He pleaded guilty in Justice Schuebel's court, and was later brought before the county judge.

Mark scalded while cleaning one of the digesters in the Crown paper mills Tuesday evening. Some one had evidently neglected to turn off the connections from the other digester, and when he lifted the lid received the hot steam and acid burning his right arm and shoulder and one side severely. Dr. Carl, the attending physician, however, states that he will be out in a few days.

Waldo F. Hubbard, who has been superintendent of the Clackamas hatchery for the past 22 years, received notification of his appointment yesterday by the United States Fish Commission to the superintendency of the hatchery at Nashua, N. H. Mr. Hubbard was first connected with a hatchery in California 25 years ago, having come there from his native state, New Hampshire, 25 years ago. In 1877, when the Columbia cannerymen established the Clackamas hatchery, Mr. Hubbard was made its superintendent. Afterward it was operated by the state for one year, and later it passed into the control of the U. S. fish commission. Mr. Hubbard's appointment dates from July 1st, but he has received no orders as to when he shall give up his charge here, nor who his successor is to be. The Clackamas was the first hatchery established in Oregon. Mr. Hubbard has been prominently identified with the fish culture industries of Oregon, and his experience in fish propagation will be missed.

A meeting of the ways and means committee of Meade Relief Corps Auxiliary and delegates from various fraternal organizations met at the armory hall Saturday night to consider matters pertaining to the proposed reception to be tendered the Volunteers upon their return from Manila. Mrs. George A. Harding was chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. J. C. Bradley was secretary. The chairman desires that the names of all delegates elected by fraternal organizations, shall be handed her by this evening, so that she can make up and announce the names of the committees at the meeting to be held at the armory Saturday night. The following societies were represented at the meeting: Catholic Knights, Father Hillebrand and Ed Sheehan; Workmen, G. E. Hayes and C. H. Dye; Native Sons, E. G. Caulfield; Grand Army, E. W. Midlam and C. A. Williams; Redmen, J. C. Bradley and C. W. Kelly; East-ern Star, Mrs. Jennie Meltram and Fannie France; Maccabees, G. B. Dim-lick and A. E. Tamiesee; Foresters, J. D. McKenna and F. T. Rogers. The boys will be given such an ovation upon their return from Manila, that people who thought their boys were too good to be shot at, will wish that they had let them go to the front.
