The senate spent most of the day Friday in committee of the whole considering the general appropriation bill, which was transmitted from the house the first thing in the morning. The committee did not finish its work until late in the evening, and its report was ratified in a hurry by the senate and the bill passed on so that the house could consider the senate amendments, which cut the total bill down by about $45,000.

The bill was agreed to as it came from the committee, allowing pay for only five days for the members of the house that failed to organize. The house had amended the bill so as to allow pay for the full 40 days, raising the appropriation from $31,000 to $38,000.

The expense claim of the board of equalization was reduced from $7,750 to $4,450, and the Ashland normal school appropriation of $15,000 and the item of $1,080 for repair of the capitol building were stricken out.

Proceedings in Detail. Brownell offered an amendment to the resolution offered by him yesterday in reference to Secretary of State Kin-caid's biennial report and providing for the printing of 500 copies of the same for himself, after eliminating all but the history contained therein. It was

The committee on revision of laws reported upon the message of the gov-ernor on his appointments for the past two years, ratifying all except that of J. P. Robertson as trustee of the Oregon Soldiers' Home. The report was adopted.

By consent Brownell called up Williamson's bill facilitating the settlement of estates, which was passed. The special committee on state printing reported on an exhaustive investigation of the conditon of the department. The report was adopted.

The house concurrent resolution appropriating $500 to George T. Meyers for services rendered on the Oregon commission at the world's fair was Courtesies of the senate were extended to Hon. N. L. Butler, of Polk county. The senate spent the entire night session in the consideration of the general appropriation bill. In the afternoon the claim of Captain John Mullan and Indian war claims for the state, was knocked out. The claim of F. V. Drake for $340.93 for legal services for the secretary of state was also stricken out, and the claim of John Hall for $6,698.09 for legal services in recovering taxes was reduced to $500. Senator Simon was the principal objector to these claims. W. T. Wright's claim for $25,000 went through, but not without a struggle, Fulton, Smith and Taylor advocating the justice of the claim, and Haynes, Kelley, Driver and Selling leading the opposition.

In the House.

The feature of the proceedings in the house Friday morning was the indefinited postponement of Senator Mackay's pilotage bill. The bill had been made a special order of business for 10:30, and when the hour arrived a flood of oratory was turned loose in opposition to its passage. A motion to indefinitely postpone was carried by a vote of 27 to 24; absentees, 9.

Curtis offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the secretary of state to draw a warrant in the sum of $500 in favor of George T. Myers, as a testimonial for his services as world's fair commissioner. The testimonial was authorized by the legislature of

The committee on elections, having under investigation the contested seats from Clackamas and Polk counties, was given until next session to report.

The committee on investigating the affairs of the insane asylum also asked for and was granted an extension of time to report until the next regular session.

The senate bill fixing the time of holding court in the sixth judicial district was passed.

A joint senate memorial petitioning congress to grant pensions to survivors of the Cayuse wars was concurred in. A message was received from the governor announcing the signing of the bill amending the charter of Sodaville, and Whalley's bill regulating loan so-

The house held but a short session in the afternoon, and although several bills came up, only one was passed. Senator Mulkey's bill incorporating the town of Monmouth, having been reported back favorably by the Polk county delegation, was passed without opposition.

Senator Michell's bill to protect hotel and boarding-house keepers, after being buffeted about for a time with motions to place it on final passage, postpone indefinitely, etc., was finally referred to the committee on penal, reformatory and charitable institutions.

Resolutions were adopted favoring the drawing of a warrant in favor of Ella R. Hays, widow of R. R. Hays, deceased, clerk of the Benson house, for services, and providing for the pay of committee clerks who served before they were sworn in.

A resolution was introduced requiring members, when the legislature adjourns, to leave the desks and chairs for the use of the next session, but a vote was not insisted upon. The house bills reported back favorably by the committee to which they had been referred were: Massingill's bill to prevent expiration of taxes by limitation, and the bills of Bayer and Ross amending Hill's code. Stillman's bill, providing for the keeping up of upper berths of sleeping cars when only the lower births are occupied, was reported on adversely. An adverse report was also rendered on Flagg's bill providing for the consolidation of the schools for the deaf and blind, with the recommendation.

The Appropriation Bill Passed, But a Conference Was Necessary to Settle Differences.

