

Something Very Soothing.
There is something very soothing in the use of St. Jacobs Oil for the cure of Neuralgia. It soothes the pain, while it strengthens and restores the weak nerves to a natural condition. It is prompt and sure.

The largest woman in the South, Mrs. Mary Maguire, colored, died recently at Little Rock, Ark. Her age was thirty, and she weighed 560 pounds.

True Greatness In Medicine
Is proved by the health of the people who have taken it. More people have been made well, more cases of disease and sickness have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla than by any other medicine in the world. The peculiar combination, proportion and process in its preparation make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself and unequalled by any other.

An inch of rain falling upon an area of one square mile is equivalent to nearly 17,500,000 gallons, weighing 145,250,000 pounds, or 64,844 tons.

Light in Horse Stalls.
Many unwisely put a small window at the front of the horse stall, causing the light to fall directly into the horse's eyes. It is a wonder that a horse has any eyesight after a few months' exposure to such a condition. Entire absence of light in the stall is to be avoided, however, for this causes injury to the horse's eyes when he goes out from the darkness into the strong light. When the light cannot be admitted from the rear, but must come from the side, put a grating into the side of the stall, as shown in the cut. If two or more stalls are side by side, put such a grating into each partition. It will let some light into even the stall farthest from the windows. Such grating comes in various sizes of mesh, and is sold at the hardware store.

Curing Tobacco.
"We are working on a new line of tobacco investigation," said Secretary Wilson to a correspondent, "ferments in tobacco. But little is known scientifically about the curing of tobacco. I tried last year, when in Florida, to find out from the Cubans why they had certain processes in curing the leaves. They had exact methods for proceeding, and they knew what the results would be, but they did not know why they did it. It was because their fathers had done it before them. This matter of ferments in tobacco is a very interesting question. We know that fermentation in the silo reduces the supply of nitrogen, and we know that in cooking food composed largely of proteins, or nitrogenous matter, a loss is sustained from a feeding point of view; but in tobacco curing we know comparatively little; that is, whether we want to retain or dispose of the nitrogen. The department has now two agents at work upon this subject, one, a noted German scientist, has been engaged, and will proceed South on this investigation."

Bring Fruit Trees into Bearing.
Fruit trees of any kind frequently grow with great luxuriance. In this they are usually unfruitful. No tree commences to flower and fruit until its vegetative exuberance has been somewhat checked. Those who understand the art of fruit culture thoroughly can bring these wayward trees into a straight line of duty by root-pruning them. It is effected by digging a trench around the tree and then filling it with the earth that has been thrown out. This cutting off the ends of the roots causes check to the extreme vigor, and the result is the production of flowers instead of branches. The distance from the trunk that the trench should be dug will, of course, depend upon the age and size of the tree, and also its ratio of luxuriance; the aim should be to dig so as to cut off about one-third of its roots. The pear, as well as other fruit trees, is particularly benefited by root-pruning. It can be carried out at any time during the fall or winter season. — Meehan's Monthly.

Thinning Fruit.
The practicability of thinning fruit and its feasibility from a commercial standpoint have been pretty well demonstrated in the last few years. Mr. John Craig reports, in the publications of the (Canadian) Central Experimental Farm, some results in thinning peaches and plums which corroborate the notes given from others. He concludes that, when a large crop of fruit is set, thinning peaches is highly remunerative for the following reasons: 1. It increases the weight of the yield. 2. It largely increases the size of the fruit. 3. It reduces the number of matured seeds, thereby considerably lessening the drain on the vitality of the tree. 4. It renders the crop less liable to rot. Thinning plums likewise proved altogether worth while.

Healthfulness of Fruit.
Eat some fruit each day, to keep the stomach in tone. The acid of sour fruits, as of the apple and pear, is the best corrective to the nausea that comes from eating too much fat meat, and there is no better way of taking it than in the apple sauce made with boiled-down cider. It is always appreciated.

Shelter for Sheep.
Sheep suffer if kept in close, underground, unventilated stables, which are pretty sure to be also damp and have foul air. Even in warm weather sheep will prefer to sleep on knolls, not merely to be able to watch against danger, but also to secure free circulation of pure air. So long as the roof keeps out the rain, the open texture of the wool on the sheep's backs will keep cold out, however severe, provided it is not accompanied by wet. The sheep need this shelter from rain, even when the weather is not so very cold, though the oil which nature provides protects the skin from being wet, unless the storm is so long continued that the sheep is chilled through.

Feed for Milk.
Wheat bran and wheat middlings are pre-eminently milk-makers in the opinion of Prof. Hills. He believes them absolutely safe when fed in any possible quantities. They carry considerable percentages of protein, and, at ruling prices, are in every way desirable dairy feeds. Cornmeal he considers economical according to how it is fed. Sometimes cornmeal may be used to advantage in a dairy ration. Some fault is to be found, however, with the extent of its use. It is wiser to feed corn in the form of a silage rather than to pluck and grind the ear. If, however, the silage is deficient in corn, it may be supplied in the shape of meal. Indeed, up to the limit of making the ration too heating, it may sometimes be an advantage to add cornmeal to the ration even when the silage is well eared, but more particularly because it tends to better the grain of butter.

Field Peas for Orchards.
There is natural adaptability of the orchard for peas aside from the fact that the pea roots increase nitrogen in the soil. The pea must be sown early, and therefore the plowing is done when it does not injure the tree roots. Then the broad leaves of the pea shade the soil and apparently absorb enough moisture at night to keep the plant fresh and growing. Then after the peas are harvested the hogs can be turned in to eat what have been scattered in harvesting. If the hogs are left without rings in their noses they will root over the surface soil and thus cover what excrement they have dropped. This with continued extra feeding in the orchard is the best way to enrich it.

