposal of the government which otherwise would be lost both to the government and the citizen. It seems to me that the plan ought to be worked out to great advantage to everybody concerned."

Third Assistant Postmaster-General Merritt said to the same correspondent: "The people should be encouraged in habits of thrift and economy, and no better way of accomplishing that result can be devised than by offering them a perfectly secure and reliable savings bank, where small deposits can be placed at interest. The habit of economy once formed will rapidly grow and spread, and postal-savings banks will prove a success from the day they are established in this country."

MAYOR HENRY GEORGE.

At the city nominating convention of the democratic alliance of Greater New York, Henry George was unanimously nominated for mayor. The nominating speech was made by Charles Francis Adams. The nomination was greeted with great applause. The platform in part is as follows: "The democratic alliance is a body of democrats loyal to the policy of the great democratic party. Our aim is to find a basis for united action for all democrats. We deem it essential that the democrats of Greater New York should reaffirm the Chicago platform, pledge themselves to the policy of municipal ownership and operation of franchises, and to the principles of direct employment, instead of the contract system. Mr. George in accepting said: "Fellow-Democrats, Men Who Voted Last Year for William Jennings Bryan; I accept your nomination. From now until election day closes I am yours. Aye, and after election, too, I am a democrat. I cannot divide into parts the questions which I, as a citizen, have to deal with. For the same reason that I oppose this monstrous tariff in all its forms, for the same reason that I would vote, if I could, for the utter abolition of that tariff—for that same reason I am opposed to the interference with individual liberty which you see here in New York. I am a democrat in the Jeffersonian sense. Because the Chicago platform represented the idea of giving the great common people what belongs to them, I stood for it, voted for it, and was sorer than ever that it was defeated."

We are pleased to be able to state that on retiring from office of register of U. S. land office the Hon. Robt. A. Miller will remain in Oregon City and open a law office, with probably a branch in Portland. Col. Miller is a lawyer of great ability and had much experience in the law business throughout Southern Oregon and Oregon in general before accepting the position which he will now leave, and will no doubt soon have a large law practice. During his official career the general land office and commissioner have not reversed a single decision of his in land law matters, which shows his good judgment and that it is founded on law and facts.
