Oregon Game Laws.

For the benefit of hunters, the game laws of Oregon are here presented in a very brief form. The wording of the statutes has been cut down, but the gist remains:

Beaver—Close season lasts 20 years from February 25, 1895.

Birds—Nightingale, sky-lark, gray singing thrush, black thrush, linnet, goldfinch, greenfinch, chaffinch, bullfinch, red-breasted European robin, black starling, grouse, Oregon robin or meadow lark, mocking-bird, close season lasts the year around. Eggs and nests are exempt from disturbance.

Deer—Close season, 1st of November to 15th of July following. Cannot be hunted for market at all.

Ducks—Mallard, wood duck, widgeon, teal, spoonbill, gray, black, springtail or canvas-back, close season between March 15 and September 1. Must not be hunted at night. Ducks and geese may be shot when injuring grainfields, however.

Eggs—Close season lasts until the first day of December, 1910.

Grouse—Prairie chicken, pheasant, quail or partridge, close season from December 1 to October 1 following in Western Oregon; November 1 to August 1 in Eastern Oregon. Mongolian pheasants must not be killed at any time for three years in Clatsop, Coos, Curry, Jackson or Josephine counties.

Moose and mountain sheep—Same as deer.

Pheasant and Mongolian pheasant—Same as grouse.

Partridge—Same as grouse.

Quail—Same as grouse.

Seagulls—Close season perpetual.

Snake—Close season from February 1 to September 1 each year.

Squirrel—Silver gray, close season from January 1 to October 1. Burrowing squirrels are not protected.

Swan—Same as ducks.

Wild turkey or English partridge—Close season from January 31, 1899, to February 1, 1904.

Camp a Pest Hole.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—General Summers, commanding the Second Oregon volunteers, said today:

"Scour the camp. Take overcoats wherever you find them. No sentry must stand guard without one. If we cannot get the overcoats we will have no guard at all. We are short of overcoats and blankets. Now we are going to infringe on the hospitality of California and see if we can get the loan of what we need. Failing in that, I will make arrangements with Governor Geer to buy blankets and overcoats from the quartermaster's department, and then let the boys turn them in to the state of Oregon, receiving the money they paid for them.

"The government should have provided these things for the returning volunteers. We are the pioneers of an army to come from Manila, and, let me tell you, if something is not done it will be worse here than it was in Cuba. There will be hundreds of deaths from pneumonia. The United States should turn over to the hospital at least 5000 blankets and 5000 overcoats. They will be needed, and as their use will be only temporary, the government can have them back again. If this is not done San Francisco is going to be a great graveyard for the volunteers."

General Summers, of the Second Oregon regiment, has spoken in no uncertain tones concerning the negligence of the government in failing to provide suitable clothing for the Oregon volunteers.

The clothing the Oregon men wore in the tropical Philippines is all they have to protect their bodies from the pneumonia-laden fog of the Presidio.

Lecture at New Era.

Professor J. H. White, of San Francisco, will give an entertainment and will lecture on socialism at the New Era spiritualist camp meeting on Friday evening, July 22, 1899. The entertainment will consist of recitations, impersonations and songs in costume. Professor White is one of the ablest speakers on the platform, as those testify who have already heard him, and this lecture is a treat you cannot afford to miss. A small fee will be charged for the benefit of the camp meeting.

NO CURE—NO PAY.

FACTS SURPRISED.

The Philippine Campaign Not a Success.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—A severe jolt was given the administration today by the publication of the "round robin" protest of the newspapermen against the censorship at Manila. It brands the management of the Philippine campaign as one of incompetency and evidently shows that the right kind of a man is not in command.

It may be that General Otis is not acting under his own volition, but upon instruction from Washington, when he has decided to keep from the people of the United States the facts concerning the real conditions. It is absurd to believe that the publication of reverses and the necessity for more troops would have assisted the Filipinos in their insurrection.

