When hrine stains linen it is evidence of kidney urouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and badder are not of order. out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain is passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effects of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. TEACHERS' MEETING.

The Regular Monthly Meeting at Milwaukie.

There was an unusual large attendance at the meeting of the Clackamas County Teachers' Association, held at Milwaukie last Saturday. Superintendant Stark-weather presided, and the first business was the election of new officers as fol-lows: Mrs. A. H. Wells, of Clackamas, vice-president; Miss Fannie Porter, reelected secretary unanimously; Miss Emma Sturchler, of Milwaukie, treas-urer; T. J. Gary, West Oregon City, editor.

The following were elected members of the association: Misses Harriet Bray, Aura Thompson, Rufus Holman and T. J. Bender.

At the forenoon session, Rufus Hol-man, of the Meadow Brook school, pre-sented "Nature Study," and it was a splendid essay on the subject. Mr Holman received many compliments on the ideas advanced, and the suggestions

Prof. J. C. Zinser said that no person is lazy if he had the work that he wanted to do. He recommends a school museum, such as specimens of plants, min-erals, etc., as intensified the interest of the pupils in subjects studied or read about. That it was comparatively easy to secure a collection for a museum when once the work was begun, as many when once the work was begun, as many articles found their way into the collection from unexpected sources. He also stated that they had formed the nucleus of a museum in the Barclay school at Oregon City.

An eloquent plea for literature in the public schools, was made by N. W. Bowland, of the Harmony school. He asserted that the school readers did not contain the required matter to give one contain the required matter to give one an insight into literature, and thought that American classics were far superior to the present readers for use in the pub-lic schools. Mr. Bowland read some extracts from prominent authors, that tended to convey beautiful and impres sive thoughts. A. C. Strange and W. E. Young had adopted a plan of reading in their schools from an educational journal, with good success. Mrs. A. H. Wells thought the school readers were good enough, and, in fact, the selections in many instances were above the comprehension of the pupil. Prof. Zinser concurred with the ideas advanced by Mrs. Wells, and did not believe in teaching literature in an epigrammatic way. Prof. Gary said that he encouraged the reading of magazines and good literature in his school. He encouraged the pupils to save their chew encourages the pupils of act that in good ing gum money and invest it in good reading matter. Miss Margaret Williams. Mrs Featherstone, Miss Jennie Rowen and Miss Estelle Bracken also made remarks on the topic presented. A splendid banquet was served by the ladies of Mflwaukie, and the menu could not have been surpassed, had it been prepared under the direction of the chef of the Hotel Portland. At the afternoon session, O. H. Byland read a very interesting paper on the "Relation Between Directors and Teachers," addressed more particu-larly to country schools. Mr. Byland nad prepared his paper very carefully, and it was practical in every way. J. D. Rusk and Richard Scott, who spoke in behalf of the directors, thought that the teachers usually knew more about the management of a school than the board. President W. C. Hawley, of the Wil-lamette university, delivered one of his famous historical lectures on the "Tory in the American Revolution. He claimed that the tory was not such a bad character has had been painted; that they were in the majority, but the the direction that it was only to be aggressive policy of Samuel Adams and given to me when I was in a good huothers made the colonies free and inde- mor."-New York Sun.

W. S. U'Ren was called upon, and thought the principles of government should be taught in the public schools.

Directors Scott and Birkemeir, both made short talks on school matters.

On motion a vote of thanks was ten-dered President W. C. Hawley for his able address, and to the people of Mil-waukie, for the hospitable way in which the associotion had been entertained. Rev. Streyffeller, also made a short talk on school matters.

Superintendent Starkweather ap-pointed Miss Marjorie Caufield, Miss Estelle Bracken and Prof. T. J. Gary, as program committee for the next meeting of the association, to be held at West Oregon City on the last Saturday in February.

LINCOLN'S CHIDING.

His Gentle Reproof In Reply to General Hunter's Ugly Letter.

Another remarkable evidence of the great kindliness of heart of Abraham Lincoln has been brought to light in the form of a long lost letter which the martyred president wrote to General Daniel Hunter in 1861.

General Hunter was in command of the department of Kansas at the time this particular letter was written. It seems he considered himself dishonored by an appointment to the rather obscure military post, and he wrote to the president protesting against it. Lincoln's characteristic reply was as fol-

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Dec. 31, 1861.

Major General Hunter:
DEAR SIR—Yours of the 22d is received, and I am constrained to say it is difficult to answer I am constrained to say it is difficult to answer so ugly a letter in good temper. I am, as you intimate, losing much of the great confidence I placed in you, not from any act or commission of yours touching the public service up to the time you were sent to Leavenworth, but from the flood of grumbling dispatches and letters I have seen from you since. I knew you were being ordered to Leavenworth at the time it was done, and I aver that, with as tender a regard for your honor and your sensider a regard for your honor and your sensi-bilities as I had for my own, it never occurred to me that you were being "humiliated, in sulted and disgraced," nor have I up to this day heard any intimation that you have been wronged coming from any one but yourself. No one has blamed you for the retrograde No one has blained you for the retrograde movement from Springfield, nor for the infor mation you gave General Cameron, and this you could readily understand if it were not for your unwarranted assumption that the or dering to Leavenworth must necessarily have dering to Leavenworth mast necessarily have been done as a punishment for some fault. I thought then, and I think yet, the position as signed to you is as responsible and as honor-able as that assigned to Buell—I know that General McClellan expected more important results from it. My impression is that at the time you were assigned to the new western department it had not been determined to re-place General Sterman in Kentinetz but of place General Sherman in Kentucky, but of this I am not certain, because the idea that a command in Kentucky was very desirable, and one in the farther west undesirable, had never occurred to me. You constantly speak of be ing placed in command of only 3,000. Now, tell me, is not this mere impatience? Have you not known all the while that you are to command four or five times that many?

I have been and am sincerely your friend, and if as such I dare to make a suggestion I would say you are adopting the best possible way to ruin yourself. "Act well your part There all the honor lies." He who does some thing at the head of one regiment will eclipse him who does nothing at the head of 100. Your friend as ever, A. Lincoln.

Nothing could have been better calculated to allay the feelings of personal wrong which must have possessed Hunter at the time. That he thought so himself is shown by the following words, written by the dissatisfied gen eral on the big yellow envelope in which the letter had been sent;

"The president's reply to my 'ugly letter.' This lay on his table a month after it was written, and when finally sent was by a special conveyance, with

A Novel Bridge at Rouen.

This novel engineering work is called a "pont transbordeur" and is designed to fulfill all the purposes of a bridge, while it will effer no obstruction to the passage of ships with towering masts. On each side of the river will be erected a small Eiffel tower, about 170 feet in height, and these towers will be joined at the top by a latticework bridge upon which lines of rails will be laid. On these rails will run a skeleton platform, which can be pulled from side to side by the agency of steam or electricity. From this platform, which will be 160 feet above the quays, will depend steel wire ropes, which will support at the level of the river banks a slung carriage