Good Wool.
Wool is affected by breed, climate and food. Sheep will thrive in some sections better than in others, and wool from some flocks will bring higher prices than other wools. To produce good wool the sheep must be well fed, but not too much so. If the food is not sufficiently nutritious the wool will lack in strength, be dry, harsh, flabby and rough to the touch. Wool from sheep that are kept on pastures which provide abundant herbage is long in fiber, soft, white and strong. It is claimed that all foods which promote perspiration produces fine wool, but it is not necessary to make a selection of foods if the sheep have a variety.

Feeding for Eggs in Winter.
Many writers advise that farmers should force their hens to lay in winter by heavy feeding, as eggs are high in price in cold weather. It is not so easy to force hens to lay as may be supposed. Hundreds of hens that are well fed in winter do not lay. The fact is that the food is not a factor in the matter. It is not natural for birds to lay in winter, and to induce hens to lay at that season they must have spring and summer conditions, such as warm quarters, an opportunity to exercise any food of a varied character, avoiding grain in excess.

When the Buckle Is Gone.
The accompanying illustrations, from the Orange Judd Farmer, show how to join the ends of the driving reins together when the buckle has been lost. With a pocket knife cut the end of each rein, as shown at a, then by slipping the extreme end of each through the tuck-shaped opening of the other, a reasonably firm union is effected. The necessity of always keeping the reins fastened together cannot be too strongly emphasized. If a horse becomes frightened, and one rein is dropped, there is no possible way of recovering it, if it is not fastened to the other. Many a runaway has resulted from a failure to observe this precaution.

Stopped the Paper.
"Once upon a time," says the Hutzdale (Pa.) Journal, "a man got mad at the editor and stopped the paper. In a few weeks he sold his corn at 4 cents less than the market price. Then his property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the Sheriff's sale. He paid $10 for a lot of forged notes that had been advertised two weeks and the public warned against them. He then rushed to the printing office and paid several years' subscription in advance and had the editor sign an agreement he was to knock him down if he ordered his paper to be stopped again."

Flavor of Flesh.
The Live Stock Journal says with much emphasis and with truth that "the meat of all animals is affected by the food they eat; the ducks taste fishy that live on fish; beechnuts bacon from pigs fed on beechnuts has the finest flavor, filthy slops and on dead animals must produce meat that is unfit for human food. In this land of abundant food we should feed sound, clean, healthy food and fresh, clean slop or clean water."

Spring Geese.
Bohemian geese, which are driven long distances to market, are shod before starting on the journey by being sent repeatedly over patches of tar mixed with sand. This forms a hard crust on the feet, enabling the geese to travel over great distances.

BEECHER ON ADVERTISING DOCTORS.

San Francisco Chronicle.
"I am glad that the doctor cured him; I am glad that he could cure him. And if any doctor is certain he can cure such diseases and don't put it into the paper, I am sorry. What a pity it would have had this doctor come to town with his wealth of science and experience and gone away leaving him uncured! What a pity it would have been if he had been so prejudiced against advertising as to read the responsible certificates of the doctor and gave him the go-by as a quack! What are newspapers for, if not to circulate information? What more valuable information can a newspaper give than to tell a sick man where he can be cured? If a man has devoted his life and labor to the study of a special class of diseases, the necessity of his saying so becomes all the more pressing. His duty to advertise becomes imperious. A really able man, whatever be his gifts, makes a great mistake if he fails to use those gifts through want of advertising."
The above extract from an article by the Rev. Mr. Beecher embodies a sound view of the subject of advertising. Suppose Dr. Darrin, at 265 Morrison street, this city, had come to the city and not advertised, who would know of his presence? Who would know of the following almost miraculous cure he performed in 1872, had not Mr. Dibble put it in the paper?
Mr. Editor: In 1872 my daughter was taken with the membranous croup, and upon her recovery was left totally deaf. I called on two eminent physicians, who said they could do nothing for her. As a last resort, I took her to Dr. Darrin, who cured her; and she has never been troubled with deafness since. I consider it one of the greatest cures of electrical treatment on record, and with great satisfaction give this testimonial. I reside in Berkeley, Alameda county, Cal., and will take great pleasure in answering any inquiries concerning this most remarkable cure. Yours respectfully, WILLIAM S. DIBBLE.

AIDED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

Mrs. W. E. PAXTON, Youngtown, North Dakota, writes about her struggle to regain health after the birth of her little girl:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to your list, hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of your valuable medicine.
"After the birth of my little girl, three years ago, my health was very poor. I had leucorrhoea badly, and a terrible bearing-down pain which gradually grew worse, until I could do no work. Also had headache nearly all the time, and dizzy feelings. Menstruations were very profuse, appearing every two weeks.
"I took medicine from a good doctor, but it seemed to do no good. I was becoming alarmed over my condition, when I read your advertisement in a paper. I sent at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two-thirds of the bottle I felt so much better that I sent for two more. After using three bottles I felt as strong and well as any one."
"I think it is the best medicine for female weakness ever advertised, and recommend it to every lady I meet suffering from this trouble."
"Maternity is a wonderful experience and many women approach it wholly unprepared. Childbirth under right conditions need not terrify women.
"The advice of Mrs. Pinkham is freely offered to all expectant mothers, and her advice is beyond question the most valuable to be obtained. If Mrs. Paxton had written to Mrs. Pinkham before confinement she would have been saved much suffering. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.