The "round robin" tells more than appears on the surface. It shows that there never has been troops enough, and it has been the intention of somebody to deceive the people. General Otis' dispatches for more than a month continually predicted the downfall of the Philippine insurrection, and day after day the people of the United States were informed that the end was about to come. Evidently he was mis-informed, or he was carrying out instructions which never should have been given him. It seems as if the managers of the Philippine campaign, both in Washington and Manila, were being forced into a cul-de-sac; one object after another has been dodged by running hither and thither.

Now the facts are laid bare and some decisive action must be taken.

If General Otis has been a failure and has not kept the administration correctly informed, he should be at once relieved and some of the fighting officers in the Philippines placed in charge, until a man like Miles could reach Manila.

Whether the administration will have the courage to take serious action is just now puzzling everybody here. If the newspapermen are wrong, they should be ordered from the Philippines; if right, there should be a change in the head of the American army in the islands.

Nothing has occurred recently to cause a sensation as the joint production from the Manila correspondents, and everybody is wondering how the administration will avoid decisive action.

Shivering Volunteers.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—An Oregon volunteer was found on guard duty to-night at the Presidio wearing four suits of clothes, with a piece of flannel shirt tied about his neck for a muffler. He had borrowed these things from the boys in his company. A year or two ago he was a Stanford senior weighing 170 pounds; now he is reduced to 120 and looks like a shadow.

Scores of men in the Oregon regiment are passing through this experience, while the war department is busy with the eternal red tape. Another effort was made by the Red Cross Society and General Summers to have the Oregonians provided with overcoats and blankets. It is thought that by tomorrow Adjutant Babcock, of this city, will receive orders to draw these articles from the quartermaster. Meanwhile, the soldiers are borrowing from each other, while half of the boys are obliged to remain in their tents or take the consequences in the fog and wind outside. General Shafter is not in the city. If the government fails in its duty, it is safe to say the two months' back pay received by the troops Saturday will be expended for necessities without which the present health of the regiment cannot continue.

Otis or Correspondents.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald quotes a member of the cabinet as follows: "Either Major-General Otis or the newspaper correspondents must go. To deport the correspondents would probably be accepted at home and abroad as a return to the old Spanish method of muzzling the press. To relieve Major-General Otis will mean an official acknowledgement of his fault and a demoralization of military discipline."

The above statement was made when the member of the cabinet was asked to discuss the problem which confronts the administration as a result of publication of the newspaper correspondents' "round robin" protesting against the course of General Otis in preventing the real facts regarding the Philippine situation from becoming known.

Paint Talks

(No. 8)

It would almost seem as though a man to make a successful paint salesman should be entirely without a conscience.

To illustrate, a short time ago a customer wanted to buy a quantity of ready mixed white paint for inside work. I took a lot of pains to explain to him that there was only one kind of white paint to use for inside work and that was a flat white; or in other words a white mixed with turpentine instead of Linseed Oil; that any inside white paint mixed with Linseed Oil would turn yellow.

While I had a cheap inside white paint I would not recommend it to this customer because I knew his work was such that he would not be satisfied with a dingy yellow white later on.

The paint I wanted him to use was Masury's flat white; or, as I told him, he could make his own by mixing white lead with turpentine. Nothing short of this would make a pure permanent white for inside work. After all I might as well have sold the cheap paint as he finally bought the same grade—the kind I wouldn't sell—and paid 5 cents a gallon more than I ask for it. However, when his paint is yellow and old before it's time he may remember what I told him about flat white and ordinary white.

How Can I Drape My Lace Curtains?

Has been the question.

This illustration shows a Ruffled Bobbinet Curtain with Point de Paris Lace and Insertion, and shows what a handsome effect can be produced at small cost.

Ruffled curtains should be used as Sill Curtains, not hanging over six inches below the sill, making a graceful, stylish, washable and inexpensive drapery.

Novelty Curtains

With every purchase of at least one pair of Lace Curtains we give a little picture showing a simple but very artistic style of draping bay windows.
