City Treasurer H. E. Straight has made a call for all warrants issued prior to July 1st, 1897.

Miss Ida Belmont and Samuel Lowery were married Sunday at the home of the groom's brother, near the Latour-ette bridge. Rev. A. J. Montgomery was the officiating clergyman.

R. L. Holman has removed his cigar store to the building adjoining Vegelus' barber shop, and the premises vacated by Holman in the Jaggard building are now occupied by Young's second hand store.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Robinson, died at their home on the west side of the river Monday morning. It had been ill for some time, and was about seven months old at the time of its death.

The revival meetings at the Methodist church are being well attended, and the interest is intense. Rev. Isaac Naylor is not only an able pulpit orator, but is a notable author as well. His sermons bring conviction to the hearts of his hearers.

Miss Florence Olsen, referee in bankruptcy for Clackamas county, conducted a meeting of the creditors and hearing of the report of the trustee, W. W. Myers, of the estate of A. Monner, a voluntary bankrupt. A 12 per cent. dividend was ordered paid to the creditors from the assets.

The records in the county recorder's office show a marked increase in transfers of real estate for March. Seventy-seven deeds, 46 mortgages and 61 releases of mortgages were filed. The transfers were principally for farm property. Sixteen divorce cases, one quartz mining location and seven marriage licenses were issued, and the county clerk drew warrants amounting to $2545.50.

Mrs. K. L. Newton, a few days ago, received a letter from her son, Frank, who has been in the service of the regular army for a number of years. He was at San Francisco on his way to the Philippines with his regiment, after serving in the Cuban campaign. After completing his term of service at the Presidio several years ago, he went east and re-enlisted. He had an attack of typhoid fever while in Santiago de Cuba, and will soon be shooting Filipinos.

Superintendent Hubbard, of the Clackamas hatchery, is getting everything in readiness for the operation of the temporary steelhead station to secure eggs near the falls. The salmon will be automatically dumped into boxes anchored out in the stream from the fish wheel where the steelheads will be kept until ripe for spawning. The fishwheel will be operated by Brown Brothers, but fish culturists, Bert Greenman and J. W. Berriam will look after securing the eggs, under the direction of Superintendent Hubbard.

On last Saturday County Superintendent N. W. Bowland and deputy, Mrs. G. M. Strange, completed their annual report, and forwarded the same to the state superintendent at Salem. The report shows a total of 7,888 children of school age in Clackamas county, 4,040 females, and 3,848 males, a total increase of 146 over 1898. The total value of school buildings and grounds is $94,271.50; furniture, $13,164; apparatus, $5,825; insurance, $45,598; average amount paid male teachers monthly, $8,991; average amount paid female teachers, $2,729.

The people of Bolton, who are included in the West Oregon City school district, but have a separate school, are now clamoring for a new school building. The balance of the unpaid bonded indebtedness of the district is $1,000, $500 of which will be paid off when the present tax levy is collected in. Instead of applying this $500 on the bonded indebtedness, the Bolton people want this money used to build a new school house. This matter would be satisfactory to the holders of the bonds, who are local people, if the taxpayers in the district vote for a new building.

The city of Portland and the state of Oregon ought to appreciate the worth of Albert Tozier, secretary of the Oregon Press Association. He labored zealously to secure for Oregon the meeting of the National Editorial Association, the greatest body of organized newspaper people in the world. Since February he has traveled 10,000 miles at his own expense in the interest of the meeting, besides writing to over 400 individuals from Maine to Manila, in addition to writing 217 columns of matter for the press of the United States, all in the interest of Oregon. And for all this he has received not one cent. Tozier is too patriotic for his own good.—Engene Guard. Last winter Mr. Tozier offered to do some of this free advertising for Oregon City, if the citizens would furnish the cuts, but the board of trade declined to investigate the matter. Ex-Mayor Canfield was the only citizen who took an active interest in the matter. Mr. Canfield always has the welfare and prosperity of the city at heart, and is always willing to put his shoulder to the wheel in advancing the interests of Oregon City.

He states that they have completed cleaning out the old trail 35 miles in length, but work will not begin on the new building until Governor Geer, the secretary of state and the fish commissioner have made an inspection of the premises, and it is expected that will be within a few days. The hatchery is 55 miles from here, and the trail passes over mountains for a part of the way, where there is three feet of snow at present.

Cassius U. Barlow and wife and Henry Pusey returned Thursday from Dawson City, where they did a good business. Mr. Barlow manufactured spring mattresses, and found a ready market for the product. Mr. Pusey took in a piano, and did well in the music line. They claim that the sanitary conditions are anything but healthful. Messrs. Barlow and Pusey are making preparations to take in a stock of supplies to be disposed of there. They came out over the ice from Dawson in dog sleds, Mrs. Barlow standing the fatigue and hardships of the journey first-rate.
