phosphites.

A man seldom cries out when hit in the turnoil of battle. It is the same with a horse. Five troopers out of six, when struck by a bullet, are out of their saddles within a minute. If hit in the or foot or arm, they tall forward and roll off. But even with a foot out off by a jagged piece of shell a horse will not drop. It is only when shot through the head or heart that he comes down. He may be fatally wounded, but he hobbles out of the fight to right or left and stands with drooping head until loss of blood brings him down. The horse that loses his rider and is unwounded himself will continue to run with his set of fours until some movement throws him out. Then he goes galloping here and there, neighing with fear and alarm, but will not leave the field. In his racing about he may get among the dead and wounded, but he will dodge them, if possible, and in any case leap over them. When he has come upon three or four other riderless steeds, they "fall in" and keep together, as if for mutual protection, and the "rally" on the bugle may bring the whole of them into the ranks in a body. A horse which has passed through a battle unwounded is fretful, sulky and nervous-the same as a man-for the next three or four days. His first battle is also the making or unmaking of him as a warhorse. If the nervous tension has been too great, he will become a bolter in the face of danger, and thereby become a danger in himself. If the test has not been beyond him, he will go into the next fight with head held high and flecks of foam blowing from his mouth as he thunders over the earth.—Washington Post.

HE SQUANDERED MILLIONS.

The Wildly Reckless Financial Career

Baron Albert Grant. One of the most dramatic if not actually one of the largest failures, so far as the liabilities were concerned, was that of Baron Albert Grant of "Emma mine" notoriety. Grant was the un-crowned king of the financial world of his day and generation. He made millions almost as deftly as the late Mr. Barney Barnato, and he spent them right royally. He bought Leicester square and presented it, a free gift, to the people of London. He gave a dinner to nearly a thousand city magnates at a cost which was popularly reputed at the time to have exceeded 100 guineas a head, and which, in any event, undoubtedly established a record in extravagant dinner giving which has yet to be beaten.

And he started out to build a palace in Kensington which should "knock spots off" all other private residences, past, present or to come. Everything was got up regardless of expense. The ballroom walls were inset with panels of pink Italian marble, costing 800 guineas each. In the entrance hall were four pillars of porphyry, worth £4,000.

The building was scarcely finished for long a brick and mortar white elebankruptcy. Eventually most of the interior fittings and decorations were disposed of piecemeal. The grand staircase, which had cost to build some £40,000. being acquired by the representatives of the late Mme. Tussaud for a trifle over a fourth of that sum. It now forms the main approach to the upper and principal suit of rooms of the new exed for 35 hibition buildings in the Marylebone road. - London Mail.

Cats of Other Days.

The lot of the average nineteenth century cat does not compare favorably with that of its ancestors. Everybody knows that the early Egyptians held the cat secred, and any one injuring a sacred animal was liable to severe punishment. Among the ancient laws of Wales was a statute which prohibited the slaughter of a cat under a curious penalty. The owner of the slaughtered animal held it by the tip of the tail, with its nose touching the floor, and the slayer had to give him, by way of compensation, as much wheat as would bury the entire animal out of sight. The above trains stop at all stations betweer Portland and Salem, Turner, Marion, Jeffer-son, Albany, Tangent, Shedds, Haisey, Harris-burg, Junction City, Irving, Eugene, Creswell, Cottage Grove, Drains, and all stations from Roseburg to Ashland, inclusive. The grain was supposed to represent the amount that the owner would lose through the depredations of vermin by being deprived of the cat-

Saxony, Switzerland and other Euopean countries also had laws enacted for the protection of cats, which were regarded of economic value. Now, how ever, pussy is simply a decorative do-mestic adjunct.

Palmerston's Joke.

In 1861 the repeal of the paper duty At Albany and Corvalus connect with train of Oregon Central & Eastern R. R. was moving the political world. The budget speech was preceded by a rumor that the basis of the scheme would be the repeal of the tea duty and that this would upset the government. Just before Mr. Gladstone rose to make his statement there was handed to Lord Palmerston on the treasury bench the following note from Lord Derby: "My dear Pam-What is to be the great proposal tonight? Is it to be ten and turn out?" "My dear Derby," wrote the premier in reply, "it is not ten and turn out. It is to be paper and stationery."-Gesta Typographia.

In For It.

