Putnam; officer of the guard, Faxon Hayford; officer of the day, M. Hoffman; adjutant, James Nelson; drum major, John Confer.

On Tuesday the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association, awarded the contract for doing the labor on the new building to E. N. Rasmussen for $380. Several other bids were received. According to the terms of the contract the structure is to be completed within 60 days. It will be 100x48 and three stories high, with a gymnasium 48x68 extending the entire height of the building. As considerable of the material is donated and obtained at reduced rates, it is a matter of economy for the board to reserve the right to furnish the material.

Receiver William Galloway, who presided at Private Lee M. Travis' lecture on the Philippines last Friday evening, paid an eloquent tribute to Oregon manhood and courage intellectually and physically. The lecture was very interesting, and the musical program was excellent. Frank Confer sang a parody on "The Banks of the Wabash," in commemoration of the Maine disaster, with good effect. Misses Ethel Albright, Echo Samson and Veda Williams, auxiliary corps singers, sang "Guard the Flag" with good effect. Miss Imo Harding was received with enthusiasm in her solo, "The Rosary," and responded to the encore with "Oh, for a Breath of the Moorlands."

The members of the board are allowed $3 per day and 10 cents a mile when in session.

On Tuesday Maggie E. Sake, of Portland, filed a suit in the circuit court for a divorce from Harry Sake. According to the complaint of the plaintiff she evidently considers that it would have been better for her sake had they never married. She alleges that they were married in Iowa in 1872, and that jealousy and cruelty were features of the treatment that she received from Sake. About three years ago, it is further alleged, Sake deserted his wife at Boise.

M. L. Holden, a private in I, Second Oregon, returned home from Manila Wednesday morning, having received his discharge for disability. Holden had been in the hospital since November 1st, and is unable to walk without the aid of crutches. Soon after his arrival he was taken to Maple Lane where his family now resides. Private Holden arrived in San Francisco Sunday on the transport Pueblo. He said that he understood that it was the intention of Captain Pickens to return home, as he had been unwell for some time past.

E. D. Horner, a painter of Portland, and known to many people here, is now in the Lane county jail bound over to appear before the grand jury on a charge of forgery. Horner and George Weber, who were former residents of Corvallis, are accused of forging a note for $5,000 purporting to have been signed by J. B. Coleman, a well known citizen of Eugene. Suit was brought to recover on the note, but the forgery was exposed in open court. A little over a year ago Horner organized a lodge of the fraternal union here, which however, did not last long. Horner is well connected.

Officer Shaw and Constable McCown were making a chase the other evening after a supposed fugitive from justice. Finally they espied a man going up the dark alley from Maddock's restaurant. The officials started in pursuit, and when they reach the railroad track the victim stumbled and fell, and hurriedly cried, "I'll dig up." It was a case of mistaken identity. The innocent victim thought thugs were after his money and the perspiration stood on his forehead in beaded drops. Mrs. Farr, who was going up the Third street steps, heard the noise, and when she reached home, told her sons about a hold-up on the railroad track.

THIRD and OAK STREETS

The Sewerage Question.

The present scheme for sewerage has excited considerable opposition. It runs in part up 3rd and across Madison, where a ditch was never dug nor a sidewalk laid, and as far east as Jackson, stopping short of the public schools, which has just been fixed at considerable expense. Some argue that the pipes would have shorter range for connection running through the alleys and prevent the cutting up of the main streets. That the natural drainage south of Fifth is towards the basin, which would require no deep drains through the rocks of Center and 7th streets, but that surface drainage is most needed, which these pipes would not take. It is thought that the enforcement of streams pollution act may in the near future prevent drainage to the river, and no extensive system should be started that way.

Probably a moderate scheme in the tier of blocks between 5th and 7th, and south of Adams street, which could have been run with four or five feet depth of drains and at moderate expense, would have raised no opposition, but outside districts kick against the expense of the present scheme.

Look for the announcement of Miss Goldsmith's big millinery opening.

SEWER MEETING.

Sewerage in the Hill District Discussed and Committee Appointed.

A lively meeting was held at the council chamber Saturday night to discuss the proposed sewerage system on the hill, and to appoint a committee to confer with the city council committee on streets and public property. Charles H. Canfield was elected chairman. There was a fairly good representation of property owners present, and soon an animated discussion was under way. Remarks on the proposed system of sewerage was made by H. O. Stevens and Councilman Koerner, who favored a system of sewerage built in a practical business-like way.

Water Superintendent W. H. Howell favored a system of tile or stone drains built along the pipe lines to carry off the surface water. G. R. H. Miller concurred in the views of Mr. Howell.

Mr. Stevens suggested that the proper way to have the lots drained of surface water was to improve the streets.

In answer to a query, Councilman Schuebel, chairman of the committee on streets and public property, said no sewerage system would be established unless a majority of the property owners were in favor of it.

G. E. Hargreaves thought that water drainage was needed more than a sewer system, but wanted the expense of the system paid out the general fund. Mr. Stevens called attention to the fact that this meeting was called not to decide the matter of sewerage, but to appoint a committee to confer with the city council committee on streets and public property and the city engineer. On a motion seconded by W. B. Zumbalt, Chairman Canfield appointed a committee consisting of H. O. Stevens, T. L. Oarman and G. E. Hayes. The committee may conclude to extend the present proposed sewer district, and will probably report at the adjourned meeting of the council Wednesday night.

Caleb Cross objected to being taxed for a sewerage system.

Remember that the opening days of the great display of millinery goods are coming at Miss Goldsmith's.
