OREGON CITY, NOV. 19, 1897.

IN ONE YEAR.

The people have spoken in thunder tones of disapprobation that cannot be misunderstood. New York, which gave Mr. McKinley a majority in November, 1896 of near 300,000, within one short year repudiates his administration and goes democratic by near 100,000! Kentucky, which gave him her electoral vote, now piles up 25,000 democratic majority! Ohio, which was counted for him by near 50,000, is now saved by a most desperate scratch after deluging the state with an unlimited corruption fund. Maryland's 39,000 majority was nearly wiped out. New Jersey, which strayed off into a republican wilderness of utter darkness, has returned to within hailing distance of her father's house. Old Virginia has rolled up the heaviest majority for democracy ever cast by the grand old mother of states. In Pagan Republican Massachusetts, the land of the Hoars and Best Butlers, the republican majority has been reduced one-half. Nebraska, the home of the great apostle of democracy, sounds the death knell of Hannaism and proclaims unswerving devotion to the cause of the people. From every quarter of the Union comes words of good cheer that the people are once more being aroused to the fearful peril into which treacherous and corrupt leaders have brought the country, and the assurance that they will stand by their rights, and their liberties, bequeathed by the fathers of the revolution; and when the great battle of the ballots is fought, the enemies of free government and a free people will be overwhelmed, "foul with dishonor, and black with defeat" from which they can never again rally.

The Rev. John Adams, New Milford, Ill., says: "Postal savings banks, in my opinion, would be a particularly good thing for the country places. Take my own town, for instance—New Milford. We are six miles from Rockford, where there are savings banks, but our working people cannot afford to take the time to go there, and consequently have no other place than an old stocking or the chimney to put their little savings. When these people are saving any money it is particularly necessary that they should have a perfectly safe depository and this would be afforded by the government postal savings banks."

The editor of the Semi-Weekly Spasm will have no one to abuse now that Mr. Meserve has leased his paper unless he abuses his old friend, J. R. Beagle. He seems to "stab" his friends in the back. In this connection we wish to say that the Enterprise under the management of Mr. Meserve has made a good showing, much better than the finances permitted, and we are sorry to see him leave the business.

It would be too bad if Oregon were to become a "silver state" like Washington, where state taxes have been reduced, state warrants are at a premium, and legislative expenses and appropriations were reduced nearly one-third. Oregon politicians could never stand that, but the people would not shed tears to have just such a dose administered and kept up for about ten years until the producer got caught up with the tax-gatherer and warrant-scalper.

The editor of the Oregon City Enterprise complains that our remarks "often-times have two meanings." If his had one meaning it would be a decided improvement on their present character.—Astoria Herald.

It was a Dakota editor who wrote "the price of this paper is not increased by the Dingley bill, but we wish to correct the misapprehension of some of our subscribers who appear to think it was placed on the free list."

The Salem Journal says: Senator Geo. C. Brownell, a Clackamas county lawyer, who is said to be training for a race with Tommy Tongue next spring, was a Salem visitor Sunday.

EDITORIAL ROOMS are called sanctuaries because of the scriptural language used therein when the editor opens a letter supposed to contain money and finds a poem.—Ex.

The next U. S. senate stands as follows: 45 republicans, 31 democrats, 4 silver republicans, 5 populists, 3 gold democrats, 1 independent, 1 vacant.

The $1000 appropriated by the Sound-Money League to convert Oregon will not go far towards killing bimetallicism.

A gentleman went into Holman's to buy some wall paper for his parlor and looking through the many samples found some patterns that were fine, decided upon one. "What is the price of that paper?" "—cents per double roll." "I'm afraid that is too cheap." But when it was explained how and why it was sold so cheap, he took the paper and was highly pleased.

A Good School.—Attention is called to an advertisement, in another column, of the Holmes English and Business College, of Portland, Oregon. This institution has probably educated more young men and women for business, and found them employment, than all the schools of that kind in the Northwest. Miss Holmes, in addition to being assisted by an able corps of six teachers, gives her entire time to the up building of the school and everything that can add to the students advancement and comfort is provided. The school maintains six departments, namely: Three years course in English branches, a course in book-keeping, penmanship, shorthand, typewriting and telegraphy. The Holmes college is a Christian institution and has at heart not only the mental but the moral and the physical welfare of the students entrusted to its care. The principal has given much thought to the home life of students and is able to provide safe and comfortable rooms at a low cost. The past years of business depression has impressed upon the minds of all the necessity for practical education and never in the history of the country has the work of the thorough business college been so much appreciated as to-day. Miss Rose Scheeland, of the LaMode Parlors, 349 1/2 Morrison streets, Portland, between Seventh and Park, has the finest line of millinery goods kept in the city. Don't fail to see her elegant stock when in Portland. It is a veritable bazaar within itself.
