There was quite a little excitement around the Weinhard building Saturday afternoon, when a 6,000 pound safe came crashing down the stairway. The big safe that has done duty in the land office for a number of years, was being removed to the new quarters, and when it was hauled nearly to the top of the stairway, one of the chains attached to the pulleys broke and the safe tumbled down into the street, breaking the wooden stairway in several places and cutting a hole in the cement sidewalk. No one was hurt except Clark Greenman, who received several bruises, the one on his neck being quite severe, caused by a rope that was attached to the safe getting around his neck, taking him along down stairs with the safe, burning the skin off his neck. He had a narrow escape.

Company F Responded To Their Country's Call.

Company F left for the front Saturday afternoon and their leave taking aroused the spirit of patriotism of man, woman and child, and business for most of the day was practically suspended, and citizens from the surrounding country came early in the day to see the boys away. There were 10,000 people to see the boys away.

The Women's Relief Corps prepared a dinner at noon in Willamette hall, to which the boys were invited. The hall was handsomely decorated with flags and bunting for the occasion. After dinner they assembled at the armory and prepared for their departure. On their route to the train they halted at the steps of the Methodist church, when Commander E. W. Midam, of the G. A. R. introduced Mrs. Clouse, president of W. R. O., who in a few appropriate remarks presented in behalf of the citizens of Oregon City, a beautiful silk flag, which was received by Capt. L. L. Pickett, and responded to by First Sergeant J. U. Campbell, who said "We may go to war and die, but we will never forget the flag." The scene was enhanced by the very martial strains from the Osceola band, which kindly volunteered for the occasion.

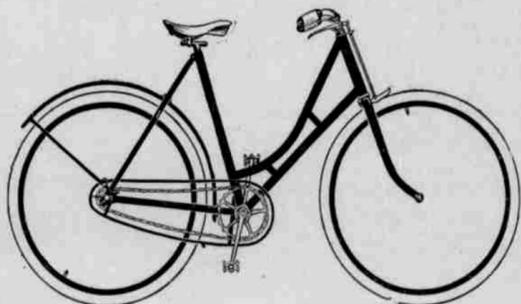

At the depot there was a grand hand-shaking and leave taking, after which the company boarded the car amid cheering and waving of handkerchiefs and all joined in wishing them God speed and safe return. They proceeded to join the regiment at Camp McKinley to await for further orders.

Lutheran Conference

A conference of the Oregon District of the Lutheran synod of the Lutheran Zion church closed at a two days' session at the local church in this city Thursday night. The following ministers were in attendance: Rev. Schenburger of Macksburg, president of the conference; Rev. C. Schmitt, of Sepperson; Rev. Kern, of La Cunas, Wash.; Rev. Nicolai, of Astoria; Rev. Boehmer of Tillamook; Rev. Vierka, of San Jose, Calif.; Rev. W. Brenner, of Oregon City. The lay delegates were Mr. Nordhausen and Mr. Krueber, of Macksburg, and Mr. Michel, of La Cunas, Wash. The conference proved a very interesting one, and encouraging reports were received from the various sections of the district.

A debate between George C. Brownell and W. S. U'Ren, republican and union candidates, respectively, for state senator, was held in Weinhard's hall Saturday evening. The hall was crowded. Brownell, opened by referring to the populists and their failure to take the oath of office. U'Ren justified his failure to qualify by referring to the reduction in the state tax. If populists, he said, had aided in organization, it would have put the Benson "rump" house in control, and from it no reform measures could be effected.
