LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

Born, in this city Thursday night, May 20th, to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Boyd, a son, weight, 12 pounds.

Rev. A. J. Montgomery will give one of his popular talks to young men at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday afternoon.

It is J. A. Roake instead of W. E. Roake, who removed to Portland. W. E. Roake is still operating his steam wood saw, and is sawing wood at a lively rate.

Vonderahe Bros. have been awarded the contract for painting the new Y. M. C. A. building, they being the lowest bidders. The Association furnishes the painting material.

The Star Clothing Company, located at the corner of First and Morrison streets, Portland, has leased the store-room adjoining Harding's drug store, and will take possession of the same Saturday.

Robert Claverin, who has been a photographer here for a number of years, has gone to Seattle or some Sound point to locate. It is reported that the woman who was learning photography, has also gone there.

The Christian Endeavorers of Clackamas county are looking forward with great pleasure to state Christian Endeavor convention, which convenes in Portland May 25th, and will remain in session three days. Special transportation rates will be secured.

Reva, the 13-year old daughter of Professor and Mrs. J. W. Gray, was run Monday by a bicycle scorch, and one of her ankles were sprained. The accident occurred on the sidewalk, but the identity of the rider is unknown. The coroner will have a job soon unless bicycle riding is stopped on the sidewalks.

The new Y. M. C. A. building will be completed and ready for occupancy within three weeks. After its completion there will be three opening days. On the evening of June 9th, there will be a reception to the women; on the evening of the 10th a reception to the business men, and on the evening of the 11th, an athletic entertainment for the young men.

James M. Ware has filed a suit against Clackamas county, through his attorneys, W. S. U'Ren and C. Schuebel, to recover $3,678 for damages, alleged to have been sustained by reason of a runaway accident to the Willott stage on July 11th, 1898. Mr. Ware alleges that he has received injuries, that permanently disables him from performing manual labor, and further alleges that the runaway was caused by the authorities neglecting to keep the roadway in proper repair, as one wheel dropped into a deep rut, causing the horses to become frightened.

W. B. Partlow, the well known pioneer and sage of Mount Pleasant, accidentally took a teaspoonful of tincture of aconite the other night, but still lives to tell the story. He was using Caecara cordial, and his son brought home a fresh bottle of the preparation, also a bottle of tincture of aconite, labelled poison. During the night Mr. Partlow had occasion to take a dose of medicine, and by mistake swallowed a teaspoonful and a half of the aconite. Soon he began to feel sick and commenced vomiting. He investigated and found that he had taken poison, but some emetics soon brought him around all right. Mr. Partlow is evidently sure proof against the darts of death.

Mrs. Weed at Green Point, has the rarest collection of curios from the Philippine islands in Oregon City. They were sent by her son, Frank E. Weed, who is first sergeant of Company A, of McMinnville, and consists of brass buttons and bullets dug out of the walls of Cavite, where prisoners were sealed up and smothered to death; a glass paper weight and other articles taken from one of the Spanish ships sunk by Dewey; several Filipino flags, a great variety of sea shells, a brass trumpet; brass candlesticks picked up on the battlefield of Malolos from a wrecked church; old parchment-bound books dated 1837 and 1838; maps of Manila and contiguous country, showing every point of interest; photographs, and innumerable other articles.

Superintendent Hubbard, of the Clackamas hatchery, assisted by Fish Culturists Greenman, Berriam and Weisner have been busy for several weeks securing steelhead salmon eggs at the falls for the temporary hatchery, but the season is now about ended. About 330,000 eggs have been secured, and a shipment will be made to Fort Duluth, Minn., for the government hatchery. Thomas Brown, manager of the steelhead hatchery at Salmon river, came in from there Tuesday. He states that the season's work there has been practically a failure, owing to the continued high stage of the water, his traps having been carried out two or three times. Last year Mr. Brown demonstrated that the hatching of steelheads could be made a success in an ordinary season.

Florian Ott, of Sunnyside, was in the city Friday, having recently returned from the Mohawk river in Lane county, where he sold 160 acres of timber land to the Kelly Lumber Company. Mr. Ott states there will only be about one-fourth of a crop of Italian prunes in his neighborhood, while the peaches will be good; winter wheat also looks well.

Mannuel Nordyke, who was a carpenter here about a year ago, is now located at Sumpter, Baker county. He and his son are getting $5 50 per day for operating the electric light plant there.

Lou's Fank was in from Redland Saturday, and expresses the opinion that there will not be a serious shortage in the fruit crop, although some of the buds are falling off the trees in his neighborhood.

County Judge Thomas F. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Sol S. Walker, C. E. Midlam and H. W. Trembath are at Salem attending the I. O. O. F. grand encampment, grand lodge and state convention of Rebekahs.

