A dispatch to the London Daily News from Gibraltar tells a long story of a pseudo wealthy Mexican who was honored for six weeks at Madrid and Cadiz, dined with Admiral Camara, inspected the fleet and defenses, and in every way won the confidence of the officials, only to disappear the moment a warrant was issued for his arrest. The robbers blew open the express car door with dynamite and also blew the safe open. The car was completely demolished. The amount secured is not known. No one was hurt in the explosion.

FOR PORTO RICO

The Vanguard of the American Army Has Sailed.

MILES STARTS FROM SIBONEY

He Is on the Yale With Four Batteries of Artillery—Landing Place Not Announced—An Overwhelming Force Will Be Sent to the Island.

Washington, July 20.—After three days' consultation between Secretary Alger and General Brooke, during which there was frequent communication with General Miles at Siboney, the details of the Porto Rican expedition were perfected and the expedition itself gotten under way. General Miles, with four batteries of artillery and some troops, sailed today for Porto Rico on the Yale, to be followed quickly by an army of about 30,000 men.

There are some notable differences between the plans for this expedition and those for the lately naval pageant that sailed away from Tampa under General Shafter's command to attack Santiago. First, there will be practically no naval convoy. The navy department has declared that it is unnecessary; that there is not a Spanish warship in the West Indies that dare thrust its bow out of port. In the second place, the expedition will not start from one point, but will be divided among several ports, thus preventing the tremendous congestion that was encountered at Tampa in the effort to start the big fleet. Lastly, there will be no effort made to get the ships away together, but the transports will be allowed to find their own way to their destination.

General Miles leads the way. He had been promised by the president that he should go to Porto Rico and the promise was redeemed when the Yale headed today from Siboney for Porto Rico, 800 miles distant.

General Brooke will be senior officer in General Miles' command, and upon him will fall the responsibility for the execution of the details of his superior's plans.

General Miles will hoist the American flag at once over Porto Rican soil. The point chosen for his landing is kept secret, as the general will land before the full body of the expedition is at hand, and it is consequently not desirable that the Spaniards should be enabled to collect a superior force to meet him.

The distance from Charleston, where the first body of troops for Miles' expedition was to start today, is more than double the distance from Santiago to Porto Rico, so that the transports which sail from the former city can scarcely join General Miles before the early part of next week. These Charleston troops are to be the First army corps and are commanded by Brigadier-General George H. Ernst. The brigade comprises the Second Wisconsin, Third Wisconsin and Sixteenth Pennsylvania regiments.

The purpose of Secretary Alger is to make the Porto Rican campaign a short one. An overwhelming force will be thrown upon the island, and it is possible that a bloodless victory will be achieved when the Spaniards become convinced that they have no reasonable chance to resist successfully. The expedition is to comprise 30,000 men at the start, and it will be swelled soon to 40,000 men, and, if necessary, to 70,000 men, the equipment of the volunteer forces having now progressed so well as to warrant the statement that that number of men can be ready for service in Porto Rico within a very short time. The entire body of troops at Tampa will be taken, numbering about 13,000 men, and including a lot of heavy and light artillery under command of General Rodgers.

Augustin Refuses to Surrender Manila—Important Conference Held.

Manila, via Hong Kong, July 20.—An important interview has just been held between General Aguinaldo's secretary, Legarda, and a prominent native white man, and the Spanish commander, Captain-General Augustin, to surrender the city. Legarda asserted that 50,000 insurgents surround Manila, and are able to enter it at any moment. Thus far, he added, the insurgents would be restrained with difficulty, but if the Spaniards continue stubborn, the result would be that the insurgents would be compelled to bombard and storm the city, with inevitable slaughter unparalleled in history, because in the excitement of battle they cannot discriminate.

Continuing, the captain-general's visitors advised him to disregard the official fictions regarding Spanish victories in Cuba and reinforcements coming to the Philippine islands, and proposed a reconciliation between the insurgents and the Spaniards in the Philippine islands under a republican flag, and a joint endeavor to persuade the Americans to abandon hostilities in the islands.

Finally, the representatives of the insurgents proposed an appeal to the powers to recognize the independence of the Philippine islands.

