CLACKAMAS COUNTY NEWS

Take up the farmer's burden; There is one who does it well, A new champion for the farmer's rights;

His name is Geo. Brownell. His tongue is glib, his rhetoric good, Integrity is written on his face, In the courts he takes the poor man's part,

His heart is in the right place. He tells of the legislature work, He did our wrongs to right, How arduous the task to get bills through,

A casual observer might think light. This servant of the people Will not cast o'er you a spell, He takes up the farmer's burden

And he does it mighty well. Go listen to him talk For he makes things quite clear,

Many things you never understood, Which seemed to you so queer farmer's thought that whenever he obtrusively force itself to the front. I ed with a handsome glove case. say to all the writers of this paper, take up the farmer's burden in every article you write; let us make this paper so alive with interest in the farmer's burden that every farmer in the country will want to read it.

In the suburbs of Carus even the ducks have taken up the farmer's burden. A short while past an Oregon City doctor had been attending a patient out back of Carus and the patient died, as many of them do, you know. After a little time the doctor went out to collect his bill for something he didn't do, and while quietly driving along through the suburbs of Carus he was thinking of his ill-luck in losing so many patients; of the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, especially when the patients were in his hands, and just as this thought passed through his mind a flock of ducks that were disporting themselves in a frogpond alongside the road turned their attention to the doctor and all in chorus cried out"quack," "quack," which made the doctor so mad you could hear him swear two blocks away.

Take up the farmer's burden, says the duck as you feed him grains-come to think of it you better not for you'll be cussed for your pains. Why take up the farmer's burden, he's a thankless self sufficient creature, you can see the type of his progenitor, according to 15th for her home in Dakota Darwin, but Darwin was mistaken in the animal. It wasn't an ape from years. which the American farmer evolved, it was that long-eared animal whose name processes of evolution, the ears have shortened but the bray is there just the her only son resides. same. Get off the earth, you ornery horny-handed, hard-headed cuss you, go to Hades. No, come to think about it, you better go to the Philippines and take your place at the foot of the class with that bow-shooting, spear-throwing savage Uncle Sam has taken in hand to train, and by taking a second course in evolution you may become bright enough to protect your rights and get your prices for the product of your labor. The way the other fellow gets it I will tell you how that is in my next. March 26.
