FATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY.

OREGON CITY, NOV. 18, 1898.

The republicans now have an undivided responsibility, and it is best that it be so. They only need rope to hang themselves and they now have a supply.—Portland Dispatch.

How happens it that Roosevelt's "Brencho Busters" are so promptly paid off and discharged while thousands of poor fellows who enlisted simply to aid in driving the Spaniards out of Cuba are retained against their will, to be sent perhaps eight thousand miles from home to die in the deadly climate of the Philippines?

The putting of the single tax into the platforms cost California and Washington bimetallists the elections. No more experience will be necessary to teach them one issue, a vital issue, at a time is sufficient. Breakdowns invariably are the result of unnecessary overloading. No one can hew on both sides of the line at once and the same time. Until the financial question is settled reform forces should not scatter their energies on other issues, however important.

JOHN J. LENTZ, who stumped Oregon in the campaign last summer, has been re-elected to congress. This is what an exchange says of it:

President McKinley gave an order a few days ago directing General Brooks, in Porto Rico, "to get the Fourth Ohio Volunteer regiment to Columbus, Ohio, before November 5." This order was made with the view of changing the result of the election in that district, where John J. Lentz, who visited the coast several months ago and made speeches, was a candidate for congress on the democratic ticket. The order, sent by wire, was received at Porto Rico on October 28. The 1130 active members of the Fourth Ohio regiment were then scattered among fifteen different places on the island. The troopship Chester was on the way to the island. An Illinois regiment was massed for embarkation. The Chester arrived; the much-scattered Ohio regiment, hastily called together at Guayanilla, was put on board and reached New York on Saturday, November 4th, and Columbus, Ohio, on the 5th. So much for the power and political foresight of the president, but John J. Lentz is re-elected and the scheme failed. This was an order, an abuse of power, that President McKinley should be ashamed of.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PENDULUM.

The last seven presidential elections have been carried alternately, with the regularity of a four year clock, by each of the two great political parties. The record is:

1872—Grant, republican.

1876—Tilden, democrat.

1880—Garfield, republican.

1884—Cleveland, democrat.

1888—Harrison, republican.

1892—Cleveland, democrat.

1896—McKinley, republican.

In 1900, according to the rule, the president should again be a democrat.

Will history repeat itself. And who will be the man?

THE RIGHTS OF THE POOR.

Anna F. Goodyear, of Boston, advanced the following idea in regard to land ownership:

As every one has a right to life, he has a right to all indispensable to life, and, since land is necessary to obtaining this, he has a right to land enough from which to obtain a living or its equivalent. The original owner of all land was its Creator, and He gave it "to the children of men." But might of arm, or brain, or influence have now lodged in the so called possession of governments, societies and individuals all of the earth's surface which would otherwise be available to another large portion of mankind. Thought can make it clear to any one that every human being has an equal right to the means of comfort with the wealthiest.

A duty of the U. S. government is to secure to its people all their rights. It is proposed that it form a plantation, supply managers and enable all the sufferers from poverty to procure upon it capital necessary to taking up and cultivating government land, or starting other independent business.

Education in agriculture is due to make up for past deprivation of the soil.

THE MOGUL OF THE HIGHOWER COMMITS HIMSELF.

The Oregonian speaking of the British as educators on the newly question says: "We have no time to learn the truth and teach it. Two many persons are yet ungranted and rural waterways unimproved. Some surplus millions will soon be tapped by appropriation bills and Hon. Expert Handshaker and Now-For-a-Name must be adjured" to get our sightful share of them."

"What a confession says some one!" Yes, my friend "this is meant for a confession" and also as a claim on the party for a share in the appropriated millions yet to be tapped." In the face of great difficulties he has supported the gold standard. The advantages of the gold standard can be proved even to the silver mine owners, but the task will not be likely to be undertaken unless the English, who study finance at its source, etc., come to our aid. "We have no time to learn the truth and teach it," because we must have our share of the republican boodle. This is a confession and a claim. "Have we not been faithful in season and out of season to the support of the gold standard?" This is followed the very next day by an article entitled "Clerical Silver Cranks or Charlats" which bristles with the vilest epithets against men of wellknown probity. I have just read an article of Mr. Bishoe's in this month's New Time, one of the gentlemen so villyed slandered, which commends itself for clearness and force of argument, Catholicity of spirit and true christian sentiment, and if anonymous would no doubt have had the approval of the Oregonian itself. Shame on the Oregonian, if these servile sycophants of the gold standard could show any signs of a conscience. After volumes of slander and abuse to have to confess you can't show the advantages of the gold standard without aid of the English. But we have got your votes, poor dupes, that is all we wanted, and the gold standard will be irrevocably fixed before there is chance for another election.

The truth is wholesome for us if it does come so abruptly brutal. This is veritably a machiavellian age for the press, and the great mogul is his prophet. ARGUS.

Boys' Brigade Drill.

Company B, of Portland, first battalion, Oregon regiment, united boys' brigade of America, will give an exhibition in Oregon City at the armory, Friday evening, December 2nd. This company gave their drill at the Portland Exposition before large and enthusiastic audiences. The exhibition will consist of the physical drill with arm movements, given to music in the school of the company. A skirmish drill with attack and repulse, and the hospital corps drill, showing how the wounded are borne from the bloody front safely back within lines, will be features. The company is 30 strong, and the hospital corps enrolls 16 girls, who will appear in the regulation uniform of army nurses. The drill will be interspersed with numerous musical selections by local and Portland talent.

Admission, adults, 25 cents; children under 15 years, 15 cents.

Change of Climate

Breaks Down the Health of an Oregon Man

What a Few Bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla Did for Him.

"Our home is in Clark county, Washington. My little boy was taken with asthma when only two years old, and grew worse until he was five, when the physician advised us to take him to a dry climate. I resolved to go to the great wheat fields of Eastern Oregon and work in harvest, but I soon found my own health was failing. I could neither eat nor drink without getting sick. I was blind and dizzy. I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it, and in a few weeks I was well and able to work every day. My little boy is now taking Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results." D. PATTEE, Wasco, Oregon.
