The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, and the officiating clergyman was Rev. A. L. Barber, of Sherwood. Mr. and Mrs. Ford will reside at Willsonville, but expect to make a bridal trip to California. Both are well known early pioneers of Clackamas county. The bride is 72 and the groom 77.

E. C. Macdock, the successful caterer and proprietor of the Elk restaurant, at the earnest solicitation of the proprietors of the building, and others interested in seeing a hotel conducted in the best manner here, consented to assume the management of the Electric hotel. He assumed charge Wednesday, and his successful career as a restaurant manager, is a guarantee that the house will sustain an excellent reputation.

Matters are booming in Y. M. C. A. circles this week, and every effort is being made to swell the building fund. A Christian Endeavor social was given at the Congregational church Thursday night. Tonight one of the basket ball teams will go to Portland to play a return game, and on Saturday night the small boys will give a benefit minstrel entertainment. On the same evening a Y. M. C. A. team will hold a debate with a class at Bolton. Men's meeting Sunday afternoon as usual.

The city council held a special meeting Wednesday evening, all the members and mayor being present. The majority report of the citizens committee on sewerage, signed by H. C. Stevens and T. L. Charman favoring an extension of the proposed sewerage district. G. E. Hayes presented a minority report of the committee, objecting to a sewerage system for the reason that the property owners could not afford the expense. After considerable discussion the matter was postponed until the next regular meeting. A proposal was presented from the Portland General Electric Company offering to light the city on a time contract for 12 per cent. less than present prices. After some discussion it was voted to make the electric company a proposition of 25 per cent. reduction on a time contract.

Louis Nobel returned Sunday night from the Alaskan lakes beyond Skagway, where he was carrying on a freighting business. Recently the weather here was very cold—the thermometer registering 50 degrees below zero. Business was getting dull on account of the strict enforcement of the alien law in the Atlin mining district and the further fact of a strike on the Skagway railroad. The alien laws now being enforced in that district does not permit of any foreigner working a mining claim for himself or another. On March 1st, 1500 men who were employed on the Skagway railroad struck and refused to work any longer on account of the cut in wages. They were getting 35 cents an hour, and many of them were suffering from frozen limbs and more exposed parts on their bodies. When the company informed the men that they had made a cut in wages work was stopped. Mr. Nobel, however, intended to return to Alaska, as soon as matters are definitely settled in the spring. Carl Hute accompanied Mr. Nobel down from Alaska, but went to Everett, Wash.

All musicians and lovers of music of Oregon City will be glad to learn that arrangements have been made to bring here the talented soprano of New York, Miss Mollie Adelia Brown, and her assisting artists, Russell H. Ballard, Cellist and Miss G. Fugel Crist, pianist, whose first tour of the Western States has so far been such a phenomenal success. The commissioner's court placed the salary of the deputy assessor at $60 per month, and the field deputies $3 per day. The matter of paying the recorder's deputy was postponed.

The Brunswick restaurant opened up in grand style yesterday in the elegant quarters formerly occupied by the bowling alley. Everything is as bright and neat as a new pin, and the chef employed there has had charge of some of the best kitchens on the coast. Charlie Foster is a popular caterer, and will do a good business.

August Voight, a German, living in the vicinity of the Tuatatin, was brought before the county judge Wednesday, but the charge of insanity against him didn't stick, and was indignant because the judge failed to commit him to the asylum. It transpired that Voight wanted to go to the insane asylum to get medical treatment free of cost. He and his wife own an unnumbered farm.

Charles E. Murray, who died Tuesday, was buried yesterday. The services were conducted by Rev. P. K. Hammond, of the Episcopal church, and were largely attended. The deceased was 85 years old, and had been a resident in Oregon City for 42 years. He was born in Scotland and lived in Australia and California before coming here. Mrs. Murray died about two years ago. The deceased left two sons, Charles E., of Tacoma, and Shelby B. Murray, of St. Johns, Mo. His step-children were George A. and Henry J. Harding, of Oregon City, and Mrs. Nellie Bichel, of Stockton, Calif.

For MEN ONLY

Startling, Vivid, True to Life!

Such is the Lecture delivered by the noted

HENRY ADDIS

On SEXOLOGY

He boldly and without fear or favor discusses the SEX QUESTION in all its phases: Free Love, Love and the Law, Marriage and Prostitution, Sexual Rights and Wrongs. Sex idols crumble before his iconoclastic touch, and the cause of "Youthful Folly" and how to avoid its terrible results is graphically described. The attraction of the sexes, or why the young go to dances, is detailed.

No man can afford to miss this Thrilling Lecture.

Mr. Addis as editor of the late "Firebrand" was imprisoned in the Multnomah county jail for the expression of his views, but such a storm of indignation poured in from all over the United States that the federal authorities were forced to dismiss the charge against him.