"How do you do, Miss Leslie? So awfully glad to see you again. So very sorry you weren't at Lady Brown's dance last night. There positively was not one pretty girl in the room."

"I am not Miss Leslie, but I was at Lady Brown's dance last night."-London Punch.

It is an old saying that those who were born in the last six months of the year will have a great change of experience every seventh year, and their dreams will have significance during the full of the moon.

One Divided by Naught.

Four men sitting together were confiding to one another their general ignorance of the matter contained in textbooks. One said he had studied algebra for three years, but he would find it impossible to solve the simplest problem by an algebraic process. Another said he had been counted a good student breast or shoulder, up go their hands in geology, and yet he doubted if he and they get a heavy fall; if in the leg could name the principal periods in could name the principal periods in their proper order. "Now let's see how much you do know," said one of the men. "How much is one divided by naught or nothing?"

"One divided by nothing?" repeated the man at his right. "Why, that's one. If one isn't divided by anything, it remains one."

"I think the answer is nothing," said another. "One divided by nothing is-nothing. Sure, that's right."

"You're the worst I ever heard," said the man who had given the prob lem. "One divided by nothing—that means how many times is nothing contained in one. It is contained an infinite number of times, and the correct answer is-infinity."

Then he had to talk to them for five minutes in order to convince them .-Chicago Record.

The Hellograph.

With all its superiority in distances the heliograph is too uncertain for sole reliance. A passing cloud is sufficient to interrupt the clearest signals, perhaps in the critical moment of a battle, or a sun haze may render invisible the rays from the largest mirror, so that at any time without a clear atmosphere the system is useless

It is not known that the heliographic system has ever been in use on shipboard, and the sea service has nothing for daylight signaling that approaches its accomplishment in dry atmospheres. For night service at sea the flashlight appears to be the best system of signaling in all weathers, though on rare occasions the long beam of the electric searchlight thrown up on the sky has proved effective for communication when it was possible by no other means. An instance of such use was reported a few years ago by two British ships, which while on opposite sides of a high promontory nine miles in width opened communication with each other means of dot and dash flashes on the sky from their searchlights .- Lippin-

Gladstone's Doings and Undoings. Mr. Gladstone began as the defender of the Irish church; he ended by demolishing it. No one ever opposed more vehemently the extension of British influence in Egypt, but it was under his government we bombarded the Alexanirian forts, fought the battle of Tel-el-Kebir and reduced Egypt to the condi-tion of a British satrapy. He was the most conspicuous advocate of peace with Russia when Lord Beaconsfield was in office, until Constantinople was in danger. Five years later he left office, after having brought us to the very verge of war with Russia for the sake of Penjdeh One year he clapped Mr. Parnell into prison, the next he when the crash came, and it remained proposed to make over to him the government of Ireland, and then again he phant on the hands of the trustees in deposed him from the leadership. Yet as always con for his consistency. Circumstances alter cases, and Mr. Gladstone was not above being taught by events .- W. T. Stead in Review of Reviews.

A New South Wales country school teacher recently gave a boy a question in compound proportion for home work which happened to include the circumstance of "men working ten hours a day in order to complete a certain work." Next morning the unsuspecting teacher in looking over the little pack of exercises found Jim's sum unattempted and the following letter inclosed in the page: Sur-I refuse to let Jim do his sum you give give him last nite has it looks to me to be a alur at 8 hour sistum enny sum not more than 8 hours he is welcum to do but not more. Yours truely,

Could Be Used Often.

The following anecdote illustrates Donizetti's susceptibility and quick wit. During his long stay at St. Petersburg he played by command before the Czar Nicholas, who entered into conversation with a bystander in the course of the piece. Donizetti at once broke off the performance.

"Why have you stopped?" asked the autograt.

"Sire," was the reply, "when the czar is speaking everybody else should be silent."

"There is a great deal of difference," she said with sarcasm, "between the way a man parts with his money before he is married and afterward."

"Yes," said Mr. Pennywise. "Be fore marriage, when he gives her a $3 bunch of flowers, she says: 'Thank you, George. You are so good and kind and generous.' But after, when he gives her three-fourths of his salary, she merely looks hurt and says, 'Is that all?' "-Washington Star.

Juries In Mexico.

