Rev. A. J. Montgomery will conduct services as usual at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. The topic in the evening will be "The Bible and Physical Health."

Rev. F. C. Fullam, of Indiana, who was on his way home from attending the Baptist anniversaries at San Francisco, filled the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Street Commissioner Bradley says that lumber is beginning to arrive on the ground to replank the bridge across the Abernethy. As soon as sufficient lumber arrives the work will be pushed to completion.

W. M. Moore, assistant Southern Pacific freight agent, had his foot seriously mased by the switch engine passing over it this afternoon, says a Roseburg dispatch dated Monday. Moore formerly resided here. He was taken to the hospital in Portland Tuesday, and it not believed that the results will be serious.

Romeo Rhoades is now landlord at the Brunswick restaurant; Mrs. E. W. Yale has opened restaurant in the old Y. M. C. A. building, and R. L. Cannon is having a part of the Elk restaurant repaired. Mr. Montgomery announces his intention of opening another restaurant soon.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company have extended the switch north from the depot, and graded a roadway so that teams can drive alongside the freight cars and deliver and receive freight. Some of the surplus rock was used to fill up the frog pond, adjoining this office.

Sixty-seven pension claims were attested to before the county clerk Monday, it being the designated day for acknowledging said claims in order that the pensioners can receive their regular quarterly allowances without delay. The genuineness of the papers are attested to by the county clerk without expense to the pensioner.

H. B. Metcalf, a representative of the Northwest Herald, of Portland, the new paper recently launched by George L. Hutchin, was in Oregon City Monday. It is an eight-page weekly illustrated with costly engravings, is original, bright and witty, without a dull line in it. The editorials are sound, and have the genuine democratic ring to them.

James Baldwin, aged 22, a former employe of the paper mills, died on the boat while coming up from Portland. He had been ill for a couple of weeks, and went on a trip down the Columbia. The deceased was the stepson of James Buckham. The funeral services were held at the United Brethren church Monday, and the interment was in Mountain View cemetery.

In view of the probable early return of the Volunteers from Manila, the women of Meade Relief Auxiliary Corps are already making preparations to receive the boys. The citizens, all fraternal orders and societies are invited to appoint committees and co-operate with them. As soon as it is known when the Second Oregon Volunteers have embarked for home, notification will be given, and a mass meeting called to make arrangements for their reception.

The engineers of the Oregon City, Molalla & Southeastern Railroad Company are busy running preliminary lines in the direction of Mulino. It is the intention to make the location through the Buckner creek route to reach Mulino. Instead of getting out of Oregon City by going up the Abernethy, an easy route has been found by going under the Southern Pacific trestle passing near the Barclay school building and going out to the right of Mountain View cemetery.

Fish Culturists J. W. Berriam and Bert Greenman moved the apparatus used for temporarily handling steelhead salmon eggs at the falls, to the Clackamas hatchery Tuesday, the season for this work having closed. Over 300,000 steelhead eggs were secured, nearly all of which were shipped to Montana, Minnesota, Connecticut and other Eastern states to be transplanted in Atlantic tributaries. It has been demonstrated that steelheads thrive in tributaries of the Atlantic ocean, while the Chinook salmon does not bear transplanting to Eastern waters.

Business is rushing now at the local land office, and from present indications the receipts will be over $4,000 for the month of June, over $1,000 having already been taken in since the last day of May. Receiver Galloway and Register Moores are well pleased with the volume of business done in the land office during the month of May. Forty final proofs were made, aggregating 5,941.39 acres, and there were 2185.75 acres embraced in 22 new homestead filings. There were four final proof entries of timber land filings. Cash received from public land sales amounted $1640, and fees and commissions amounting to $825, a total of $2465.

AMONG THE LODGES.

Interesting Events in Fraternal Circles.

Oregon City Assembly of Artisans No. 7, elected the following new officers last Thursday evening: Master artisan, E. H. Cooper; superintendent, Mrs. G. C. Bacon; inspector, Mrs. Mattie Ringo; secretary, J. T. Searle; treasurer, Rudolph Koerner; senior conductor, Mrs. E. H. Cooper; junior conductor, Ross Spencer; master of ceremonies, Miss A. Kellogg; field commanders, G. C. Bacon and Mrs. M. P. Chapman. Eleven new candidates were initiated into the Artisans at this meeting.

Recently E. H. Cooper, G. C. Bacon and L. F. Clark filed articles with the county clerk of Multnomah county, incorporating the Artisans Outing Association. Their first picnic will be held at Gladstone park, June 24th, and promises to be a notable event.