The special session of the Oregon legislature came to an end Saturday evening at 6:80 o'clock. The general appropriation bill was the subject of sharp contention, and for a time the prospect seemed good for a deadlock upon it. At this stage a conference committee was agreed upon, and it took up the matter of harmonizing the differences so as to be acceptable to the two houses. After more than an hour of hard work the committee reported and the report was adopted in both houses without debate or question. By the amendments of the conference committee, $3,310 were added to the appropriations in sundry small items, concerning which there was no dispute, and $32,237.75 was stricken out, leaving the total of the bill about $1,222,-000. This is about $100,000 less than the appropriation bill passed in 1895, and there is included in it a large amount of interest and all the expenses of the attempted session of 1897, including full pay for the members. One section was added to the bill directing that the state printer should not hereafter print for the agricultural societies, etc., to an extent that would cost more than the appropriations should previously have been made for the purpose-

After the senate had concurred in the house resolution to publish and distribute 1,000 copies of the fish and game laws of the state, President Joseph Simon tendered his formal resignation as presiding officer, which was accepted.

T. C. Taylor was elected to fill the vacancy.

A resolution was offered to make the present staff of the senate permanent, but it was defeated.

The house bill providing for a sugarbeet bounty in the state was called up by Senator Smith, read the first time by title, and upon motion of Reed indefinitely postponed.

The house bill relating to the boundaries of Wallows and Union counties

House concurrent resolution No. 22 providing for an extension of time for the joint committee to expert the penitentiary books and accounts to the regular session, was next taken up. A substitute was offered by Fulton, barring any work or expense between sessions on the part of this or any committee unless authorized ; carried.

The Curtis sturgeon protection bill was next taken up and passed.

The senate concurrent resolution by Mulkey, providing that a committee be appointed to examine the books of the state secretary, state treasurer and insane asylum, be continued to the regular session, without expense between sessions, was adopted.

The Salem charter bill was taken up, and, after some discussion, passed. The committee on municipal corpo rations reported back the house bill regulating the manner of constructing openings of public buildings, with a penal amendment. The amendment was adopted, the bill read a third time and passed.

The committee on education reported Topping's house bill, providing for disposition of teachers' examinations, with amendments, and the same was adopt-

A resolution was passed extending the thanks of the senate to Senator Taylor for his efficient service as chairman of the ways and means committee,

The senate took a recess till 6:15, awaiting the return of the governor to sign the general appropriation bill, and at 6:20 adjourned sine die, be house, after passing a number of resolutions, put in two hours Saturday morning in consideration of senate amendments to the appropriation bill,

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the secretary of state to have published 1,000 copies of the state fish laws for the benefit of fishermen, and recommending the continuance in office at the next session of all the officers of the

The senate amendment to Stanley's bill providing for reimbursement of contributors to the Omaha exposition fund reducing the appropriation from $18,000 to $15,000 was adopted.

After the noon recess another recess of two hours was taken to give the conference committee on the appropriation bill time to report.

The appropriation for the cost of the last legislature caused over an hour's discussion in the conference committee.

The amendment reducing the claim for salaries and expenses of the board of railroad commissioners from $21,-052.87 to $18,000 was concurred in, after amending by adding $900. The amendment striking out the $15,000 appropriation for the Ashland normal school was not concurred in nor the amendment reducing the claim of John

The amendment striking out the claim of Captain John Mullan of $10,-540.86 for the purpose of giving the special committee an opportunity to investigate and report at the next session was concurred in.

When received the report was adopted without discussion.

The senate reported back as passed with amendments the house bill requiring the doors of public buildings to open outward and Topping's bill for the disposition of teachers' examination papers, also amended. A penalty was attached to the former bill, and the time in which examination papers shall be destroyed after examinations in the latter bill was extended from one to three years. Both amendments were adopted. The house did not adjourn till nearly 6 o'clock.

WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

Bills Passed by the Legislature in

The main objects of the session were accomplished—the election of a United states senator, the passage of the general appropriation bill, and the abolition of expensive commissions and boards. The board of railroad commissioners, the equalization board, and the dairy and food commissioner, were dropped, all of the laws carrying the emergency clause. That clause was omitted at first in the case of the two boards, but the omission was speedily rectified.

The following measures have passed