There are no "professional jurors" in Mexico. Nine of a man's peers try him, and a majority is a verdict. If the nine are unanimous, there is no appeal. To serve on a jury one must have a diploma in law, medicine or some other profession, or an income of $100 a month, or he must be a member of a family whose head has an income of $2,000 a year.

CASES OF DROWNING.

Resuscitate a Person Who Is Apparently Dead.

If the drowned person has been suberged so long as to be unconscious, the first thing to be done is to clear the lungs and air passages of water. This is best accomplished by turning him upon the face, seizing him by the middle and suddenly jerking the body up-ward to a height of a foot and a half to two feet. If possible, the mouth should be open and the tongue drawn out at the same time, so as to facilitate the exit of the water which may have been drawn into the air passages. This move-ment may be quickly repeated two or three times.

The individual should then be turned upon the back, and two procedures should be adopted. While one person, kneeling at the head of the patient, seizes the arms at the wrists and moves them upward and outward until they are perpendicular to the body over the patient's head, then returns the arms to the sides and bends forward over the patient, making compression of the sides, so as afternately to expand and contract the chest, thus forcing the air out and in at the same time, another person should seize the tongue with a napkin or a handkerchief and pull it out forcibly while the arms are being moved upward, letting the tongue prop back into the mouth, but without releasing it, at the same moment that the arms are brought down to the sides.

By these procedures the most powerful known means are brought to bear to stimulate the natural respiratory movements. Sharp percussion of the chest over the region of the heart may be made at short intervals. If sufficie help is at hand, the arms and legs should be vigorously rubbed at the same time. Care should also be taken to warm the body by the application of blankets, hot cloths, etc.

If opportunity affords, the patient might be immersed in a hot bath, temperature of 105 degrees F., for one two minutes, then removed and exposed to the influence of cold water, which may be dashed over the body from a pail or dipper, or cloths wrung out of cold water may be rubbed over the surface. - New York Voice.

Thick slice of bread, two tablespoon-fuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls grated ham, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, gill of cream, and pepper to taste. Cut crust from bread. Put the butter in chafing dish. When very hot, brown the bread on both sides, take it out and put in the ham, cheese and cream. Season with cayenne pepper. Mix all well together and when very hot spread the mixture on the toast.

To restore to their original appearance intique pieces of furniture which have become unsightly on account of too frequent varnishing or besmearing by un-skilled hands the following method is employed: Take equal parts of strong alcohol and good oil of turpentine and heat this mixture in a bottle by placing it in hot water. With this warm liquid varnish will dissolve at once. The var varnish will dissolve at once. The varnish is removed by scraping and wiping, and the spreading, scraping and cleaning are repeated as often as neces-sary until the surface has become entirely clean again, so that the object may be rendered glossy or dull, as desired. This process is especially recommended, since it does not change or attack the color of the wood, as is often the case if lye is used.

How to Make Cabbage Sauce Facon

Cut half a large cabbage or a small one fine and boil it in bot water salted, with a teapsoon of butter and an onion Take out half a cup of liquor, add to it a teaspoon of butter, a saltspoon of sugar, white pepper and the juice of half a lemon and pour into the serving dish over the cabbage. Stir well into it

How to Make Celery Soup.

Take a head, wash, cut into pieces of a finger length, add a large double handful of spinach, an onion, a lump of sugar, a teaspoon of butter, a table spoon of salt and three pints of water. Cook slowly an hour. Rub a tablespoon of flour into a teaspoon of butter smoothly in a saucepan. Strain on it the celery liquor, stir constantly and rook for five minutes. Then add all the liquor, pouring as may be convenient on to the thickened soup, or vice versa. Boil up once, taste for seasoning, put aside and when off the boiling point add a half cup double cream, stir and add to each portion as you serve it a thin slice of lemon and a spray of the youngest celery leaves

How to Bake Pears.

Peel and halve them Remove the core. Fill with butter. Sprinkle each piece liberally with sugar Put a little water in the pan to prevent burning When done, put a dash of current jelly on each balf pear. Serve cold. Prepare them the day before.

How to Pickle Eggs.

Pickled eggs are appetizing when used as an ingredient of salads or sandwiches. They are put into cold water, which is heated slowly and allowed to boil for an hour. When taken out, they are dropped at once into cold water to keep their color. The shells are afterward removed and the eggs put into good vinegar in which beets have been kept. They should remain at least a week in this pickle, when they are ready for service as a relish. A dozen or more can be done at a time.
