PLEASE PAY UP

The season of the year has arrived when the proprietor of a newspaper naturally expects to receive some compensation for his labors. The amounts due us from subscribers are individually small but taken in the aggregate they amount to quite a large sum. During these hard times it takes all one's energies to keep a paper afloat. Please try to send us a dollar or two on account, or if you are unable to get the dollars and have no one to send or bring that we will allow you market price. If some settlement is not made before November 1st the accounts of those more than two years in arrears will be placed in a collector's hands. Please settle or call and see publisher before that date.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

In consolidating the COURIER and HERALD some errors may have been made in giving subscription credit and we would kindly ask each subscriber to notice the date opposite his name on the paper and if it is not right call and see or write us. The date denotes the time to which you have paid and not the time you subscribed or paid the money.

The gold-bug vote of Maine fell of 30 per cent, Vermont 10 per cent, and Georgia 25 per cent, in recent elections. That's how the silver craze is dying out. Let'er die that way right along!

Hon. JOHN McCULLOCH had four clerks on the enrolling force in the house. The senate enrolling force had twelve clerks—three times as many as the house. And yet the four clerks in the house enrolled nine more bills than the twelve clerks in the senate! The chairman of the enrolling committee in the senate should be ashamed to meet his constituents face to face.

Mr. OGLE, of Clackamas county, is the one honest and conscientious man of the legislature elected in 1896. Having been tendered his mileage and per diem in full for 40 days, he refuses all but mileage and five days' pay, which he correctly says is all that is due him under the constitution. Thus he sacrifices about $80, but he retains a good many times $80 worth of honesty and self-approbation. Mr. Ogle is ranked as a populist, but whatever his politics he is the kind of a man the people should de light to honor.—Welcome.

Mr. W. R. HEARST, editor of the Examiner and Journal, has returned to San Francisco after an absence of some time spent in the Journal office and the war. San Francisco people were so glad to see him that Claus Spreckles immediately had him arrested for criminal libel. Martin Kelley asked the grand jury to indict him for perjury, Grove Johnson will sue for a million dollars damage to his character. A. L. McDonald has sued him for $80,000 for infringing on his Klondike map and ex-Senator Dunne has sued him for $25,000 damages for libel, as a starter. His other friends are expected to show their affection and joy over his coming in as demonstrative a way. In the mean time Hearst will take care of himself.

As a member of the ways and means committee of the state legislature, I am in a position to speak out in meeting. One learns a vast amount of useful information on this committee. I have discovered many leaks of the public treasury that can be stopped. I shall mention a few of these. In the first place, the legislature in 1893 made a contract with the Salem electric light company to light the state capital building for $9,000 a year. Of this amount $7,500 is a steal. Most of the lights are used in the senate and house chambers when the legislature convenes only once in two years, the exorbitance of this steal can be readily seen.—O. J. Curtis in Astoria Herald.

No articles published in years have attracted so much attention as those entitled "Suppressed News from Washington," now running in The New Time, Chicago's aggressive reform magazine. The third installment appears in the November number and declares that the reason President McKinley does not force Alger's resignation is due to the fact that the former appointed all or nearly all of the officials responsible for the scandals now being investigated. The administration papers are indignantly demanding that The New Time be called to account for these articles, but the magazine continues to pour editorial shot and shell into the Washington intrenchments. It is the most interesting and startling matter now being published.

Geo. Ogle Refuses the Salary Grab. U'Ren will Follow the Example

The following is from the Oregonian of October 28:
SALEM, Oct. 27.—George Ogle, of Molalla, Clackamas county, declines to have money legislated in his pocket, regardless of constitutional barriers. He was a member of the legislature of 1897, which met and failed to organize. Upon receipt of notification that the special session voted full pay for 40 days to all members of that legislature, Mr. Ogle writes:

"It is 11 miles from home to Hubbard and 20 from there to Salem; total 31; both ways, 62; at 15 cents per mile, $9.30, which, with $15 salary, makes $24.30, my total and only constitutional claim."
Continuing, he says:
"This 'reform' legislature voted full pay to us all, but I know and you know that they violated their oaths to support the constitution when they did it, and I for one will only accept my constitutional pay."

According to the allowance made by the last legislature, Ogle was entitled to $129.30. Of this amount, he rejects all but $24.30 or $105.

