Successful Competitors in the Humane Society Composition Contest.

Dr. W. E. Carl, Rev. A. J. Montgomery and Mrs. Robert A. Miller have submitted their report to the Clackamas County Humane Society, as the special committee, having in charge the awarding of prizes for compositions written by school children of Oregon City and vicinity on assigned subjects. There were about 50 competitors for the prizes, and the name of the writer with assumed name attached to the composition were placed in separate envelopes and addressed to the committee. These were not opened until the papers were marked.

The first prize of $7 was awarded to Wahnita, Mabelle Kennedy, aged 17, of Parkplace school, her subject being "Influence of Humane Education." Each member of the committee examined the papers separately, and found that Lucilla, Edna Forbes, aged 16; Queen, Millie Forbes, aged 17, and Portia, Daisy McAnulty, aged 16, all of Parkplace, tied with Miss Kennedy, but when lots were drawn, the latter won the prize. This prize was for the class over 15 years old.

The second prize of $4 for children between the ages of 10 and 15, was awarded to St. Perkins, Dolly Pratt, of St. John's school, aged 13. Her topic was "The Way Tight Reins Affect Horses." She tied with Betty Boston, Clara Casfield, of the Eastham school, aged 12, "Birds of Oregon," and Macbeth, Francis Galloway, of the Parkplace school, "Importance of Early Lessons in Kindness."

Tyler Crumley of the first grade, Barclay school, was awarded the third prize, $2.50, being "Native Birds of Oregon." Ardis Bergman, aged 9, received a special prize of $2.50 for an essay on Dr. Carl's dog Pete. Agnes J. Justin and Irene Moore, each received cadgers for new shoes for essays "McKittick's parrot." Honorable mention is made of the following contestants: Clara Koerner, Edna and Clara Casfield, Bonita Ralston, Louise Walker, Ethel Green, May Barnick, Ruth Latourette, Nita Stokes, Florence Sullivan, Fred Parker, Mary Vaughan, Nettie Bradley, Irene McCown, Howard Zinsler, for good writing and spelling.

There will be preaching in the U. B. church Sunday, May 21st, 1899, at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m., by Rev. T. P. Haynes.

Little Jack Meldrum met with an accident a few days ago, that came very near proving fatal. Two boys were playing ball, when a swift throw struck little Jack on the back of the head, knocking him senseless. At first it was thought the wound would prove fatal, but he is now on the road to recovery.

Sidney Smyth moved his rock crusher and a lot of scrapers to Seattle this week, where he has an extensive contract to build a water works reservoir.

Several Oregon City people have been given jobs there. Henry Cooke will get $4 per day with his team, Robert Schuebel has a place as blacksmith, and several who were mentioned last week have gone.

About 125 employes of the Willamette's Palp & Paper Company held a meeting to discuss the matter of asking for higher wages. J. Edmonds was chairman, and W. I. Gaylord, was secretary. The men claimed that it was not their intention to strike, but they simply asked for a raise of wages of 25 cents per day on account of the increased cost of living. Many of them signed a petition to this effect. The committee appointed to secure signatures to the petition, waited upon Mr. Lang Wednesday, and assured them that he would forward the petitions to the head office at San Francisco.

Hartford Courant, of Conn., gives a half-column account of the accidental death of J. A. Ryan, brother of County Judge Ryan. He was superintendent of Crosby's mill in East Glastonbury, and was a passenger leaving Hartford on the trolley car late at night when the accident occurred. It is believed that when he stepped off the car it was so dark that he did not see the approaching motor on another track. He formerly lived in Rockville, where for seven years he was superintendent of the American mills. For many years he was superintendent of the Faulkner mills at Lowell, Mass. He left a wife and four children.

Never in the history of Oregon City has a theatrical company been received with such universal enthusiasm as Miss Jessie Shirley and her Company. Ever since the first night the opera house has been more than crowded. The plays are metropolitan and high class in every respect, and every member of the company is held in the highest esteem here. They are all first-class actors, and C. F. Falston, known to a number of people here, acquitted himself very creditably Tuesday night as Laurent Lamont. Miss Jessie Shirley is at the top notch of her profession. Tonight "Under Two Flags" will be presented. Saturday, "Divorced," and a matinee, "Lost for a Day."

Work has begun on the bicycle path laid out to meet the one being constructed in Multnomah county. The board of supervisors appointed by the Cycling Club, have selected a route following the county road to Gladstone; thence down the Clackamas to the bank of the Willamette; thence along the river road until J. S. Risley's place is reached; thence through Risley's place until the electric line is reached; thence keeping near the electric line until Milwaukie is reached, where the wagon road will be followed until the Multnomah county line is reached. This was the best route that could be selected with the money on hand, and will make a picturesque route and an excellent pathway. The county board of commissioners approved the selection of the board of supervisors. When the right of way is cleared and the stumps are grubbed out, the Multnomah county grader will be secured and used on the path.

Send your children to Miss Peabody's kindergarten in Shively's building. Miss Albee is assistant.

The Star Clothing Co., of Portland have opened up a branch store in the Harding block at Oregon City. In conversation with the manager of the new store the writer learned that they will carry a full line of up-to-date goods that they will endeavor to dispose of at low rates. The firm has the advantage of having two stores which permits them to buy in large quantities, and they are willing to divide profits with their customers.

The Woodburn Independent has the following items about Clackamas county people: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bair visited Canby Sunday. M. A. Staubar, of Oregon City, is visiting S. J. Baechler. Miss Lottie Ely, of Blaine, Calif., is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. A. L. Cornwall. Rev. P. B. Williams, of Salem, was visiting Bishop H. L. Barkley. Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Mark and their niece, Miss Mack, rode up on their wheels from Canby Sunday, returning the same day. They were the guests of his sister, Mrs. Charles Moshberger.

"Old Mai is Made Over," at Shively's hall last Friday by ladies of the Presbyterian church, was one of the most successful amateur entertainments ever given here. It has already been pretty well commented upon in the newspapers. Miss Jennie Rowen presided becoming dignity over the old maid's club, and Professor Gary struck a popular chord in their hearts as "Professor Makeover." Excellent recitations were given by Miss Josephine Peabody and Miss Bessie Grant. The quartet, Misses May and Alice Andrews, Allen Frost and Frank Alldridge, as well as the solos by Frank Coufer and Mrs. Anna Darling, were well received.

Dr. J. W. Karten, formerly of this city, recently arrived from Nebraska and has located in Gervais, next door to the postoffice—Woodburn Independent. Dr. Karten was formerly located Viola.

EARNED PROMOTION.
Summers' Gallantry Will Make Him a Brigadier-General.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The brilliant campaign of Colonel Summers, under General Lawton, is likely to win him a brigadier-general's commission. Colonel Summers is now commanding a brigade, and if there was a vacancy in the brigadier list, he would be named at once.

The Oregon regiment, though entitled to come home first, is far from Manila, bearing the brunt of the Lawton campaign, and may not be back when the time for the return of the volunteers begins.

That Reed really intends to get out is indicated by the fact that his clerk and confidential political friend is a candidate for congress in the Reed district.

Republican senators who are afraid of currency legislation have put out a "feeler" in the shape of an interview by Senator Hansborough, declaring that there is no need of "finkering with the currency." If the people seem inclined to accept the suggestion, it will be the policy of a large number of republican senators to discourage any attempt toward currency reform in the next congress.