At the meeting of Falls City Lodge, No. 59, A. O. U. W., held Saturday night, the following new officers were elected: Past master workman, H. Hanlin; master workman, John McGetchie; foreman, Gordon E. Hayes; overseer, K. H. Gabbert; recorder, H. J. Harding; receiver, C. H. Dye; financier, W. B. Wiggins; guide, A. C. Beaulieu; inside guard, August Zimmerman; outside guard, Sam Roake; organist, Chester A. Inskeep. Two candidates were initiated into the workman degree. The name of Joe Fromong was unintentionally omitted from the past master workman elected as alternates to the grand lodge, printed last week.

Samuel Roake was presented with an elegant past master's jewel, as a mark of esteem and appreciation by the lodge. Gordon E. Hayes made the presentation address, which was feelingly responded to by Mr. Roake.

A number of Oregon City people are attending the grand chapter of the Eastern Star in session at Portland this week. Thomas F. Ryan, associate patron, gave the response to the address of welcome at the reception given by the Portland chapter to the visitors. Mrs. Ryan, Miss France and John H. Walker are attending as delegates.

TALKS WITH FARMERS.

Results of Practical Experiments On Clackamas County Soil by Actual Farmers.

Farmers from the various precincts generally agree that fall-sown wheat gives promise of an excellent yield—that is, where it was sown on high ground. Many of them say that cool, rainy weather, with occasional days of sunshine, not too hot, are peculiarly favorable to a good yield of wheat. Oats, planted under favorable conditions, also give promise of a good yield. Indications are that late sown grain will suffer. It is to be regretted that there will be a serious shortage in the fruit crop.

J. J. Gard, a well known Clackamas farmer, believes in mixed products for the Clackamas county farmer. He says we cannot compete with the prairie sections in raising wheat, neither can hogs be raised and fattened as cheaply as in a corn-growing country. Hogs, however, are a necessary adjunct to economy in the matter of producing mixed products on a farm. They can run on pasture land, eat slops and milk and decaying fruit that would otherwise be lost. Mr. Gard thinks that a cross between the Poland-China and the common hog is the best for farm use. Thoroughbreds are too delicate and cost too much. He also considers a mixture with the Chester-White with common hogs very good for farm use. He considers that dark-colored pigs are more desirable, as white hogs catch vermin more readily. Mr. Gard considers that chickens are profitable to keep on the farm as they pay a profit of 50 per cent on the investment. He prefers Plymouth Rocks for marketing purposes, but believes that the white Leghorns are the best for laying.

George H. Mooney, of Milwaukie, on Monday brought in a bunch of the common variety of rye raised on his place on Kellogg creek, that measured eight feet and 10 inches with well developed heads. Mr. Mooney is engaged in mixed farming and fruit raising, and says that in his neighborhood apples will be a fair crop, while Bartlett pears and cherries will only be a half crop. Prunes will be almost a failure.

George Schmidt, a Shuebel farmer, writes to the Northwest Pacific Farmer on hogs. He says that it does not pay to winter hogs in the woods, but should be pastured winter and summer on green grass and clover. He believes in having the litters in March or April so that the pigs can run on pasture during the summer.

County Commissioner R. Scott, of Milwaukie, has an excellent article in the last issue of the North Pacific Rural Spirit on pure milk. He states that Portland is a healthy city, and people could always get pure milk by paying for it. In regard to excrementious matter, he says that if it is not kept out of milk by cleaning the udder before milking, there is no machine that will take it out except a cream separator. In fact, he makes the plea that Portland does get free milk.

The Parkplace-Gladstone school closed this week with a graduating class of nine, thus closing the seventh successful year of Prof. Gray's superintendency. Thirty-one young people have graduated in that time, and the Parkplace-Gladstone boys and girls have developed an excellent literary standing under able instruction. Mr. Gray is also secretary of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua association, in which arduous position he is proving himself the right man in the right place. He will devote the next six weeks to completing the details of the coming assembly that now promises to be the greatest one ever held at Gladstone.

PROBATE COURT.

Judge Ryan Makes Several Orders During the Week.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Hutchins, deceased, the administratrix filed her sixth annual report, and was granted an order to borrow $1700 to pay off the present mortgaged indebtedness, and execute a new mortgage at a lower rate of interest.

In the matter of the estate of James G. Wilson, deceased, Margaret A. Wilson, executrix, filed a petition stating that said James G. Wilson at the time of his death was possessed of certain personal property consisting of money and promissory notes held by him as trustee for Samuel W. Robinson, a minor, and that the said Samuel W. Robinson has now attained his majority. The prayer of the petition was granted, and it is ordered that the said executrix turn over to said Robinson the personal property mentioned in said petition to-wit: Eight hundred and fifty-four cash in Ladd & Tilton's bank at Portland, a note of T. R. A. and J. M. B. Sellwood for $1500, a note of T. R. A. Sellwood for $700 and the two mortgages securing said notes, and the two notes of J. R. Wilson for $175 and $715 respectively.

Mrs. M. A. Blake was appointed guardian of the estate of Elsie and Edger Blake, minors.