The natives inside say they received a fortnight ago a concerted signal to ships, climate and fevers, and are entitled to rest; second, it is deemed to be very bad practice to allow the soldiers who have been exposed to yellow fever to be brought in contact with those fresh from the United States. There is also another reason, a purely military one. Ten thousand Spanish troops are at Holguin, Manzanillo and other points within striking distance of Santiago, and might not lose an opportunity to recover the ground lost at Santiago if the place were left insufficiently protected. Therefore, Shafter's entire army is to be on guard on the high hills in the rear of the town until the men have stamped out the yellow fever. Then they will take a turn at the Spaniards, if they can be found and it may be that Shafter's march will end at Havana. He will work as far from his base as possible after his army is thoroughly refreshed, hunting the enemy wherever they are liable to be found.

LAWS FOR SANTIAGO.

President Issues a Proclamation to the People.

Washington, July 20.—A state paper that will be historic, marking an epoch in American history, was issued tonight by direction of President McKinley. It provides in general terms for the government of the province of Santiago de Cuba, and is the first document of the kind ever prepared by a president of the United States. By order of Secretary Alger, Adjutant-General Corbin tonight sent the document to General Shafter, in command of the military forces at Santiago. The paper is not only an authorization and instruction to General Shafter for the government of the captured territory, but also a proclamation to the people of the territory of the intentions of the government of the United States regarding them and their interests. It marks the formal establishment of a new political power in the island of Cuba, and insures to the people of the territory over which the power extends absolute security in the exercise of their private rights and relations, as well as security to their persons and property.

The rebellion, he added, was not yet suppressed, and reliable information on the subject could not be obtained.

AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Spanish Troops Laid Down Their Arms—City Sacked by the Enemy—General McKibben Has Been Appointed Temporary Military Governor.

Santiago de Cuba, July 19.—Amid impressive ceremonies, the Spanish troops laid down their arms between the lines of the Spanish and American forces at 9 o'clock this morning.

General Shafter and the American division and brigade commanders and their staffs were escorted by a troop of cavalry and General Toral and his staff by 100 picked men.

Trumpeters on both sides saluted with flourishes.

General Shafter returned to General Toral the latter's sword after it had been handed to the American commander.

Our troops, lined up at the trenches, were eye witnesses of the ceremony. General Shafter and his escort, accompanied by General Toral, rode through the city taking formal possession. The city had been sacked by the Spaniards before they arrived.

General McKibben has been appointed temporary military governor.

The ceremony of hoisting the Stars and Stripes was worth all the blood and treasure it cost. A vast concourse of 10,000 people witnessed the stirring and thrilling scene that will live forever in the minds of all the Americans present. A finer stage setting for a dramatic episode it would be difficult to imagine. The palace, a picturesque old dwelling in the Moorish style of architecture, faces the Plaza de la Reina, the principal public square. Opposite rises the imposing Catholic cathedral. On one side is a quaint, brilliantly painted building with broad verandas, the club of San Carlos; on the other a building of the same description, the Cafe de la Venus.

Across the plaza was drawn up the Ninth infantry, headed by the Sixth cavalry band. In the street facing the palace stood a picked troop of the Second cavalry with drawn sabers, under command of Captain Brett. Massed on the stone flagging between the band and line of horsemen were the brigade commanders of General Shafter's division with their staffs. On the red-tiled roof of the palace stood Captain McKittrick, Lieutenant Miley and Lieutenant Wheeler. Immediately above them on the flagstaff was the illuminated Spanish arms and the legend "Viva Alfonso XIII."

All about, pressing against the veranda rails, crowding the windows and doors and lining the roofs were the people of the town (the women and non-combatants).

As the chimes of the old cathedral rang the hour of 12, the infantry and cavalry presented arms. Every American uncovered, and Captain McKittrick hoisted the Stars and Stripes.

As the brilliant folds unfurled in a gentle breeze against the fleecy sky, the cavalry band broke into the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner," making the American pulse leap and the American heart thrill with joy.

At the same instant, the sound of the distant booming of Captain Capron's battery, firing a salute of 21 guns, drifted in. When the music ceased, from all directions around on line came floating across the plaza the strains of the regimental bands and the muffled, hoarse cheers of our troops.

The infantry came to "order arms" a moment later, after the flag was up and the band played "Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys." Instantly, General McKibben called for three cheers for General Shafter, which were given with great enthusiasm, the band playing Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes forever."

The ceremony over, General Shafter and his staff returned to the American lines, leaving the city in the possession of the municipal authorities, subject to the control of General McKibben.

The Thirteenth and Ninth regiments of infantry will remain in the city to enforce order and exercise municipal authority.

The Spanish forces are to encamp outside of our lines. The work of loading the Spanish prisoners on transports preparatory to sending them back to Spain will be commenced as soon as ships are provided.