Mr. Ogle is a farmer in moderate circumstances. He is about 29 years old, and was elected in 1896 as a populist to represent Clackamas county in the legislature. The story of the hold-up of the legislature of which he was a member is common history. It was charged that populists as well as other members were influenced by money, and an investigating committee was appointed by the populist party of Clackamas county to inquire into the matter. Arranged before that committee, Mr. Ogle stated that during the legislature hold-up at Salem he paid his own expenses and did not receive a cent, directly or indirectly from any one. Mr. Ogle's refusal to accept this appropriation is the only case so far reported.

George Ogle has done right. The constitution is very clear that if either house fails to organize, for five days after a quorum attends, no member shall receive pay for more than that time until organization is had. It is understood that W. S. U'Ren, as soon as he gets his certificate, will follow Mr. Ogle's example.

THE STOVE WORKS CASE.

According to the Salem Journal some one has been terribly delinquent to the people to allow obligations due the state of Oregon, amounting to $80,000, to pile up against a Portland firm that used state property and employed state prison labor to manufacture and sell stoves. What state official is responsible for this?

The suits now brought to collect notes in the hands of the state treasurer indicate that upon that official devolved the duty of collecting that money. That he as state treasurer, or as a member of the state board charged with that duty, waited all these years and now brings suit against an insolvent company, is not good business for the state.

As a matter of fact, the whole conduct of the state treasury in all respects, so far as protecting the public is concerned, is all of the same piece of cloth it doesn't protect any more than a thickness of cheese-cloth would protect a sea-going battleship. The jolly, jovial, easy going, sociable and smooth state treasurer has no more quality of resistance to the sharp political schemer than a raw young backwoods farmer offers to the greengoods man or bunko steerer on Chatham street, New York, or like the denizen of Whitechapel whose virtue wavers at the first leer that is offered.

There is no justice in the officers of the people allowing a firm like the Northwestern Stove Works to run a bill of $80,000 against the state. No poor man would be allowed to commit such a raid on the treasury. His home would be sold out by the sheriff and he would get no sympathy.

The people need expect no relief in this matter. Like the $33,000 paid the Union county banker for land to which the state can under no possibility get title, the $80,000 loss on the stove works must be pocketed as a fee in the dear school of experience.

The $6,000 attorney fee claimed for alleged services by John Hall, the $10,000 claimed by Mr. Mullan, and the $5,000 to $8,000 fee that will be paid the lawyers for the state treasurer, are all in the line of jobs expedited by public officials of easy virtue.

The Masons and other secret societies of Honolulu have sent a circular to the brethren in this country warning them against being induced to go to Hawaii on the supposition that that country has a fine climate, rich soil, as highly civilized population and large tracts of land only awaiting ownership by the first who come. It states that there is little or no opportunity for employment on the islands for those who are now already there. The demand for skilled labor is but occasional, while the supply of housekeepers, stenographers, clerks, lawyers, doctors, etc., is far more than the demand.

H. S. STRANGE,
Supt. of schools for Clackamas Co.
By G. M. STRANGE, Deputy.

C. A. McMillan, the West Side grocer, got the best of several boys, who tried to play a Halloween joke on him Monday. At a late hour when the inhabitants of Sunset addition were supposed to be sleeping the snore of the righteous, some bold, mischievous boys moved his delivery wagon over the steep embankment below Pusey's house. Mr. McMillan headed the boys off by going around in another direction, but they took to flight. One of them lost his hat, which Mr. McMillan captured, but informed them that whenever the wagon was returned, the hat would be forthcoming. An hour later Mr. McMillan heard a knock on the door, and the speaker announced that the wagon was in its old place.

Barker Hunsley, of Larned, Kansas, was arrested at Vancouver, Wednesday, by the sheriff of Clarke county, on information furnished by Sheriff Cooke. Hunsley was in Oregon City about three weeks ago, and soon after he had gone, Sheriff Cooke received information that he was wanted in Kansas for seducing his two stepdaughters. He informed the sheriff at Vancouver, that he left Kansas, because he was afraid that he would be lynched. Sheriff Cooke received a dispatch yesterday from Kansas to hold the prisoner in Washington as requisition papers would be made out for the prisoner in that state. Sheriff Cooke traced the fugitive from justice to Sellwood, and from there to Vancouver, where he had Sheriff Miller to look out for him and make the arrest.
