Charles J. Dwyer, aged 71, and a Grand Army veteran, died at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland Monday. He was a member of Meade Post, G. A. R., who attended the funeral here in a body. Father Hillebrand conducted the funeral services from the Catholic church. The deceased was a native of Ireland, and an Oregon pioneer, having carried on the painting business here about 40 years ago.

Yesterday morning, Fred Olson fell to the bottom of a well on Clarence Jackson's place on the West Side, and sustained severe injuries. Olson had been cleaning out the well, and the attendants were drawing him up with a windlass. When he was within a foot or two of the top, the ropes became misplaced, and was thrown to the bottom, crushing one foot into a shapeless mass, and receiving other bruises. The foot will probably necessitate amputation.

A Magnificent Road. Dan Lyons, who had the contract of building the Singer Hill road, has completed his contract, and the road was thrown open to the public last Friday. Many people pronounce this the greatest improvement in Oregon City since the suspension bridge was built. There is an easy uniform grade for the entire length of the roadway, and as a driveway it is destined to become popular. The roadbed has been given a coating of crushed rock and packed with a heavy roller until it is almost like a floor. Mr. Lyons' work on the Singer hill road is universally commended, as is an indication that it pays to have a reliable contractor do road work. He removed a lot of rock and did some extra work not required in the contract.

Our Soldier Boys. Meade Auxiliary will give a ball on November 4th, for the benefit of our soldier boys in Manila. The proceeds will be used for a "Christmas box" for the boys. First-class music will be furnished, and light refreshments served during the evening. Tickets, $1. Refreshments, 15 cents. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and help make this a success.

A Delightful Entertainment. A very interesting stereopticon and musical entertainment was given at the Congregational church Friday evening by the Y. P. S. C. E. and the Sunday school. Dr. T. W. Butler manipulated the interesting stereopticon views, which was followed by the musical program. Vocal solos were sang by Mrs. J. W. Gray and Mrs. J. Roake, followed with selections by the following quartettes; Misses Ivy Roake and Echo Samson and Messrs. Herbert Chase and Chester Roake; G. H. Bestow, G. A. Heinz, Lawrence Hornschuch and Chester Roake.

Some interesting tableaux were also presented. The musical numbers were excellent, and heartily enjoyed. After the program pumpkin pies, doughnuts and coffee were served and a pleasant social time was the order. The attendance was very good.
