Five thousand Spanish prisoners held by insurgents have been taken into a northern province and scattered among small garrisons. They are beyond American aid this season, unless a Filipino surrender takes place within three weeks

The injuryent hospital near San Isidro is filled with wounded, and General Pisar's main subsistence depot is only five miles from Lawron's front.

Native opposition compelled the insurgent generals to countermand the orders to burn towns as they retreated. The American policy of not destroying property is in favor of the United States.

Five unknown American prisoners were carried through San Miguel last week.

The young people of the town who indulge in the dizzy waltz will hear with interest that the heads of Washington and New York societies have declared.
