DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Newest Steam Engine.

The Parsons turbine, which is the latest thing in steam engines, is threatening to render obsolete the ordinary marine engine, says the London Daily Mail. In the new destroyer Viper, which is building by the Parsons Company, a speed of not less than 38 knots, or some 43 miles an hour, is anticipated. That is as fast as most Continental and many English expresses. It is only five years ago that a speed of 26 knots in destroyers was considered something phenomenal. So that in five years the gain in speed has been no less than 12 knots, a record which we venture to think has never been equaled for a like period. It took us 30 years to rise from 14 knots to 26.

A Famous Skull.

A recent gift to the Peabody Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology of the famous "Calaveras skull" reawakens interest in that remarkable relic of antique man. The skull was found in 1866 imbedded in gold-bearing gravel in Calaveras county, California, at a depth of 127 feet. Above it were four beds of lava that had flowed from a now extinct volcanic vent. The late Prof. J. D. Whitney (whose sister, Miss Maria Whitney, made the gift to the museum) was convinced of the genuineness of the discovery. The owner of the skull is supposed to have lived in the Pliocene epoch, a period so remote that the most ancient dates of history seem quite recent in comparison.

SWALLOWED A NEEDLE AND DIED.

A tailor in Chicago accidentally swallowed a needle and died as a result of the inflammation set up by the small needle. Little things frequently have great power, as is seen in a few small doses of the famous Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, however, has an entirely different effect from the needle in this notice. The Bitters make nervous, weak and sickly persons strong and well again. They are also good for dyspepsia and constipation.

YOUNG AT SIXTY.

Serene comfort and happiness in advanced years are realized by comparatively few women.

Their hard lives, their liability to serious troubles on account of their peculiar organism and their profound ignorance concerning themselves, all combine to shorten the period of usefulness and fill their later years with suffering.

Mrs. Pinkham has done much to make women strong. She has given advice to many that has shown them how to guard against disease and retain vigorous health in old age. From every corner of the earth there is constantly coming the most convincing statements from women, showing the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming female ills. Here is a letter from Mrs. J. C. Orms, of 220 Horner St., Johnston, Pa., which is earliest and straight to the point:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM.—I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women that I think your remedies are wonderful. I had trouble with my head, dizzy spells and not fashes. Feet and hands were cold, was very nervous, could not sleep well, had kidney trouble, pain in ovaries and congestion of the womb. Since taking your remedies I am better every way. My head trouble is all gone, have no pain in ovaries, and am cured of womb trouble. I can eat and sleep well and am gaining in flesh. I consider your medicine the best to be had for female troubles."

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled, for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometime past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women during a single year.

DR. WHITE TALKS.

He Sounds a Note of Warning That Should Be Heeded by All.

One of the points where science reaches us that what is might have been avoided, is in the matter of irregular teeth. "A great percentage of the irregular teeth we see," says Dr. Thomas H. White, at the northeast corner of Morrison and Fourth streets, "is caused by the lack of proper care of the infant teeth. When we come to consider the great number of teeth in malposition, the subject of the care of the first teeth assumes new importance to us." In discussing this matter with a representative of the press, recently, he said among other things: "Mothers cannot be too careful in their consideration of the condition and character of the first teeth of their children. The object of this is not to allow the decay of the first teeth to proceed so far that they become ulcerated or abscess form at their roots, in which case extraction is the only solution of the trouble. The first teeth should be retained until nature is ready to supplant them with other teeth. This can be accomplished by the temporary filling of cavities so that the teeth may be depended upon in the mastication of food. The very exercise of the teeth, as with any other organ of the body, will aid in keeping them in a healthy condition. Every part of the body has a function to perform, and should be maintained in a healthy condition to accomplish it if possible. Every tooth, therefore, that is extracted interferes to a certain degree with the preparatory process of digestion. Of course, it is not to the interest of the dentist to have teeth taken care of too well."

THE RUSH OF THE OREGON.

They held her south to Magellan's mouth Then east they steered her, forth Through the further gate of the crafty strait, And then they held her north.

Six thousand miles to the Indian Isles! And the Oregon rushed home, Her wake a swirl of jade and pearl, Her bow a bend of foam.

And when at Rio the cable sang "There's war, grim war with Spain!" The swart crews grinned, and stroked their guns, And thought on the mangled Malne.

In the glimmered gloom of the engine room There was joy to each grimy soul, And fainting men sprang up again And heaped the blazing coal.

Good need was there to go with care; But every sailor prayed Or gun for gun or six to one To meet them, unafraid.

Her goal at last! With joyous blast She hailed the welcoming roar Of hungry sea-wolves curved along The strong-billed Cuban shore.

Long nights went by. Her beamed eye Unwavering searched the bay Where, trapped and penned for a certain end, The Spanish squadron lay.

Out of the harbor a curl of smoke— And a watchful gun rang clear. Out of the channel the squadron broke Like a bevy of frightened deer.

Then there was shouting for "steam, more steam!" And fires glowed white and red, And guns were manned and ranges planned, And the great ships leaped ahead.

Then there was roaring of chorusing guns, Shatter of shell and spray, And who but the rushing Oregon Was foremost in chase and fray?

For her mighty wake was a seething snake; Her bow was a billow of foam; Like the mailed fist of an angry wight Her shot drove crashing home.

Pride of the Spanish navy, ho! Flee like a bounded beast! For the ship of the Northwest strikes a blow For the ship of the far Northeast!

In quivering joy she surged ahead Adrift with flashing bars, Till down sunk the Spaniard's gold and red And up ran the clustered stars.

Deperate dash and daring rash Are grand in peace and war, But the calm, deep hate that can plan and wait Is deadliest by far.

Glory to share? Aye, and to spare; But the chiefest is hers by right Of a rush of 14,000 miles! For the chance of a bitter fight.

SITS UP IN HIS GRAVE.

Willard Aldrich Has His Coffin Made in an "L."

William Aldrich, an eccentric bachelor who died at Mishawaka, Ind., recently, ordered his own coffin built previous to his death, and the casket was constructed in the shape of an "L," with the perpendicular line at a slight angle. Aldrich resided in Berrien County, Michigan, where he was one of the wealthy land owners and quite prominent as a Spiritualist. Being stricken with consumption, he went to his mother's home to die.

When the queer casket was built he had it taken to his home to test it, gave the undertaker instructions as to glass front, hinges and inscriptions. At the funeral the coffin could not be placed in the funeral car, hence several crews of pallbearers were secured to relieve each other. The reclining coffin was placed in a large vault, covered with a monster slab. His mother was instructed to have a similar casket built, that "he might converse with her and
