Teachers' Meeting.
The first meeting of the Clackamas County Educational Association since the summer vacation was held at Damascus last Saturday. In the absence of Superintendent Strange, Vice-President T. J. Gary presided.

The gathering proved to be both a pleasant and profitable one, and a number of interesting discussions were held. H. M. Stalaker made an excellent talk on school management.

In the absence of Miss Emma Starcher, of Clackamas, who was to have led in the discussion of "Composition," the subject was ably handled by Miss Ella Boehlke, H. S. Gibson, Mrs. L. M. Hedges and others.

N. W. Bowland, of Harmony, gave a splendid dissertation on "History for Beginners."

A. C. Strange, of Orient, made an excellent talk on "Civil Government."

The residents of Damascus and vicinity gave the visiting teachers a splendid basket dinner, which was duly appreciated.

H. Lee, of South Mount Tabor, was a visitor at the meeting, and made some appropriate remarks.

It was voted to hold the next meeting at Carus on the fourth Monday in October.

Prof. Gibson took out a wagon-load of Oregon City teachers, consisting of Misses Kate Porter, Jennie Rowen, Ella Boehlke, Lizzie MacDonald, Lizzie Shipley, and Prof. T. J. Gary.

Miss Eula Strange is the capable teacher of the Damascus school and the board of directors is J. H. Boring, Chris Wedele, William Buchman and F. M. Osburn, clerk.
