The Pacific Odd-Fellow says that Abernethy Lodge, No. 80, of Oregon City, has voted to surrender its charter and quit business. Lack of attendance and want of material from which to build up a membership is given as the cause. In a city of that size there is hardly room for more than one lodge of a kind, and it is now to be hoped that Willamette Rebekah Lodge No. 2, will be better and stronger than ever.

Ezra T. Fisher, of Albany, county surveyor of Linn county, and a former Clackamas county pioneer, died at Albany Saturday. He crossed the plains with his father, the late Rev. Ezra Fisher, in 1845 and settled on a land claim near Oregon City. He was married near here in 1856 to Miss Hannah Stout, daughter of the late Ezra S. Stout. He represented in part Clackamas county in the legislature of 1862. The deceased was county surveyor of Linn county for a number of years past. He was an uncle of D. C. Latourrette, of this city.

H. J. Thorne, who went to Alaska over a year ago, returned from the vicinity of Dawson City last Friday. He reports that the outlook for the Oregon City contingent is not very encouraging. Although it is has been a comparatively mild winter, the Clackamas county boys did not meet with unbounded success in mining. Wages and freight rates are getting lower, and the majority of the Clackamas county contingent expect to turn their faces homeward soon. Al Hodgkin, of Clackamas, who died of typhoid pneumonia in the hospital at Dawson City in October, Mr. Thorne says, had his money and other belongings either confiscated or stolen.

Charles P. Thore, one of the most active promoters of Oregon City manufacturing enterprises, died Wednesday morning from the effects of a long illness. The funeral services were held at the residence of Mrs. S. A. Chase Thursday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. A. J. Montgomery. The interment took place in Mountain View cemetery. The deceased was a native of Sweden, was 51 years of age, and had been a resident of the United States since he was 19 years old. Mr. Thore had the distinction of being the first person to introduce Swedish matches into this country. He was at one time business manager of the San Francisco Daily Call, and, also manager of the Lick Paper Company. Oregon City is indebted to Mr. Thore for several important manufacturing enterprises. He was a promoter of the paper manufacturing and directly interested in the shoe factory, building and loan association, etc.

Christian Morlok, who lived about nine miles from town near Fisher's mill, was in town about two months ago, but suddenly disappeared. His uncle, Andrew Drugler, made inquiries here and at Portland, but was unable to obtain any clue as to his whereabouts. Tuesday morning John Swing discovered Morlok's remains in the timber a short distance from the road opposite T. S. Mann's place at Clackamas heights. A revolver was lying by his side with some of the chambers empty, and marks on his face and head indicated suicide. An inquest was held by Coroner Strickland, and a verdict of suicide was returned. Mr. Drugler testified that his nephew was of unsound mind and at times was melancholy. A little money and other trinkets were found in his pocket. The deceased left property valued at $1000, consisting partly of money in the bank. He was 35 years of age, a native of Germany, and leaves three sisters in the East.

Don't forget to attend the grand opening of Price Bros. store on Saturday, February 18th, in Willamette building, next to Harding's drugstore.

In the cast of "What Happened to Jones" are three very beautiful and talented young women who will be appeared in some magnificent gowns. One of them is Miss Lillian Young, daughter of Maj. Gen'l Young, who won fame at Santiago. At Shively's Tuesday, February 21st.

Children cannot always with safety take the drugs that adults take. We make a Children's Cough Syrup especially for them. It is pleasant to taste and absolutely harmless. It acts quickly and should be given promptly on the appearance of Coughs, Colds or Hoarseness. 25c per bottle. C. G. Huntley, cut rate druggist.

There was a motley crowd in Justice Schuebel's office Monday night. Harry Clark was on trial for attempting an assault on his mother-in-law. A jury was empanelled, and some nice, goody, goody young men hardly out of their teens were summoned as witnesses. They didn't know anything about the case in question, but explained that they were having a hilarious time in the Indian camp that night. W. H. H. Samson was called in as interpreter, and the mother-in-law told her story in Chinook. Clark was fined $30, or sent up for 15 days. Several married men who took in the racy details of the trial, returned home late and told their wives that they had been to lodge.

Cataract Hose Company No. 2 held a meeting last Thursday evening, and nominated Meldrum F. McCown as their candidate for chief engineer, and Walter Little for commissioner. There are now four candidates for commissioners and three to elect. They are A. Robertson, from Hose Company No. 3, J. W. Cole, from Columbia Hook and Ladder Company, Eli Maddock of Fountain Hose Company, and Walter Little of the Cataracts. The three candidates for chief engineer are C. M. Mason, of No. 3; M. F. McCown, of the Cataracts, and Charles Moore of the Hooks. The principal contest will be over the candidates for chief engineer, as that is the only salaried office in the department. F. T. Rogers, of the Fountains, is the only candidate for assistant chief engineer.

Hoboes were evidently working the hill section of the city during the forepart of the week. On Sunday night an attempt was made to hold up C. H. Higgins at the corner of Seventh and Jefferson streets by three tramps, but he held them at bay, until they were frightened away by approaching foot-steppers. During Monday night the side window of A. Robertson's grocery store was forced open, and about $250 was taken from the money drawer, and a small quantity of candy was taken. The burglars attempted to batter down the rear door of the warehouse, but a lot of sacks of potatoes prevented an entrance at this portion of the building. The rear door of Bethke's butcher shop was pushed in, but only a few sausages were missing. It is reported that there was an attempted hold up near the Seventh street livery stable Tuesday night.

Miss Lena Engle, of New Fra, was visiting relatives here during the week.

George Hoehn, a resident of Clackamas county for 14 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Sumner, on the corner of Jackson and Seventh streets last Monday morning, aged 81. The deceased was a native of Germany and served six years in the army before coming to America 50 years ago. Mr. Hoehn served as a private in the late civil war. He received injuries in a coasting accident about 10 days previous that evidently hastened his death. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of Meade Post, G. A. R., at the German Evangelical church. The deceased has one other daughter, Mrs. Lucinda Sumner, in Missouri. Coroner Strickland held an inquest over Hoehn's remain Monday afternoon, and the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from natural causes, accompanied by old age and the result of a coasting accident on Feb. 2nd. While the jury did not charge anyone with being responsible for his death, they recommended that the proper authorities hereafter strictly forbid coasting on the sidewalk. The verdict was signed by Hiram Straight, R. D. Wilson, G. H. Young, Frank Winslow, W. H. Young and Amos Seamann.

There will be a big house to hear the Bernhard Walthier Concert Company at Shively's opera house tonight. They will play under the auspices of the Workmen, and numerous tickets have already been sold.

Frank H. Welch will start on his return trip to Dawson City about March 1st. He will be accompanied by his brother, H. H. Welch, and S. T. Gulich, who formerly resided here. A letter from his partner on Sulphur creek, conveys the information that they have struck a prospect of 15 cents per pan, and Mr. Welch is considerably encouraged over the outlook. Mr. Welch will take in any letters addressed to parties in the Klondike country, if they are left at the Cozy Candy Kitchen here.

P. Judd, one of the prominent farmers of Eagle creek, was in town Tuesday. Formerly, Mr. Judd disposed of all his products in Portland, and purchased his supplies there. Now, however, on account of the improved market conditions here he disposes of his surplus products in Oregon City at Portland prices, and buys his supplies here as cheaply as they can be secured elsewhere. Mr. Judd says that he and his neighbors will continue to do their trading in Oregon City as long as present conditions continue.
