

How are the children this summer?
Are they doing well? Do they get all the benefit they should from their food? Are their cheeks and lips of good color? And are they hearty and robust in every way?

If not, then give them Scott's Emulsion of cod liver oil with hypophosphites.

It never fails to build up delicate boys and girls. It gives them more flesh and better blood.

It is just so with the baby also. A little Scott's Emulsion, three or four times a day, will make the thin baby plump and prosperous. It furnishes the young body with just the material necessary for growing bones and nerves.

DR. KESSLER

Parliamentary Honor.

The London World gives this as an illustration of the keen humor of Justice Darling: On one occasion, when Mr. Gladstone was beginning to give up the lead in the house of commons to Sir William Harcourt, it was noticed by the members that he left the house at the dinner hour and Sir William Harcourt led for the rest of the sitting. Mr. Darling one evening drove Sir William to fury, on failing to exhibit a definite answer to an inquiry, by casually observing in the course of his speech, "I have noticed that lately the party opposite, adopting an ancient precedent, has set up a greater light to rule the day and a lesser light to rule the night."

A Movable Code.

"Other time, other manner," remarked the man in the big leather armchair, "ought to be amended to read 'Other countries, other manners.' Not long ago I went back to the small country town of my boyhood to make a short visit, and while there the whole town was set agog by the appearance of a highly interesting foreigner—a Hungarian of noble birth. No, he wasn't a barber in disguise. He was a genuine titled Hungarian. One of the clever, pretty girls in Smalltown had gone abroad to study music and had there met and made a serious impression on this Hungarian gentleman, who had crossed the water to make her a visit. He held a military position in his own country, and the tails of his military coat, lined with a brilliant red, nearly prostrated the entire community.

"One Sunday morning he accompanied the young lady to church, and of course Smalltown was out in full force to get a good look at him. Certainly his church department differed widely from anything ever witnessed in this country. He was seated in the pew with the young woman when her father came down the aisle. As the father entered the pew the tall Hungarian arose, placed his hand across his breast and bent double in a ceremonious bow, then seated himself, the red coat tails being much in evidence during the salute. When the girl's mother entered a few minutes later, the same formal reception bow was made to her. As a rule, Americans do not rise and make sweeping bows in church; but, as is evident, such is the Hungarian fashion, and Smalltown was naturally much interested and agitated over this unusual display of foreign manner."—Detroit Free Press.

Leighton's "Cimabue."

In describing a visit paid to the late Lord Leighton, Mrs. Tooley said that the artist on that occasion referred to the success of his first picture of note, "Cimabue," and to the fact, which evidently still pained him, that his next picture, "Orpheus," was greatly ridiculed.

"Where is the picture now?" he was asked.

"Don't I wish I knew!" he replied. "It would be worth a fortune to me at the present time." And that was all the reference he made to it.

The curious part of the incident, however, lies in the fact that after his death the canvas of this very picture was discovered rolled up and thrown away in the coal cellar—Strand Magazine.

Rescued.

"That escaped criminal seems to have had rather the best of it," remarked the talkative friend.

"Not at all," replied the detective, drawing himself up haughtily. "We've got him so frightened he doesn't dare show his face where we are." Washington Star.

He Passed Out.

"I won't submit to being turned away," said the disappointed arrival at the hotel. "See here—I'm fish!" And he displayed a roll of bills.

"I know," responded the clerk, "but I've got a full house."—Philadelphia North American.

It is just as important

That you enrich and purify your blood in the Fall as in the Spring. At this time, owing to decaying vegetation, a low water level, and other causes, there are disease germs all about us, and a weak and debilitated system quickly yields to attacks of malaria, fevers, etc. By purifying and enriching your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla you may build up your system to resist those dangers, as coughs, colds, pneumonia and the grip which comes with colder weather. To be on the safe side, take Hood's Sarsaparilla now, and always be sure it is Hood's and not something else presented to be "just as good."

Visitors to the Oregon Exposition at Portland could increase the pleasure of their trip by extending it to Clatsop Beach and the Seaside, via the New Astoria and Columbia Railroad, whose summer schedule of rates remain in effect during September, good until October 10th. The Portland agent is A. D. Charlton, 255 Morrison Street.

If you have been sick you will find Hood's Sarsaparilla the best medicine you can take to give you appetite and strength.

Mrs. Sladen & Miss Edith Wishart, Milliners.

Our Millinery Department is now fitted up very carefully and we invite everybody to come and see us. We are constantly getting in new goods, and can furnish anybody with a suitable hat or bonnet up to date and fashionable.

Remarkable Cure.

Mrs. Michael Routsin, Plainfield Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested she bought a bottle of King's New Discovery for consumption and she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after using 6 bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Charman & Co's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c per bottle at Charman & Co's drug store.
