Weighing Things

The value of our groceries depends on three things: How much you get for your money; how good it is when you get it; and the price you pay for what you get. We have sugars that are cheap and sugars that are good. We have coffees that will satisfy the appetite and the pocketbook. Staple goods at less than staple prices. We give you money-saving health-saving chances.

There will, at least, be 500 prominent newspaper men present from every state in the union, and a part of the program is to have them visit Oregon City. The Oregon City members of the state association, are appointed a committee to see that the national association is provided with a substantial dinner when they come to this city. Of course, they pay for what they get, but should be treated with all the hospitable consideration, that can be mustered out. Mr. Tozier has a plan that will advertise both Portland and Oregon City almost a year in advance of the great gathering of noted journalists. It is to furnish Eastern papers with cuts of our scenery, manufacturing enterprises, etc., which could be gotten up very cheaply.