Judge William Galloway returned Monday from a visit to Eastern Oregon points and Weiser, Idaho, where his brother resides. He reports things booming in Idaho, and says that railroad construction is under way and business is lively.

W. S. Husbands, one of the prominent farmers of Liberal, was in town Monday, and reported that early sown wheat looked well. Apples and pears give promise of a good yield, but the frost has considerably damaged the plums and prunes.

Mrs. Henry Meldrum returned Sunday morning from a fortnight's visit to her daughter, Mrs. Harley Stevens. She and Mr. Stevens were in excellent health and prospering, and Mrs. Meldrum would have remained longer, but was called home by the serious illness of her son, Jack.

Florian Ott, of Sunnyside, was in the city Friday, having recently returned from the Mohawk river in Lane county, where he sold 160 acres of timber land to the Kelly Lumber Company. Mr. Ott states there will only be about one-fourth of a crop of Italian prunes in his neighborhood, while the peaches will be good; winter wheat also looks well.

COMMENTARIES.

Matters Concerning Local Everyday Affairs Noticed by the Courier-Herald Reporter.

Cottam, the shirt peddler, who wants a whole lot of damage money for alleged false imprisonment, attempted to make a martyr of himself when arrested here. After being taken to jail, he was told that he could be at liberty on his recognizance, but preferred to lie in jail to found the groundwork of a damage suit against the municipality.

One of the worst grafts in a small way, passed by the late legislature, is the barber's commission. The work of the commission is actually of no benefit to the public, and yet it is taxed to have its printing, etc., done at the state printing office.

Rev. Bollinger's sermon last Sunday evening on "Christian Neighborliness," was one of the best things ever given before a church audience here. It showed that true Christianity was going into the byways and relieving the wants of the distressed whether they are within the pale of the church or not. The meaning of the sermon was to do good to all men without boring them to become church members, and was appreciated by the body of Woodmen present.

When it comes to results juries in justice courts are failures. It yet remains to be seen whether or not a jury would convict Harry Clark.

It is a wonder how Oregon City succeeded in securing such a talented attraction as the Miss Jessie Shirley Company. There may have been good companies at the opera house here before, but the reporter never seen them.

The Molalla road is now an assured fact, and the people along the line of the road, as well as Oregon City are to be congratulated on raising the guarantee for this road. The road now being surveyed up the bluff from lower Main street to intersect the New Era hill road is another improvement that should be pushed to early completion. And there should be a good to the Stafford and Wilsonville country.

AMONG THE LODGES.

Interesting Events in Fraternal Circles.

Willamette Camp, Woodmen of the World, attended the Congregational church in a body last Sunday night. The church was tastily decorated with flowers, and Woodmen emblems were effectively arranged on the platform. Special music was rendered by the choir, and Mrs. E. E. Charman and Mrs. W. B. Wiggins sang a duet. Rev. E. S. Bollinger delivered a practical sermon, bearing on what is genuine charitable work, applicable to both lodge and church members.

Head Organizer Rogers, Woodmen of the World, addressed a large audience at Oswego one evening this week.

Last Thursday evening, Pig Iron lodge No. 135, A. O. U. W., of Oswego, was visited by several members of the Stafford lodge as well as about 70 Workmen from different lodges in Portland. After the lodge session, followed by a musical and literary program, the lodge and visitors were handsomely entertained by the women of the Degree of Honor, who served refreshments. This (Thursday) evening, a delegation from Falls City Workman lodge, will visit the Oswego lodge.

Judge Thomas F. Ryan was elected grand senior warden of the Odd Fellows Encampment at Salem this week, and W. H. Howell was elected district deputy grand patriarch.

PROBATE COURT.

Judge Ryan Makes Several Orders During the Week.

In the matter of the estate of Charles A. Wade, deceased, H. C. Wade, administrator, was given an order to sell at public auction or private sale, all of the personal property belonging to said estate.

Anna S. Clifford, of Molalla, was appointed administrator of the estate of M. Clifford, deceased. The probable value of the estate is $1,000. Willard Robbins, William Mackrell and P. M. Boyles were appointed appraisers of the estate.

The will of John S. Dugan, who died at Molalla a few days ago, was admitted to probate Saturday. The testator bequeathed to his grandson, John S. Dugan, $1, but bequeathed to his granddaughter, Mabel C. Dugan, all his estate after paying funeral and other expenses of the estate. Oliver W. Robbins is named as executor, the will also being witnessed by O. D. Eby. Mrs. Mary Robbins is named as guardian of Mabel C. Dugan, until she becomes of age. The estate consists of real and personal property of the probable value of $301.

Charles Johnson, John Strouse and Harvey Waybill, appraisers of the estate of Silas Shay, deceased, reported a valuation of property of $500.

David Robeson was appointed guardian of the estate of Stephen A. Lane, an insane person of Colton. The property is valued at $400.
