OUR VOLUNTEERS.

Elaborate Preparations Being Made for Their Reception.

Preparations are now well under way for the reception of the volunteers, but there is still an uncertainty in the air as to where the Oregon Regiment will be mustered out at Vancouver or San Francisco. Of course, the order has been made to muster out the soldiers at Vancouver, but heavy pressure may be brought to bear when transports reach San Francisco, and the Volunteers be discharged and paid off there.

Here follows a list of committees not given last week: Entertainment—Mrs. M. M. Charman, Mrs. Mary L. Bradley, Miss A. Wilbart, Charles U. Wilson, John Lewthwaite, Ed A. Sheehan, Ladies' Reception—Mrs. E. G. Caulfield, Mrs. L. L. Pickens, Mrs. M. S. Pillsbury, Mrs. H. W. Duff, Mrs. Emma Galloway, Mrs. S. M. McCown, Mrs. M. A. Warner, Mrs. H. Meldrum, Mrs. L. E. Pope, Mrs. H. Doremus, Miss K. Barclay, Mrs. S. K. Blount. Young Ladies' flower committee—Dolly Pratt, Nettie Bradley, Nellie Stafford, Satie Sullivan, Mary Belle Meldrum.

Below is given the names of the Clackamas county boys, who stood behind the guns—men who were in the thickest of the fight, and did themselves and their country honor. When they wanted to enlist, their fathers did not tell them that there were plenty of men to be shot at. They were encouraged to do patriotic duty, and when put to the test they did it. It is said that Herman Jones was offered a clerkship, but refused to leave his comrades in field service. On the field of battle the soldier is not asked whether he is an expansionist or not. But there is no question as to his patriotism. Does any one question the valor or patriotism of Colonel Funston, of Kansas, or Captain Heath, of McMinnville, and ask if they are anti expansionists?

Captain Phillips and all the Albany members of Company I, or any other volunteers, who will care to come this way, will be given a most enthusiastic reception. Here is the roster of the Oregon City boys as near as can be ascertained: J. U. Campbell is first lieutenant, and George W. Martin, second lieutenant. James W. Moffatt, J. H. Black, A. W. Gantenbeim, Erastus A. Smith, Lewis Boylan, Waldo F. Adams, August J. Brady, George H. Bruce, George L. Cason, Mason Croft.

Wilson, of Salem, presiding elder; Rev. Shules, of Marquam, and others. Glad Tidings is about three miles north of Marquam. The meeting, which was a very successful one, closed Sunday night. Among the other visitors from Oregon City were Mrs. Gregerson, and Miss Carrie Gregerson.

At last the awards of the committees on sports at the Artisans' picnic held at Gladstone park have been received from Portland. The races were all won by Portland people. The following Oregon City business houses donated prizes: Red Front Trading Company, I. Selling, McKittrick, Price Bros., M. Michaels, Star Clothing House, Charman & Co., Krausse Bros., G. A. Harding, Burmeister & Andresen, Miss C. Goldenmith, Huntley Bros., Bellomy & Busch, Ely Bros., Racket Store, Mrs. H. T. Sladen, Mrs. M. E. Ham'lon, H. L. Block, Wilson & Cooke, G. H. Young, L. A. Patterson & Co., John Everhart.

Thomas W. Secore and David Fancher have a sub contract of cutting cordwood, and their camp is located on the Molalla road a few miles from town on the Wolf place. On a long board fastened in front of the tent is painted the motto, "God Bless Our Home." A little farther away suspended from a tree, the words "Prosperity" stand out in bold relief, while underneath is attached a full grown sour dough pancake. "Confidence" is forcibly expressed in connection with another pancake. On another tree "Peace and Plenty at two cents per pound," is exemplified by a large potato suspended.

Oscar Whitten, of Oswego, states that there are a lot burros running around loose in that neighborhood, some of them half-wild, which furnish amusement for the boys. The youngsters catch and ride the little animals, who wander at will in every direction. Last year a man brought a drove of the burros from California, intending to ship them to Alaska, but he was taken sick and died. Since then the animals have wandered about on the commons, apparently without a master or owner. One of the she-asses now has a young colt. These animals thrive on a plain diet, and live well on scraps of leather, bacon rines, peelings from vegetables, etc.

The annual camp meeting of the Spiritual Association, will begin at the New Era camp ground, Saturday, July 8th, and indications are that the attendance will be larger than ever before. The meetings will continue until July 24th. Among the prominent people, who will be on the platform this year are W. C. Bowman, the noted lecturer of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. S. Cowell, a well known test medium of Oakland, Calif., and Dr. Carlos Wright, of Baker City, a prominent orator. George Lazzelle is president of the Association, and E. W. Penman, of Salem, is secretary. The grounds at New Era are delightfully situated for outing purposes.

