Miss Lina Borges was married on Thanksgiving Day to Carl Matthias at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Borges, at Damascus. The officiating minister was Rev. F. H. Fright, of Rockwood. The bride was one of the most estimable young ladies of Damascus, and the groom is a son of that well known citizen, Fritz Matthias, of Damascus. Mr. and Mrs. Matthias will reside in Portland, where the former is a half owner in the Pacific stables at the corner of Main and Front streets, Portland.

The people of Beaver Creek will have a grand pumpkin pie debate at the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday, December 6th. The winners are to get pumpkins for Christmas pie. The question to be debated is stated thus: "Resolved that the man who plants the seed, reaps the crop." As a pumpkin vine sometimes grows through a line fence onto another's land, there is question for argument as to the ownership of a pumpkin that grows and ripens on another's land. A literary and musical program will be presented, and all are invited.