Roy Marquam, son of A. B. Marquam, while working in a garden one day this week unearthed an old relic, which he prizes very highly. It is an old campaign badge or souvenir made of copper about the size of a quarter of a dollar. On one side is bas relief is a log cabin and a representation of a barrel of cider, surrounded by the words: "The People's Choice in the Year 1841." On the other side is a bust figure encircled with the words: "Major General W. H. Harrison, born Feb. 9th, 1773." It was undoubtedly brought across the plains by some enthusiastic whig in an early day and has been lying in the ground for a half century.—Silverton Appeal.

ferent states and other characters in costume. The musical program and recitations were especially good. The principal characters were: Liberty, Miss Myrtle Buchanan; Massachusetts, Edith Caefield; Virginia, Hilda McGetchie; Cuba, Eva Williams; Porto Rico, Veva Hart; Hawaii, Louise Walker; Philippines, Reva Gray. Miss Echo Samson sang the "Star Spangled Banner," acceptably. The exercises were historic and patriotic. It was one of the best programs of patriotic exercises ever given here.

Not long ago a party was given at the home of a prominent citizen, many of the best people in town being guests. A guest was anxious to have an account of the party printed in this paper, and sent it up by a messenger, who instead of delivering here, gave it over to the Oregon City edition of the Telegram almost a week before this paper came out. As no notice of the party was received here verbally or otherwise, the reporter concluded from the fact that as an account of the party had been already published, that it was not desired to have it printed here. However, it is learned that he considers he was slighted because the item did not appear, but the messenger he sent it by, can probably explain why it was not delivered.

Results of Practical Experiments On Clackamas County Soil by Actual Farmers.

H. Longcoy, of Clackamas, who makes a specialty of fruit raising, and is successful in producing superior qualities. He brought in some Sharpless strawberries, that were beauties for size. Mr. Longcoy says that strawberry vines transplanted at this season, will bear bountifully next year, especially if the runners are taken near the main vine.

T. L. Turner, of Stafford, believes in wheat as a crop, and alternates it with oats and hay.

Farmers from every section of the county report a splendid outlook for a good yield of fall wheat. The hay crop is good, and hops never looked better. While the fruit crop will be short, there will be enough to supply the local demand.

Many farmers complain of the market facilities in Oregon City, and not without just cause. The farmer invariably expresses his preference for Oregon City as a trading and marketing point, but complains of the great difficulty in disposing of surplus products here. As a consequence, they are compelled to go to Portland to do most of their selling and buying. The future success of Oregon City as a business point, depends on making it a market town. Good roads will then be built as a matter of necessity, to all interior places, for the farmers themselves will then donate liberally toward good roads.

SCHOOL GOSSIP.

Matters of An Educational Nature.

State Superintendent Ackerman has sent the following letter to County Superintendent Bowland in reference to examinations: The law provides for the holding of an examination for county certificates, beginning on the second Wednesday of August next. The state board of education has fixed upon the same time, viz, August 9th, 10th and 11th, as the time for examination for all applicants for state papers. In this connection, please see rules and regulations under "Teachers' Examinations," Oregon School Laws.

Examination of applicants for state papers will be held in August and February of each year.

After the August examination, of this year, questions will be taken as follows: All the questions in theory and practice and one-half of the questions in arithmetic, grammar, geography and reading will be taken from White's Elements in Pedagogy. All the questions in literature will be taken from Smith's Studies in English Literature, and all questions in psychology will be taken from Buell's Essentials of Psychology.

The state board of education has decided to take these books as standards for two reasons: First, because the normal schools have adopted them as text books; and, second, because there has been a feeling on the part of many leading educators for years that some credit should be given to those who are students of profession books, and it has been suggested that a good way to give this credit would be to base a part of the questions for state and county papers upon certain indicated books. Acting on such suggestion, the state board of education makes the above announcement, believing that in so doing the educational standard of the state will be materially raised.

In the account of the teachers' meeting printed last week the resolutions passed, should have read in memory of C. E. Menier.

Ex-County School Superintendent H. S. Gibson has been re-elected principal of the Russellville school, near Mount Tabor.

F. M. Darling, of Maple Lane, one of Clackamas county's best known teachers, recently closed a very interesting school at Colton.

The Elwood school closed one week ago, A. B. Herman, teacher. The graduates were Della Henderson and Lillie Cadoman. Certificates to the graduating class were issued by the county superintendent.

Charles Rutherford closes a successful term of school at Redland today. He has accepted the principalship of the Molalla school.

Miss Frances Marie Huerth closed a very successful term of school at Union Mills, June 30, with a delightful afternoon's entertainment; and has gone home for the summer. She carries with her the recommendation of her directors, the highest respect and well-wishes of her friends and acquaintances, and the love of her pupils; and we hope she will be among us again this winter.
